Bridges Warns Chinese Posing Serious Threat

Says U. S. Policy Of Bluff, Retreat Adds To Danger

WASHINGTON, March 26 —UP—Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.) said Saturday the Chinese Reds may smash at the Matsu and Quemoy Islands within two months in an "opening gun" campaign against Formosa.

Bridges said the situation in the Far East is "very serious," and to some extent the United States has contributed to the war-threatening situation by "our former policy of bluff and retreat."

"I hope and believe that policy is now at an end because I believe that if we bluff and retreat once more our word will no longer be taken seriously and our free world friends will lose heart entirely," he said.

Bridges, ranking GOP member of the Senate Appropriations and Armed Services Committees, spoke out after high military sources reported the Red Chinese may spark a major Asian conflict by attacking the Matsu Islands about mid-April.

A high diplomatic official warned however, that an attack against the Chinese Nationalist-held islands off the Red mainland could come "almost any time."

"We've got to be prepared right along," this official said. "I don't think anyone can pick a month when an attack will come."

Bridges, who has access to information on which U. S. foreign and military policies are based, said "all reports that we have received indicate the situation is very serious."

"The puffed-up, swaggering Red Chinese are certainly doing a lot of sword-rattling, and reports indicate that their buildup will be sufficient within a couple of months for an assault on Quemoy and Matsu if they intend to go through with it."

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he had not "heard anything directly" to indicate the imminence of a Red attack on the Matsus.

But George said it "has been suggested, and given some credence," that after the Afro-Asian conference in Indonesia there "might be some step up in the actual attack by the Peiping government." The conference opens at Bandung April 18.

School District Abolished At Polls In Irving, Texas

IRVING, Tex., March 26—UP—Irving citizens, split by the firing of a school superintendent which resulted in a mass walkout by teachers, Saturday voted to abolish the city's independent school district.

The vote was 1,962 to 1,646.

The vote abolishes the school board which started the controversy last Feb. 16 by firing Dr. John L. Beard, 53.

The eight-school independent district now becomes part of the Dallas county system and will be administered by the county superintendent of schools, leaving the Irving school board with no jurisdiction.

Beard's firing set off a walkout of 226 school employes, including most of the teachers, March 1. Most of the striking employes did not obey an order to return to work and were fired or replaced. The schools remained open during the controversy.

Russell Horn, spokesman for the Irving Citizens Committee which sought the election, called the result "fine." He said "we got nearly 90 per cent of the voters out."

Asked if they would hold another election later to restore the independent district so that a new board could be chosen, Horn said "we'll have to discuss that with the citizens committee."

Apartment House Gutted By Fire; 8 Residents Escape

A two-alarm fire roared through a two-story, 22-room apartment building at 1900 Jackson street here about mid-morning Saturday, sending residents of the house fleeing for their lives through clouds of enveloping smoke.

The eight occupants, including two small boys and a 15-month old baby, escaped without injury, however.

The house, which was owned by Mrs. Mae Leggett, was a total loss, although an immediate estimate of the cash damage was not available.

At 10:41 a. m. yesterday, the first alarm was called in to the fire department and three companies of firemen sped to the scene, with the fire already out of control.

Columns of thick black smoke curled through the roof and swirled to the ground at times over a distance of a block, while flames leaped dozens of feet in the air.

Mrs. Leggett, being cared for at the home of a neighbor and in tears said the fire apparently started in the bathroom of one of the downstairs apartments, occupied by a couple identified by her only as Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and their 15-month-old child.

"Mrs. Mitchell came running up to my room upstairs," Mrs. Leggett said, "and told me the house was on fire. I told her to call the fire department."

The woman said she went downstairs into the bathroom and that the smoke there was too thick for her to see.

"I had $50 upstairs in my room," she said. "I ran back up there, but the smoke was pouring in the room so bad I had to leave." Mrs. Leggett was dressed in nightclothes and a robe, as most of the occupants were forced to flee without any of their possessions.

At 11:02 a.m., the flames appeared to engulf the entire building, and a second alarm was called in to the station. Another company of firemen was sent to the scene, and managed with the others to bring the fire under control within a short time afterwards.

However, they were still on the scene in cleaning up operations until 4:38 p.m. yesterday.

While the fire was blazing at its highest peak, firemen reported,

Transport Loses Engine, But Makes Hawaii In Safety

HONOLULU, March 26 (AP)—A big military transport plane with 66 persons aboard landed safely at Hickam Field today after being reported in trouble 800 miles off the California coast.

The plane was a C97 from Travis Air Force Base in California.

The Hawaiian Sea Frontier said it had to feather (stop) one engine 347 miles from Hawaii.

100 State Troopers Hit Vice Dens On Narcotics Hunt; 23 Persons Jailed

BATON ROUGE, March 26 (AP) — Louisiana State Police Superintendent Francis Grevemberg today added up the results of his largest raid, a 100-trooper thrust against a narcotics ring in South Louisiana.

He counted 23 persons charged with sale or possession of narcotics or both, including the two top men in the ring. Added to this were 20 women arrested as prostitutes and one man charged with sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

Grevemberg said the raids broke the back of organized narcotics traffic in the area.

The troopers, working in plain clothes, struck just before midnight last night at nine houses of prostitution and 19 clubs and bars in Lafayette, New Iberia and Thibodaux.

The major activity was at New Iberia, where state police swept the city's red light district clean, hitting eight brothels and arresting 12 women, in addition to raiding several clubs.

Grevemberg said Trooper William Otwell had worked his way into the ring and spent the last three weeks buying marihuana for evidence. State Police listed 15

Niagara Glacier Threatens Power Plant In Canada

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 26—UP—A destructive glacier clogging the gorge below Niagara Falls refused to yield Saturday to dynamite charges planted in the ice by an explosive expert dangling dangerously from a wind-whipped helicopter.

The Army engineers called off the operation for the day after two dynamite charges had sprayed bits of ice into the air but failed to crack the solid mass which was 12 miles long and 45 feet high at some points.

The ice mass bore slowly but relentlessly down on a huge Canadian hydro-electric power plant and on homes, docks, businesses and pleasure boats. It already had caused $1 million damage.

Wind squalls disrupted the ice-breaking operation. Col. Loren Olmstead, U. S. engineer for the Buffalo district, said blasting would be resumed at 8 a. m. Sunday, weather permitting. But the forecast was for lower temperatures and more snow, which would keep helicopters grounded.

It was feared that the ice mass would grow in lower temperatures because the glacier - like mound was being fed constantly by the roaring torrents flowing over Niagara Falls into the narrow, winding gorge to Lake Ontario.

Freeze Adds To Misery In Flooded Mississippi

COLUMBUS, Miss., March 26 (AP) —Freezing temperatures today added to the misery of north Mississippi families pushed from their homes by the flooded Tombigbee River.

The cold wave hit last night as the river reached its peak and began to fall slowly.

The Tombigbee crested 37.5. It was one of the worst floods in Columbus history.

In the cold and watery surroundings, Columbus officials still struggled to present the annual Columbus pilgrimage, a tour of antebellum homes.

The city was dry, but flooded highways around three sides were expected to trim the usual crowds.

Agricultural experts said the cold snap last night killed much of Mississippi's fruit and truck farm crops. Predicted low temperatures of 16-20 degrees tonight should finish the rest. That means planting again.

"We can fill whatever needs might arise, including emergency fuel," said Stanley Lewis, Red Cross worker from Atlanta.

The homeless gathered in Columbus, Amory and Aberdeen.

"One hundred (families) are being fed and lodged at Amory, 20 at Aberdeen and 70 at Columbus," Lewis said.

Hundreds of other families received private help and lodging.

Cost of the flood still is not known, and can't be estimated accurately until the water falls.

But the toll of cattle continues to mount. One cattleman lost 300 head of pure-bred Herefords valued at some $75,000.

Maj. Gen. W. P. Wilson, commandor of Mississippi's National Guard, said the worst is over.

"The National Guard is now winding up operations here but some guardsmen will remain on the job until next week," Wilson

Other Nations Now Expected To Act Quickly

Action Clears Way For Big-Four Talks To Ease Tensions

PARIS, Sunday, March 27 —UP—The French Senate gave final approval to the rearmament of West Germany Sunday by a show of hands.

The action cleared the last major stumbling block from placing 500,000 German troops in a European defense force to deal with any possible Communist aggression.

By approving the agreement setting up a Western European Union, France also paved the way for an early meeting between the Western powers and Russia.

Both President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill have proposed the holding of a big four meeting as soon as the German rearmament treaties are ratified by all the countries concerned.

The four-pact "package" already has been approved by Britain, West Germany and Italy. The approval of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg was expected to come quickly now as a result of the French action.

Voting in the early hours of the morning, the French Senate swept aside a series of amendments which would have thrown the ratification debate back into the chamber of deputies, which approved the rearmament agreements Dec. 30.

Premier Edgar Faure told the assembly Saturday night that one of the rewards for prompt ratification of the Paris agreements on Germany would be a big four conference with Russia in the shortest possible time.

He warned that the alternative to an affirmative vote on the plan would be a split with the United States and Britain.

The final Senate vote—believed almost certain to be strongly in favor of the rearmament plan—is expected in the early morning hours of Sunday (10 p. m. to 11 p.m. Saturday CST).

Faure told the Senate that France already has contacted the United States and Britain in preparation for a Big Four meeting with Russia.

Louisiana And Mississippi Hit By 'Hard' Freeze

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mississippi and Louisiana shivered Saturday night under near-freezing to sub-freezing temperatures as a frigid mass of air from the northwest moved overhead.

The weather bureau predicted a hard freeze in Mississippi for Saturday night, with temperatures dropping as low as 14-22 degrees except in the extreme south where 20-26 degree lows were expected.

A freeze also was predicted for the interior of Louisiana, with the lowest 20-30. The forecast for the coastal area was 30-33 degrees.

The bureau forecast partly cloudy to cloudy skies through Sunday with strong northerly winds on the coast. The winds were expected to diminish Sunday.

Temperatures Friday night plunged to record lows for this time of year at two points. The records were 25 degrees at Shreveport, La., and 26 at Jackson, Miss. The temperature dropped 54 degrees at Shreveport, La., and 26 at Jackson, Miss. the temperature dropped 54 degrees from Friday's high of 79 at Shreveport.

The lows in Mississippi Friday night ranged from 22 degrees at Tupelo to 44 at Biloxi, while in Louisiana they ranged from 25 at Shreveport to 42 at New Orleans.

Temperatures at noon Saturday were in the 30s and 40s.

The noon low was 30 at Tupelo and the noon high was 49 at Burrwood, near the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Other noon readings were Mississippi—Greenwood 33, Jackson 31, Meridian 37, McComb 38 and Biloxi 44.

Louisiana — Shreveport 33, Monroe 37, Alexandria and Lake Charles 39, Lafayette and Baton Rouge 41, and New Orleans and Moisant Airport 42.

40 Injured In Belgian Street Riot

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 26 (AP)—Police battled thousands of Roman Catholic demonstrators in the heart of Brussels today with sabers, clubs, fire hoses and even a whiff of tear gas. Only about 40 persons were hurt and those slightly.

Official sources said 614 persons were arrested in the demonstration, organized to protest a projected cut in the amount of financial aid the government supplies to church schools. Only about 15 of these are to be prosecuted, the officials said.

Toward evening, reports came in of other trouble flaring — in Ghent and in Hasselt, about 55 miles east of Brussels. About 15,000 demonstrated in the latter city and four persons were hurt.

Of inhabitants professing a religion in Belgium, the majority are Roman Catholic. Most of the Catholics are Flemish-speaking.

In the capital, police used clubs and sabers and drenched the surging crowds with streams from high-pressure hoses. Two tear gas bombs were hurled but orders came from headquarters to stop using them at once. Police appeared under instructions to avoid any undue violence.

Official sources said the 40 persons injured included one policeman. They put the total hauled away to military barracks for screening at 564 men and 50 women, but said only 15 would be prosecuted on charges of illegal possession of weapons such as knives, clubs or bottles. Police planned to

Four Die When Plane Crashes In Pacific; 19 Saved

SEATTLE, March 26 (AP) —Four persons were killed and one was critically injured today when a Honolulu - bound Pan - American World Airways plane was forced down in the Pacific 35 miles off the southern Oregon coast.

Pan-American said the accident was the first for the line in the Pacific since 1938. The plane was to have gone on to Sydney, Australia from Hawaii.

The Coast Guard said all 23 persons aboard the ditched plane had been accounted for. Survivors were taken aboard a Navy troopship, the USS Bayfield, and the tanker Idaho Falls. The Hawaiian Educator, a freighter, was also at the scene to assist in the rescue.

The names of the dead and injured were not learned immediately by the Coast Guard, nor were the extent of the injuries.

Physicians at North Bend and Florence, Ore., were asked to stand by, indicating the survivors were being taken to the harbor at Coos Bay, Ore.

With one engine crippled, the big Stratocruiser was forced down at approximately 11:04 a.m. Within two hours the Hawaiian Educator radioed that a rescue was under way.

First planes over the scene had reported three life rafts were in

Big-Four Talks As Peace Effort Gains Support

MOSCOW, March 26, (AP) —Premier Nikolai Bulganin said today the Soviet government takes a "positive attitude" toward President Eisenhower's views on arranging big power conferences.

In a special interview granted to a Tass correspondent, Bulganin said the Soviet Union approved Eisenhower's idea "if there is in view a conference which would contribute to the lessening of tension in international relations."

"In this connection," he said, "it must be pointed out that the Soviet government has already proposed to hold a great power conference in the near future at which the question of an Austrian peace (independence) treaty could be settled."

At his news conference Wednesday, Eisenhower commented on the changes in the Kremlin in the last two years and added: "You have at least the element of, let us say, faint hope that new individuals may be different from the old ones."

He said that once action on the Paris agreements to rearm Germany had demonstrated Western unity and provided a basis of "moral and spiritual strength," it will be "time to begin the kind of exploratory talks that might lead to something constructive."

He challenged the Soviets, in these talks or otherwise, to demonstrate "deeds that would show the good faith of Russia" toward negotiations to ease world tensions.

"There is no place on this earth to which I would not travel, there is no chore I would not undertake if I had any faintest hope that, by so doing, I would promote the

'Outflank Reds'

Humphrey Calls On Army To Move Forces To Korea

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)— Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) proposed today that the United States move more troops into Korea to "outflank" the Chinese Communists. He said this might possibly lessen the threat of war in the Formosa Strait.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made the suggestion in commenting on Intelligence advices to this country indicating the Red Chinese may attack the Nationalist islands of Matsu and Quemoy within weeks. Many officials believe the Reds are bent on a showdown.

"I think we should move some of our forces back into Korea," Humphrey said. "The Communists there have violated the truce by building airfields and assembling a jet air force.

"We have a legal right to reinforce our position there. Such action would outflank the Chinese Communists and possibly force them to shift some of their troops away from the Quemoy-Matsu area, lessening pressure there."

Humphrey said he was not advocating any resumption of hostilities in Korea, but merely the return of some of the American troops that have been withdrawn.

Members of the Foreign Relations Committee professed no direct knowledge of Intelligence reports that a Red attack may be imminent in the Formosa Strait area.

Chairman George (D-Ga) said he had heard "disturbing rumors" to this effect.

An Associated Press dispatch from Tokyo March 8 said a top U.S. military leader had said the Communists are in position to attack Quemoy and the Matsus at any time.

The officer said the Reds had

Ouachita Parish Detention Home Funds Promised

BATON ROUGE, March 26 — (Special) The State Board of Public Welfare agreed at a regular session to pay the major portion of operating costs of juvenile detention homes in Ouachita and East Baton Rouge parishes, if the parishes will build them.

The Ouachita parish police jury has voted to call an election for a small milage to build the detention home and pay a portion of the cost of operation if the measure was agreed upon by the state board.

Lawrence B. Pettit, chairman of the Ouachita parish citizens committee for a detention home and police juror from ward three, said that the matter would be taken up at the regular meeting of the jury on April 13.

Pettit said that a date for an election would be set at that time.

The board voted to approve the requests on condition that the completed buildings be placed in the department's hands for use by June 30, 1956.

Massive Snowstorm And Record Cold Batter U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive snow storm and record cold throttled spring in much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation Saturday.

Virtually the entire nation, except Florida and the Southwest, felt the grip of subnormal cold. And the cold wave was expected to hit northern Florida Saturday night.

The surge of Arctic air brought record low temperatures from the Rockies eastward across the Mid west and into the South. Cold wave warnings were issued for parts of the East, Southeast and Deep South.

Heavy snow, whipped into hip-high drifts in some places, hampered traffic in much of Indiana and Ohio.

The storm that pushed into the East is part of the same weather system that left the Rocky Mountain states reeling from a three-day battering of blizzards and cold earlier in the week.

Arctic air, moving down behind the storm center, set these all time record low temperatures for the date Saturday:

But the toll of cattle continues to mount. One cattleman lost 200 head of pure-bred Herefords valued at some $75,000.

Maj. Gen. W. P. Wilson, commander of Mississippi's National Guard, said the worst is over.

"The National Guard is now winding up operations here but some guardsmen will remain on the job until next week," Wilson said today.

Other Nations Now Expected To Act Quickly

PARIS, Sunday, March 27 —UP—The French Senate gave final approval to the rearmament of West Germany Sunday by a show of hands.

The action cleared the last major stumbling block from placing 500,000 German troops in a European defense force to deal with any possible Communist aggression.

By approving the agreement setting up a Western European Union, France also paved the way for an early meeting between the Western powers and Russia.

Both President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill have proposed the holding of a big four meeting as soon as the German rearmament treaties are ratified by all the countries concerned.

The four-pact "package" already has been approved by Britain, West Germany and Italy. The approval of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg was expected to come quickly now as a result of the French action.

Voting in the early hours of the morning, the French Senate swept aside a series of amendments which would have thrown the ratification debate back into the chamber of deputies, which approved the rearmament agreements Dec. 30.

Premier Edgar Faure told the assembly Saturday night that one of the rewards for prompt ratification of the Paris agreements on Germany would be a big four conference with Russia in the shortest possible time.

He warned that the alternative to an affirmative vote on the plan would be a split with the United States and Britain.

The final Senate vote—believed almost certain to be strongly in favor of the rearmament plan—is expected in the early morning hours of Sunday (10 p. m. to 11 p.m. Saturday CST).

Faure told the Senate that France already has contacted the United States and Britain in preparation for a Big Four meeting with Russia.

Louisiana And Mississippi Hit By 'Hard' Freeze

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mississippi and Louisiana shivered Saturday night under near-freezing to sub-freezing temperatures as a frigid mass of air from the northwest moved overhead.

The weather bureau predicted a hard freeze in Mississippi for Saturday night, with temperatures dropping as low as 14-22 degrees except in the extreme south where 20-26 degree lows were expected.

A freeze also was predicted for the interior of Louisiana, with the lowest 20-30. The forecast for the coastal area was 30-33 degrees.

The bureau forecast partly cloudy to cloudy skies through Sunday with strong northerly winds on the coast. The winds were expected to diminish Sunday.

Temperatures Friday night plunged to record lows for this time of year at two points. The records were 25 degrees at Shreveport, La., and 26 at Jackson, Miss. The temperature dropped 54 degrees at Shreveport, La., and 26 at Jackson, Miss. the temperature dropped 54 degrees from Friday's high of 79 at Shreveport.

The lows in Mississippi Friday night ranged from 22 degrees at Tupelo to 44 at Biloxi, while in Louisiana they ranged from 25 at Shreveport to 42 at New Orleans.

Temperatures at noon Saturday were in the 30s and 40s.

The noon low was 30 at Tupelo and the noon high was 49 at Burrwood, near the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Other noon readings were Mississippi—Greenwood 33, Jackson 31, Meridian 37, McComb 38 and Biloxi 44.

40 Injured In Belgian Street Riot

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 26 (AP)—Police battled thousands of Roman Catholic demonstrators in the heart of Brussels today with sabers, clubs, fire hoses and even a whiff of tear gas. Only about 40 persons were hurt and those slightly.

Official sources said 614 persons were arrested in the demonstration, organized to protest a projected cut in the amount of financial aid the government supplies to church schools. Only about 15 of these are to be prosecuted, the officials said.

Toward evening, reports came in of other trouble flaring — in Ghent and in Hasselt, about 55 miles east of Brussels. About 15,000 demonstrated in the latter city and four persons were hurt.

Of inhabitants professing a religion in Belgium, the majority are Roman Catholic. Most of the Catholics are Flemish-speaking.

In the capital, police used clubs and sabers and drenched the surging crowds with streams from high-pressure hoses. Two tear gas bombs were hurled but orders came from headquarters to stop using them at once. Police appeared under instructions to avoid any undue violence.

Official sources said the 40 persons injured included one policeman. They put the total hauled away to military barracks for screening at 564 men and 50 women, but said only 15 would be prosecuted on charges of illegal possession of weapons such as knives, clubs or bottles. Police planned to

Four Die When Plane Crashes In Pacific; 19 Saved

SEATTLE, March 26 (AP) —Four persons were killed and one was critically injured today when a Honolulu - bound Pan - American World Airways plane was forced down in the Pacific 35 miles off the southern Oregon coast.

Pan-American said the accident was the first for the line in the Pacific since 1938. The plane was to have gone on to Sydney, Australia from Hawaii.

The Coast Guard said all 23 persons aboard the ditched plane had been accounted for. Survivors were taken aboard a Navy troopship, the USS Bayfield, and the tanker Idaho Falls. The Hawaiian Educator, a freighter, was also at the scene to assist in the rescue.

The names of the dead and injured were not learned immediately by the Coast Guard, nor were the extent of the injuries.

Physicians at North Bend and Florence, Ore., were asked to stand by, indicating the survivors were being taken to the harbor at Coos Bay, Ore.

With one engine crippled, the big Stratocruiser was forced down at approximately 11:04 a.m. Within two hours the Hawaiian Educator radioed that a rescue was under way.

First planes over the scene had reported three life rafts were in

'Outflank Reds'

Humphrey Calls On Army To Move Forces To Korea

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) proposed today that the United States move more troops into Korea to "outflank" the Chinese Communists. He said this might possibly lessen the threat of war in the Formosa Strait.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made the suggestion in commenting on Intelligence advices to this country indicating the Red Chinese may attack the Nationalist islands of Matsu and Quemoy within weeks. Many officials believe the Reds are bent on a showdown.

"I think we should move some of our forces back into Korea," Humphrey said. "The Communists there have violated the truce by building airfields and assembling a jet air force.

"We have a legal right to reinforce our position there. Such action would outflank the Chinese Communists and possibly force them to shift some of their troops away from the Quemoy-Matsu area, lessening pressure there."

Humphrey said he was not advocating any resumption of hostilities in Korea, but merely the return of some of the American troops that have been withdrawn.

Members of the Foreign Relations Committee professed no direct knowledge of Intelligence reports that a Red attack may be imminent in the Formosa Strait area.

Chairman George (D-Ga) said he had heard "disturbing rumors" to this effect.

An Associated Press dispatch from Tokyo March 8 said a top U.S. military leader had said the Communists are in position to attack Quemoy and the Matsus at any time.

The officer said the Reds had

Big-Four Talks As Peace Effort Gains Support

MOSCOW, March 26, (AP) —Premier Nikolai Bulganin said today the Soviet government takes a "positive attitude" toward President Eisenhower's views on arranging big power conferences.

In a special interview granted to a Tass correspondent, Bulganin said the Soviet Union approved Eisenhower's idea "if there is in view a conference which would contribute to the lessening of tension in international relations."

"In this connection," he said, "it must be pointed out that the Soviet government has already proposed to hold a great power conference in the near future at which the question of an Austrian peace (independence) treaty could be settled."

At his news conference Wednesday, Eisenhower commented on the changes in the Kremlin in the last two years and added: "You have at least the element of, let us say, faint hope that new individuals may be different from the old ones."

He said that once action on the Paris agreements to rearm Germany had demonstrated Western unity and provided a basis of "moral and spiritual strength," it will be "time to begin the kind of exploratory talks that might lead to something constructive."

He challenged the Soviets, in these talks or otherwise, to demonstrate "deeds that would show the good faith of Russia" toward negotiations to ease world tensions.

"There is no place on this earth to which I would not travel, there is no chore I would not undertake if I had any faintest hope that, by so doing, I would promote the

Ouachita Parish Detention Home Funds Promised

BATON ROUGE, March 26 — (Special) The State Board of Public Welfare agreed at a regular session to pay the major portion of operating costs of juvenile detention homes in Ouachita and East Baton Rouge parishes, if the parishes will build them.

The Ouachita parish police jury has voted to call an election for a small milage to build the detention home and pay a portion of the cost of operation if the measure was agreed upon by the state board.

Lawrence B. Pettit, chairman of the Ouachita parish citizens committee for a detention home and police juror from ward three, said that the matter would be taken up at the regular meeting of the jury on April 13.

Pettit said that a date for an election would be set at that time.

The board voted to approve the requests on condition that the completed buildings be placed in the department's hands for use by June 30, 1956.

Massive Snowstorm And Record Cold Batter U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A massive snow storm and record cold throttled spring in much of the eastern two-thirds of the nation Saturday.

Virtually the entire nation, except Florida and the Southwest, felt the grip of subnormal cold. And the cold wave was expected to hit northern Florida Saturday night.

The surge of frigid air brought record low temperatures from the Rockies eastward across the Midwest and into the South. Cold wave warnings were issued for parts of the East, Southeast and Deep South.

Heavy snow, whipped into hip-high drifts in some places, hampered traffic in much of Indiana and Ohio.

The storm that pushed into the East is part of the same weather system that left the Rocky Mountain states reeling from a three-day battering of blizzards and cold earlier in the week.

Arctic air, moving down behind the storm center, set these all time record low temperatures for the date Saturday:

Denver, -3; Kansas City, 7; St. Louis, 7; Indianapolis, 8; Louisville, Ky., 12; Muscle Shoals, Ala.,

All Girl Choir Will Be Heard In Central Baptist

MRS. MIGNON MACKENZIE

An all - girl choir of thirty-four voices from Wheaton college, Wheaton, Illinois, will be heard at Central Baptist Church of Monroe on Easter Sunday night, April 10th, at 7:30 o'clock.

Concentrated practise and precise diction, combined with capable direction make the Women's Glee club a perfect harmony of women's voices in song. Under the direction of Mignon Bollman Mackenzie, professor of music at Wheaton college, the glee club has received many testimonials of fine musicianship as well as for exemplary conduct and Christian character of the girls.

A part of the Wheaton college broad music training, the all -girl choir travels several thousand miles each year and has sung in churches, concert halls, hospitals, school auditoriums, and even in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, for a recent Easter Sunrise service.

Included in their program this year will be such selections as "In His Kingdon," "Would You Feel Lost in Bethlehem," "Ivory Palaces," and "Let Us Sing Unto the Lord."

A special feature will be a selection by a trio consisting of Verna Eby, Dolores Fuessler and Shirley Meyers. Miss Lois Nelson will be heard in a flute solo while vocal solosists taking parts are Eileen Lum, Carol Wilson and Shirley Meyers.

Wheaton college is a liberal arts and sciences college located 25 miles west of Chicago. In addition to its main campus, it maintains a preparatory academy, graduate school ROTC program, and a nursing program in coordination with West Suburban hospital, Oak Park, Illinois.

Negro Chamber Here To Install Officers

The Monroe Negro Chamber of Commerce will install its new officers Monday at 8 p.m. at the Negro First Baptist Church, located at 321 North Eighth street.

Many of the outstanding ministers and officials of this area will appear on the installation program, according to Hoston.

MISS TENI FIELDS

West Monroyan Wins First In Speech Tourney

Miss Teni Fields of the First Baptist Church, West Monroe walked away with first place honors in the Better Speakers Tournament at the First Baptist Church, New Orleans last Friday.

Competing with 20 representatives from as many Baptist Associations throughout the state Miss Fields placed first with her message "This, I believe". This entitles her to a free trip to Ridgecrest, North Carolina in July to compete with winners from twenty-two states in the Southern Baptist Convention.

Miss Fields is in her first year at Northeast State College, having graduated from Ouachita Parish High School last spring. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fields, 402 Austin, West Monroe.

Miss Anne Cook, youth director at First Baptist Church, West Monroe, coached Miss Fields in the tournament in which she won first place in Trenton Baptist Association which entitled her to compete in the state tournament. More than 2,500 Training Union members throughout the state assembled in New Orleans on Friday for the annual convention during which the Better Speakers tournament was conducted.

Miss Peggy Neal, also of the First Baptist Church, represented the association in the Sword Drill Eliminations and, although she failed to take first place honors was ranked among the best.

Monroyan Reports On Disaster

No official property damage estimate was as yet available yesterday on the Tombigbee River flood, which has reached a crest at 37½ feet, after having affected 250 families at Columbia and 500 others in the area, according to report received by Louis Gruber, chairman of the Ouachita parish Red Cross fund-membership campaign.

There were no fatal or major injuries in the emergency, at the time he checked, he said.

One hundred families were evacuated by Red Cross workers and the National Guard. Fourteen members of the Red Cross National Disaster staff were called into the area. Three hundred Red Cross volunteers were active in the immediate flood relief program in addition to members of the National Guard.

Two shelters for flood refugees were established, the largest at the local Air Base and the other at the First Baptist Church in Columbia. Meals for the refugees are taken to the shelters and victims living elsewhere are given meal tickets and grocery orders.

Individual case work and rehabilitation under the auspices of the Red Cross are expected to begin within three or five days, following the completion of the immediate disaster relief measures.

Few heads of livestock were affected by the flood since farmers had been alerted in advance.

PLUMBERS ELECT

BILOXI, Miss., March 26 (AP) — The Mississippi Plumbing Contractors Association today elected Emett Barrett of Greenwood president.

MARIE WILLIAMSON

Northeast State Student Official Of State Group

Marie Williamson, Northeast State student of Monroe, was installed as treasurer of the Home Economics college clubs of Louisiana at the annual convention held on the Northwestern State College campus, Natchitoches.

The program of the meeting included a talk by Dr. John B. Wilson, dean of Louisiana Tech, election of officers, a tea given by the Home Economics Department of the host college, a banquet and a tour of the Northwestern grounds.

Northeast State was represented at the convention by Miss Robbie Lee Coxe of the college faculty and sponsor of the Monroe club, and home economics students: Sarah Ella Aycock, Rayville; Carol May, Urania; Nell Rogers, West Monroe; Marie Williamson, Carolyn McKay, both of Monroe; and Virginia Young, Bastrop.

Chicken-Fried Snake At Dinner Tonight Heralds Annual Rattler Roundup

OKEENE, Okla., March 26—UP—The brave hunters attending this year's rattlesnake roundup in rocky dens of nearby Salt Creek Canyon Sunday will be treated to a local chef's delight, chicken fried snake.

Joe Durham, official reptile warden for the annual safari, said a "snake snack shack" is being prepared to give the unitiated a taste of fried snake.

Both rattler snake and rattlesnake sandwiches will be offered. The steak tastes something like fried chicken, the sandwich meat similar to tuna—so say the brave who have tasted it.

In the past the fried diamond backs have been offered only at the banquet the night before the hunt.

Promoters of the event, at first fearful that bad weather would cause postponement, were optimistic as a bright sun warmed the south slopes. Durham predicted the turnout may match or possibly top the 1953 peak crowd of 21,000.

More than 100,000 persons have attended the "catch-'em-allve" hunt since it started in 1939, and there has never been a fatality. Only about a dozen persons have been bitten.

Salt Creek Canyon is in the Gypsum Hills and only a few miles south of the former hideout of the outlaw Dalton brothers.

The area is so heavily infested with rattlers that even veteran hunters are leery to go there during the hot summer months when snakes are snppy.

"But the snakes are still sluggish from cold at this time of year," Durham said, "and it's like pickin' ducks off a pond."

Bob Bates of Midwest City, Okla., bagged the biggest rattler ever captured here when he snared one 79 1-2 inches long in 1953.

The 1954 champ, caught by H. H. Tomlinson and Russ Strayhorn of Watonga, measured 75 inches. The International Association of Rattlesnake Hunters, which has its headquarters here, offers 50 cents a pound for all snakes. They are then sold to drug houses for medicinal use.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Slover, who have a cattle ranch at White Flat, near Matador, also hunt. Last year Slover was acclaimed snake king for his top catch of 284 pounds.

Regional Science Fair Arranged At Northeast

Science students enrolled in schools throughout northeast Louisiana have been invited to display their scientific skills Saturday at Northeast State's first annual Regional Science Fair on the college campus.

The exhibits will be open to the public and will be judged for possible entry in a nationwide program, according to Emmett J. Foster of the college's chemistry faculty and director of the fair.

Outstanding students from the Northeast State Regional Fair will have opportunity to advance to the national showing, scheduled in Cleveland, Ohio on May 12-14.

The program, which has attracted great interest throughout the country, opens with a local science fair in each school. At that time students enter their exhibits, displays, or demonstrations of a scientific nature which they have prepared. Local fairs in the Twin Cities opened with one at Neville High School, followed Saturday by one at West Monroe High.

Best exhibits at local fairs will be entered in the Regional Fair at Northeast State. Those judged best at the college will move to the Louisiana State Science Fair, to be held by the Academy of Sciences in New Orleans on April 15-16. The finest of the state entries will then go to Cleveland for the national showing.

Exhibits at the Northeast State Regional Fair will be classified according to the junior division, comprising displays prepared by students of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and the senior division, including tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

Classes of exhibits cover chemistry, physics and engineering, botany, zoology, and geology. Winners will be declared in each of these fields and in both physical science and biological science for the junior and senior divisions. A grand champion prize also will be awarded in each division.

In addition to the classes of exhibits listed above, students may enter the scholarship division. They will be interviewed by a group of science instructors and judged on personal ability as well as exhibits. The winner will receive an award similar to a legislative scholarship.

Youth Gets Life Term For Killing Mother, Father

HAYWARD, Wis., March 26—UP—Eugene Salzman, 21, pleaded guilty Saturday to two first degree murder charges for killing his mother and father and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Salzman stood with his hands on his hips and looked Circuit Judge Clarence Rinehardt straight in the eye as the sentence was pronounced.

The judge asked the army private why he had shot his parents to death from ambush. Salzman said he had been planning the double murder for two days.

"I had to do something," Salzman said. "Dad didn't treat me the way he should have."

Later he said "I should have done it sooner."

Salzman was charged with killing Emil Salzman, 45, and Clara Salzman, 39, March 10 as they returned to their farm home north of Hayward. He said he hid behind a stump in the yard and shot them in the back when they got out of their car.

He said he took more than $100 from his father's wallet and got in a car belonging to his brother. His father's body was lying across the driveway, so he got out and dragged the body out of the way. He said he didn't want to run over his father's body.

Salzman was arrested at Waco, Tex., earlier this month for being AWOL from nearby Fort Hood, Tex.

A provost marshal and chaplain went to the stockade at James Connally Air Force Base at Waco to tell Salzman of the deaths of his parents. They learned of the deaths from a Chicago newspaper. Salzman blurted out to the men that he was the one who killed Mr. and Mrs. Salzman.

He told Texas military authorities he killed his parents because he was "mad" at the world and the Army.

"But the snakes are still sluggish from cold at this time of year," Durham said, "and it's like pickin' ducks off a pond."

Bob Bates of Midwest City, Okla., bagged the biggest rattler ever captured here when he snared one 79 1-2 inches long in 1953.

The 1954 champ, caught by H. H. Tomlinson and Russ Strayhorn of Watonga, measured 75 inches. The International Association of Rattlesnake Hunters, which has its headquarters here, offers 50 cents a pound for all snakes. They are then sold to drug houses for medicinal use.

One of the candidates for this year's snake queen, Mary Slover of Matador, Tex., has hunted snakes almost from the day she walked.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Slover, who have a cattle ranch at White Flat, near Matador, also hunt. Last year Slover was acclaimed snake king for his top catch of 284 pounds.

Regional Science Fair Arranged At Northeast

Science students enrolled in schools throughout northeast Louisiana have been invited to display their scientific skills Saturday at Northeast State's first annual Regional Science Fair on the college campus.

The exhibits will be open to the public and will be judged for possible entry in a nationwide program, according to Emmett J. Foster of the college's chemistry faculty and director of the fair.

Outstanding students from the Northeast State Regional Fair will have opportunity to advance to the national showing, scheduled in Cleveland, Ohio on May 12-14.

The program, which has attracted great interest throughout the country, opens with a local science fair in each school. At that time students enter their exhibits, displays, or demonstrations of a scientific nature which they have prepared. Local fairs in the Twin Cities opened with one at Neville High School, followed Saturday by one at West Monroe High.

Best exhibits at local fairs will be entered in the Regional Fair at Northeast State. Those judged best at the college will move to the Louisiana State Science Fair, to be held by the Academy of Sciences in New Orleans on April 15-16. The finest of the state entries will then go to Cleveland for the national showing.

Exhibits at the Northeast State Regional Fair will be classified according to the junior division, comprising displays prepared by students of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and the senior division, including tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades.

Classes of exhibits cover chemistry, physics and engineering, botany, zoology, and geology. Winners will be declared in each of these fields and in both physical science and biological science for the junior and senior divisions. A grand champion prize also will be awarded in each division.

In addition to the classes of exhibits listed above, students may enter the scholarship division. They will be interviewed by a group of science instructors and judged on personal ability as well as exhibits. The winner will receive an award similar to a legislative scholarship.

Youth Gets Life Term For Killing Mother, Father

HAYWARD, Wis., March 26—UP—Eugene Salzman, 24, pleaded guilty Saturday to two first degree murder charges for killing his mother and father and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Salzman stood with his hands on his hips and looked Circuit Judge Clarence Rinehardt straight in the eye as the sentence was pronounced.

The judge asked the army private why he had shot his parents to death from ambush. Salzman said he had been planning the double murder for two days.

"I had to do something," Salzman said. "Dad didn't treat me the way he should have."

Later he said "I should have done it sooner."

Salzman was charged with killing Emil Salzman, 45, and Clara Salzman, 39, March 10 as they returned to their farm home north of Hayward. He said he hid behind a stump in the yard and shot them in the back when they got out of their car.

He said he took more than $100 from his father's wallet and got in a car belonging to his brother. His father's body was lying across the driveway, so he got out and dragged the body out of the way. He said he didn't want to run over his father's body.

Salzman was arrested at Waco, Tex., earlier this month for being AWOL from nearby Fort Hood, Tex.

A provost marshal and chaplain went to the stockade at James Connally Air Force Base at Waco to tell Salzman of the deaths of his parents. They learned of the deaths from a Chicago newspaper. Salzman blurted out to the men that he was the one who killed Mr. and Mrs. Salzman.

He told Texas military authorities he killed his parents because he was "mad" at the world and the Army.

Spread bread with butter and sprinkle with celery seeds; cut into strips and place on a cookie sheet. Toast in a hot oven. Good with tea for that four o'clock pickmeup.

British Papers Unpublished As Strike Goes On

LONDON —UP— Millions of Britons went without their favorite newspapers for the second straight day Saturday because of the strike of 800 electricians and maintenance men against London newspapers.

The strike, to enforce demands for wage increases, halted publication of nine morning newspapers and three afternoon dailies with a combined circulation of more than 20 million.

No break appeared likely before Monday which meant that the big Sunday newspapers, with a circulation of more than 30 million, would not publish.

The only "national" newspaper printed Saturday was the Manchester Guardian. Copies were snatched up as quickly as they hit the news stands and soon disappeared since the publishers refused to exceed the usual daily press run.

The strikers are members of the Amalgamated Engineering Union and the Electrical Trades Union. They are demanding an increase in maximum wages to $36 a week.

Although they appeared little hope of any settlement before the next conciliation meetings expected Monday, other employes of Fleet Street's newspaper row were on the job.

A spokesman for the afternoon London Star said "If there is a sudden break—which we frankly doubt—we could be on the streets in five minutes."

Press sources said the newspapers would remain fully staffed at least through Monday.

State Police Report

Louisiana State Police of troop "F" this week reported 54 arrests, a majority of which were attributed to traffic violations.

A Ruston man, Manuel C. Caldwell, 26, was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and carrying a concealed weapon.

WIRED FOR EGGS

WOOD RIVER, Ill. (AP) — Coaxing an egg out of a gas tank of an automobile is about as tough as putting toothpaste back into a tube but Ray Esterlein did it. Someone dropped an unbroken egg into the gasoline spout of his car, and it remained undetected until a filling station attendant, discovered it. The egg was lodged six to seven inches down the spout and had to be removed intact or it would foul up the engine. A piece of adhesive tape on the end of a prod failed. A bent wire finally did the trick, but Esterlein says it was an exhausting job.

Small fry like this dish. Cook chopped beef lightly in a skillet and mix with cream sauce. If lean beef is used, add a little fat to the skillet when you are cooking it, but not too much

U. S. Filibuster King Returns To Normal Routines

AUSTIN (AP)—Sen. Jimmy Phillips, the nation's talking-est lawmaker, rabbed a normal eight hours' sleep last night and returned to the capitol to work on his mail today.

Seven pounds lighter at 185 than when he started his record-breaking filibuster Thursday morning, Phillips said he felt fine except for aching leg and shoulder muscles.

He said his shoulder muscles were sore because of the arm waving he did during his 23-hour- 35-minute filibuster that ended at 10:24 a.m. yesterday.

Phillips, of Angleton, harranged his colleagues in an effort to get an extra million dollars a year for a state charity hospital at Galveston. The Senate turned him down 14-11.

He countered questions about whether his headline-making filibuster may be a prelude to seeking higher office next year.

Asked if he would resign to run for governor or U.S. senator, Phillips laughed and replied: "My term runs three more years unless I can change office."

Cut that leftover frankfurter in thin rounds and add to almost any kind of soup—split pea, black bean, cream of celery.

Two Drillers Hurt In Oil Well Blaze

HOUSTON (AP)—Two drillers were burned, neither seriously, in an oil well fire in the Decker's Prairie Field bout five miles west of Tomball Friday.

Injured were L. V. Huey, 50, and R. J. Evitts, 34, both of Conroe.

Damage to the rig, well and machinery was estimated at about $175,000 by a spokesman for the well-drilling firm.

The well blew itself out after burning about 10 hours.

The crowd coming over for supper? Serve a big hot potato salad with broiled frankfurters, buttered rolls and lots of fresh vegetables to eat out of hand. Choose radishes, carrot and celery strips, cauliflowerets and strips of fennel for the fresh vegetable tray.

The Russian Wolves Go West

Russian wolves, huge grey beasts that destroy domestic livestock and often attack humans, are moving westward out of Soviet Russia into Poland, Eastern Germany and other European countries in such numbers as to constitute a major economic problem.

An article by the East Berlin staffer of Deutsche Korrespondenz, published in Bonn, West Germany, reveals that the situation has reached a ticklish diplomatic level.

"In the virgin forests around Minsk, Bialstock, Bialoviecz and Pinsk," the article says, "thousands of wolves lead an unmolested life and multiply accordingly. Since the wolves migrate chiefly to the west, the Soviets do not bother about combatting the plague and the Poles are the ones to suffer most. However, the latter no longer dare to ask Moscow for help. Since 1945 the Soviets have repeatedly ignored such wishes and Warsaw was even told to cease bothering Moscow with such trifles."

The author asks, "What news from the wolf-front in Eastern Europe? The main victim of the wolves are Poland and the German Eastern Territories beyond the Oder-Neisse line which are under Polish administration. In addition, the Soviet occupied zone of Germany is severely threatened, since hunting conditions in these areas are in a bad way."

The wolves have broken into Southeast Prussia and pushed through to Danzig, the article reveals; and run from Pinsk across Poland, past Warsaw, toward South Pomerania. "All along the way they have killed cattle and frightened the people. Today the packs have made wide areas of the country unsafe. Schools in remote areas must at times be closed on their account."

The harassed Poles attempted to build a "wolf barrier" along the Polish-Russian frontier. But their professional wolf hunters, expert shots and trained woodsmen, had been classed as "capitalists" by the Soviet masters and liquidated. The right to hunt in Poland was restricted, when Russia took over, to "proletarian workers" and party "functionaries," and even these were denied the use of any weapon more powerful than a smooth-bore shotgun. Russia has insisted upon "hunters with political qualifications." In the Soviet zone of East Germany and in Poland, "not a dozen experienced hunters can be found who have obtained hunting licenses from the Communists. . . . . The Society for Sports and Technology determine which members of the district hunting authorities possess the 'political qualifications' to be given arms for hunting purposes 'in conformity with the demands of state security.' The Society allows only such persons to take part in the qualification tests for hunting of whom it assumes that they will not some day train their guns upon the powerholders."

The East Berlin writer points to a fact long known to zoologists that several times in every century the Russian wolves obey a great urge to migrate westward. They follow two main routes, across North Germany, and across the Alps, and both have the same goal—"The Spanish Pyrenees, which over the centuries served the packs as their most western advance posts."

These two routes, of course, have echoed through the centuries to the feet of marching armies as the human struggle for power ebbed and flowed between Asia and Europe.

There is a lesson for Americans in the plight of the East Germans and the Poles, helpless before the invading wolf packs. It involves the right of the people to keep and bear arms—a right guaranteed to us by the Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. Only in free countries are the people permitted to own and use weapons. The mere possession of a rifle or a pistol in dictator-ruled countries such as Soviet Russia and its satellites is punishable by death or long imprisonment. Any move toward curtailing this right in America should be viewed as dangerous to liberty and security.

The Forest Genetics Institute

The new forest genetics institute at Gulfport, Miss., a branch of the Southern Forest Experiment Station in New Orleans, should prove a boon to the entire South.

One of the main purposes of the institute is to carry on basic research in tree breeding, and encourage the development of hybrid trees having special qualities such as rapid growth or resistance to pests and diseases.

Another purpose is to serve as a clearing house of information on forest genetics.

Trees form one of the South's greatest resources, in dollars and cent. Forests now are crops planted, cultivated and harvested [illegible] as logical and practical to improve the breed of trees as to improve the yield and the lint of cotton.

Atomic Power On The Railroads

Success of the Navy's first nuclear-powered submarine in trial runs has stimulated efforts to develop atomic-driven engines for other forms of transportation. The Baldwin interests, builders of locomotives, and the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad are ready to start work on the design of a locomotive using fissionable energy. The Atomic Energy Commission has agreed to provide technical information and advice.

Although this project is in the planning stage, and the initial work on it will be a mere prelude to possible later construction, there seem to be no good reason why it should not succeed.

Steam power drives most of the nation's locomotives until recent years, and still plays a mighty part in hauling American freight. Nuclear energy at present is being utilized in the form of heat, and this could be used to produce steam in a reciprocating engine.

Many advantages for such a power unit might be listed.

Perhaps within the next several years the atomic age will begin to transform the engines that pull long strings of freight cars or hurtle across the land towing the limited trains which people like to ride.

The 'Neglected Child'

Rayville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

"On every side today we are hearing about the alarming growth of juvenile delinquency. Schools, churches, civic clubs, social workers, politicians, all sincere people, are beating their breasts and groaning in anguish over the increasing rise of gangsterism and rowdyism among the young. They are hurling accusations and epithets at one another, claiming parental neglect, school modernism, church reluctance and what have you as the cause. They wind up with the same old, antiquated, mediocre, fossilized, frayed-edge idea that since we can't change the course of human nature in short order we must build a few more detention homes to house the rowdies.

"Has it ever occurred to our well - meaning public that the greatest potentiality for juvenile delinquency lies not in physical environment or the Mendelian law of heredity but in the lack of dignity for human beings? If poor housing, for example, were the cause, Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Johnson and many another distinguished statesman in American history could have rated Alcatraz long before its time. The federal government has recently asked for millions of dollars for housing as a means of combatting juvenile delinquency and yet it is a known fact that many of our delinquents come from the best brick homes in the nation.

"The 'neglected child,' whether from the mud - flats of Turkey Creek or from the palatial homes of the great is the key to the perplexing problem of delinquency. It is the neglected child, often unloved and unwanted, who eventually through misapprehension, bitterness, fear and hate fills the portals of Angola and provides fodder for the welfare department.

"In the Rayville Elementary School there are 30 known cases of neglected children. We can't prove this in a reluctant court of law but experience with and observation of these children over a period of years substantiate the fact. They are average and above children with the haggard appearance of the mentally abused unloved and unwanted. They come to school with dirty faces and tattered clothes. They sit with drawn faces in the classroom, bewildered, fearful and uncertain. Physical punishment of a child has no horror like mental torture. These are the potential delinquents, welfare clients and Angola prospects of tomorrow.

"What is our state doing about neglected children? Nothing. What are our courts doing? Practically nothing. What are the people doing? Nothing. We tear our shirts to X-ray children's chests for tuberculosis and make patch tests, all of which is fine and deserving, but leave the waifs of the by-ways and high-ways, potentially fine citizens, to grow into festering and running sores upon society, filling our prisons and welfare rolls.

"If the state of Louisiana can build detention homes at Alexandria and Monroe for incorrigibles it can build a few institutions modeled after our fine denominational orphans homes. Here society can reap a reward of good citizenship rather than a welfare client.

"If our courts can send men to the electric chair for murder, the same courts with a few more teeth in the law can take children away from parents who abuse them physically, mentally, morally and spiritually, and place them in homes of love and understanding.

"Someone may say, 'Oh, we have laws like that now.' We haven't any such thing. It is just about as easy to get a court to assume custody of an abused and neglected child as it is to convict a fifth amendment Communist. Even if the public pressures the court into consideration of a case a timid welfare department must make an investigation. Then if the welfare department finds anything akin to murder and incest the child may be taken and farmed out to foster parents provided these can be found. Such an absurd and ridiculous situation in a so-called enlightened civilization!

"It is time we stopped beating our breasts and moaning about 'our young people going to the dogs.' We should do something about it. While we go sniffling and snooping far and wide for prospective hoodlums with criminal taint under our very noses little urchins, mentally abused, neglected and too often unloved and unwanted register for Angola and the welfare rolls. An embittered child is the most difficult problem to deal with. He grows to hate society, people and the law. He begins as any other child, bright eyed, intelligent and hopeful. He winds up too often as a fierce, desperate and unrelenting criminal, despising society and the law.

"We don't need detention homes. We need institutions where there is love and understanding and stringent laws to take neglected children from the homes of irresponsible parents. Our courts weep over the rights of parents. Parents who torture their children, mentally, physically and morally, have no rights."

Monroe Fire Department

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to express our appreciation to the Monroe Fire Department for their kindness and consideration during last Sunday's fire at the Monroe Area Guidance Center, 510 Catalpa, Monroe, Louisiana. In addition to doing a good job of fighting the fire they were very careful to protect our equipment and prevented much damage and loss. We are proud of the firemen of our community and the fine job they do.

The Telephone Strike

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

What seems to be the most unjust issue in this telephone strike is that the Telephone Company demands a "no strike" clause. To the employees, this is like fighting a bear with your fists. A Union must have "teeth" (power) or the money mongers will ignore them. The employees seem to have a legitimate cause for striking; there are no Communists at the head of it.

Here is something the public should bear in mind: The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. is now rated at more than ten billion dollars. This was accomplished with strings of wire, poles and the peoples' money. No other corporation—Standard Oil, General Motors, Ford—is rated this high. Paradoxically, telephone rates continue to go up while the employees go on their way of penny pinching.

Organized labor has made this country a decent, comfortable place to live. In 1908 I went to work for the Express Companies (Southern, Pacific, Wells Fargo). I was forced to sign a clause that I wouldn't join a union. I went to work for $50 a month and my working hours were from ten to eighteen hours a day—that's right, 18 hours a day—and the word "overtime" wasn't in their vocabulary. But six years later, during World War I, we caught them with their britches down. They had their eyes on the Kaiser and we organized a union and one with teeth in. After that, we got decent hours and wages.

I believe the public should stand up for the telephone employees. The Federal Government will allow them to keep only enough of their salary for the necessities of life anyway. The A. T. & T. has ten billion dollars. A strike will be detrimental to the employees; but not the AT&T.

THOMAS A HILTON

Delay At R. R. Crossings

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Why do the tax - paying citizens of Monroe especially the southside, have to continue to put up with the Missouri Pacific RR Co., continually blocking all the crossings and delaying us getting to our work on time? If you have ever lived in the south part of town were you ever blocked at all crossings at the same time while trying to get to your work on time?

This thing happens practically every day between seven and eight o'clock in the morning where you are blocked from South Second Street crossing all the way down to and including Thomas Street and in many cases across the Standifer street crossing, where you are left hlepless until they finally move off.

If the Missouri Pacific and IC RR's won't build underpasses or overpasses they surely should be forced to cut a crossing especially where traffic is blocked for several blocks each way to let them pass to get to their work, as their work to them is just as important as the railroad work is to them, but we are always made to wait until they have finished their switching.

It appears that the City of Monroe is a large enough city to at least have one or more underpasses on each side of town to allow the necessary traffic to get by.

Monroe is fast growing into a large and busy city and with two railroads dominating the center of it, it is high time something was done about ways to keep the traffic moving instead of piling up on both sides of the tracks waiting for a chance to get on the other side. If West Monroe can have one underpass, Monroe can at least have one on each side of town.

The Yalta Betrayal

Los Angeles,

Editor, Morning World:

I wonder if anyone else is hopping, swearing mad as I am at this moment. Our local papers anyway, are playing up this Yalta stuff as though it were some deep, dark secret just now revealed for the first time.

Actually it has been so thoroughly revealed by numerous pro-American pamphleteers, and a few hardy, but only a few, editors and publishers that I doubt if there's a single jerk-water editor or publisher in the country that hasn't known the essentials of the Yalta betrayal for years.

Generally speaking, dailies, and most magazines, no longer form public opinion. They follow public opinion coming forth with the truth only after it becomes safe to do so.

Safety Campaign

Collinston,La.

Editor, Morning World:

How much longer are we humans here on earth going to use our being able to think, reason and invent things for a better life here on earth, for killing and destruction instead of for the uplifting of oppressed and down-trodden people and for a peaceful enjoyable life.

When are we ever going to accept God's teaching of how we are supposed to live and treat our fellow men, as laid down by prophets of old testament of the Holy Bible.

And surely if we don't accept and heed the teachings of Jesus Christ the Son of God, we are doomed to destruction and the second death in the fires of hell.

If we would all accept these things, then we would know our short span of life here on earth is but a second in the sight of God and there is no use of us rushing and hurrying here on earth, thinking we are going to accomplish a whole lot. We should be working for the reward of Eternal Life that God has promised us if will only believe in the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.

It would be a wonderful world to live in if we would slow down the pace of our lives, stop to look around us and enjoy the things God put on earth for us.

But most of us say we don't have time to go to church, we don't have time to visit our neighbors, we don't have time to visit the sick, we don't have time to take an active interest in our government.

We don't have enough people that will give what time they can to government offices solely for the good of man and country, rather than for money and power.

The Bible gives us the history of people and nations back through the ages that have turned away from God, to their lust and greed for power and money. They have always been destroyed and will be again.

It is a sad thing to think of how few of the earth's people will be brought up and left to live in the kingdom of God when he comes to dwell among us as revealed in the book of Revelations, in the new testament.

If we are a Child of God, we know that he uses us here on earth for the uplifting and building of h kingdom. Also, that he takes our earthly life from us when our task he has appointed us is done.

We need to do something to show that we are turning back to God and his teachings. And there is one thing that the governor of the fate of Louisiana is trying to do and that is to stop some of the killings and destructions on our highways. Everyone in the State of Louisiana should do everything they can to aid Gov. Kennon in this safety program.

I believe there are three major programs that need to be carried out that will stop a large percent of the accidents:

1. To get a drivers course in every high school in the state. Not only to teach them all safety rules of driving, but impress and instill in them the power and force of an automobile or truck. The human inability to control one at high speeds and that they are operating the worst death dealing thing we have in the country today, also they should respect other peoples lives even if they do not care about their own.

2. We need speed laws governed by weather, visibility and highway conditions, and enough police officers to enforce them, also penalties heavier for breaking them. For example, if a person is driving in fog, faster than he can stop in the distance he can see in front of him, he should be subject to arrest, fined and held liable for any accident he might cause.

3. Put up signs that can be seen at night or day and also be seen under inclement weather conditions, signs that will warn people when they are approaching a dangerous place on the highway.

To all who read this, if you think it needs to be done, let your public officials and law makers, also your courts and judges, know you want it done.

Canine Symphony

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

From time to time, we have an episode of dog poisoning. The papers give the harrowing details; the good people give out dire threats. We become highly indignant toward anyone who can stoop so low as to poison that most noble of creatures — the dog . . .

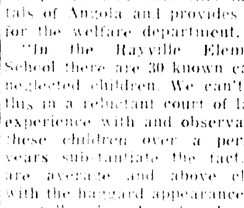

I live in a nice neighborhood, but life is becoming unbearable due to the neighbors' dogs. There is not an hour of the day or night when the canine symphony is not going full blast; and slowly but surely I am losing my sense of reason. It's like living in the midst of a perpetual fox hunt.

The dogs run the gamut of sounds, from deep guttural roars to ear-splitting shrieks, and I have yet to hear an owner make the slightest attempt to quiet his dog. They bark at birds, cats, automobiles, children, and one another. Let one dog start and the whole block reverberates for an hour to a chorus of discordant yelps, howls, and barks.

One would imagine that common decency would make a dog-owner have just a little consideration for his neighbors. A dog is an intelligent animal and can easily be taught to refrain from useless noise. All it takes is a few sharp words or a cuff or two.

Ordinarily I like dogs very much but I like quiet too; and I am reaching a point where something's got to bust if I don't get some relief.

Surrender, Dear?

YOU are the one I love the most . . . By any moon or sun . . . And that is natural because . . . You are my only one . . . I loved you in the autumn wind . . . And in the winter snow . . . And now in springtime you are mine . . . Wherever breezes blow . . . The summer days will come again . . . But life will be the same . . . And there will be no sound for me . . . Except to hear your name . . . Throughout the year, around the clock . . . My heart is yours to hold . . . So why not, please, give in to me . . . And let your love unfold? . . . No one will ever love you more . . . No one will ever give . . . As much as I can offer you . . . To love and really live.

Dear Mr. Harvey:

This is to et you know I flew in from Outer Space, but you were out of town. I couldn't wait. I caught the first flying saucer home. I'm sorry I came.

For centuries we have been looking at Earth through our telescopes studying the mountains and the canals and the seas. And it all seemed so peaceful. All my life I dreamed of traveling to Earth. But what did I find?

What is the matter? You were to have been God's noblest experiment. Those of your ancestors who created the world's first government - under - God, then fought to keep it, proved themselves worthy of heaven.

Then what happened?

Today you make speeches against police state methods, while your own national treasury is paying a reward to 200,000 citizen informers every year who will tattle on their fellow taxpayers.

You build more houses than ever before . . . but fewer homes.

You have the genius to make it rain, but lack the sense to come in out of it.

Yours is the ability to control nuclear fission . . .

Yet you cannot stop the explosions in the minds of men . . . so one in every twelve children now born in your beautiful, prosperous United States is headed for a mental institution before he dies.

You sing hymns one hour, one day a week.

But you bring burlesque shows into your living room two hours every night.

Your saloons take in eight times as much as your churches.

On the newsstand . . . even on the phonograph . . . you grin at what you used to blush at.

On your theatre marquees everything is "wonderful" but nothing is good.

You sentence professional liars to prison . . . then buy their books.

Is there any possible beauty, any conceivable resource, anything at all that God overlooked when he tried to give you everything?

What is there that He might have done but did not do to set the perfect stage for you?

Maybe, if I'd come a couple thousand years sooner I'd have been able to warn you in time that you have to abide by the laws which run all this . . .

But then I guess not.

I remember now.

Somebody tried.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Four Key States

The first breath of spring finds the Democrats in such fine fettle that none of the polls which show President Eisenhower at the peak of his popularity can dampen their spirits. Without too much on which to base their optimism; they say they can beat the general next year, and some of them really think they can.

The 1956 election promises to be a sprightly affair, provided the United States suffers no serious economic reverses, with conventions held in August and a short campaign, which will alleviate the boredom of previous years and still give ample opportunity for sharp discussion of principal issues, without too much repetition.

All the Democrats need to beat Ike is a candidate with appeal and 177 more electoral votes than they received last time. The party hit its lowest presidential vote level in 24 years in the Eisenhower - Stevenson contest with 89 electoral votes and nine states.

Looking backward, Democratic leaders recall that only the hair line division in Congress kept them from feeling panicky. Since then, the party at all times has exhibited a vitality which sometimes must have given President Eisenhower a momentary doubt of his wisdom in accepting the Republican rather than the Democratic nomination.

The Democrats in Congress and at national headquarters are sure they will regain 57 electoral votes in southern states which they lost to Mr. Eisenhower in 1952. They are in Texas (24), Tennessee (11), Florida (10) and Virginia (12). They are also confident of Oklahoma (8) and Missouri (13) two border states which usually go along with the south.

To that total of 78, they think that declining livestock and other farm prices will give them the western states of Montana (4) and Wyoming (3). That will make it 85, they figure and they're off to a flying start.

In the Pacific Northwest, the Eisenhower administration has become so involved on the public power issue that the Demos are gleefully confident they can take Oregon (6) Washington (9) and Idaho (4). That brings the prospective total to 104.

Needing some big northern and eastern states for their rock bottom requirement to win, they have a firm belief, based on results of the 1954 congressional elections that they can take Michigan (20) with organized labor strength, New Jersey (16) and quite possibly Massachusetts (16). They are also encouraged by reports from Maryland (9), Delaware (3), Rhode Island (4) and Connecticut (8).

That gives them 180 or more than the 177 they require. The only reason that such an estimate flickers like a bad TV picture is that it leaves out the four big states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California. Only by adding figures can any political analyst figure an electoral college victory without any of those four states, although Woodrow Wilson won in 1916 with only one of the four—California, which he carried by a mere 4,000 votes. You can find some Democrats who think they can almost if not quite put Pennsylvania in the Democratic column.

About the candidate who can get the required 265 electoral votes, the Democrats have a philosophy. They believe that President Eisenhower and the Republican party can defeat themselves, and they need no crystal ball to see how that would come about. Party leaders and national party headquarters reason that while the president himself is popular, he is on the unpopular side of a number of issues, and that is what will count in a presidential selection.

"In this day and age, it is almost impossible for a president to stay on the popular side of every issue," said one Democrat who is listened to by his party mates. "Mr. Eisenhower still has a year to go, and we think he is hitting the skids right now. Besides, that we have more Democrats in this country than Republicans and they are flocking back to the fold."

That may be the optimism which goes with spring. At any rate it reveals that a party which can stage a comeback two years after being booted out of office, as the Democrats did last year, is eager to go after the big stakes.

Facts Worth Knowing

The giant fulmar, or stinker, when approached during incubation, likely will throw up its entire last meal. The bird can shoot up to six feet, says the National Geographic Society. No amount of cleaning will remove the odor from clothes. From the very start the stinker chick, too, can deliver a powerful little jet, and its aim seems to be even better than that of its parents. Except for the albatross, the giant fulmar is the largest of the petrel family, about 37 inches long and weighing around eight pounds. Its wings extend more than six feet.

Remove paper stuck to wood by soaking it with a few drops of oil and rubbing gently with a clean cloth.

To clean painted or tile bathroom walls easily, fill the bathtub with hot water and let stand a few minutes. Then wipe the walls clean with a dry cloth.

All maples yield sweet sap, but only two are significant to syrup producers — the sugar maple and the black maple, says the National Geographic Society. In New England and neighboring Canada conditions are especially favorable for the collection of sap. Chief factor is the combination of freezing nights and thawing days that encourages the sap's spring flow.

The Russian Wolves Go West

Russian wolves, huge grey beasts that destroy domestic livestock and often attack humans, are moving westward out of Soviet Russia into Poland, Eastern Germany and other European countries in such numbers as to constitute a major economic problem.

An article by the East Berlin staffer of Deutsche Korrespondenz, published in Bonn, West Germany, reveals that the situation has reached a ticklish diplomatic level.

"In the virgin forests around Minsk, Bialstock, Bialoviecz and Pinsk," the article says, "thousands of wolves lead an unmolested life and multiply accordingly. Since the wolves migrate chiefly to the west, the Soviets do not bother about combatting the plague and the Poles are the ones to suffer most. However, the latter no longer dare to ask Moscow for help. Since 1945 the Soviets have repeatedly ignored such wishes and Warsaw was even told to cease bothering Moscow with such trifles."

The author asks, "What news from the wolf-front in Eastern Europe? The main victim of the wolves are Poland and the German Eastern Territories beyond the Oder-Neisse line which are under Polish administration. In addition, the Soviet occupied zone of Germany is severely threatened, since hunting conditions in these areas are in a bad way."

The wolves have broken into Southeast Prussia and pushed through to Danzig, the article reveals; and run from Pinsk across Poland, past Warsaw, toward South Pomerania. "All along the way they have killed cattle and frightened the people. Today the packs have made wide areas of the country unsafe. Schools in remote areas must at times be closed on their account."

The harassed Poles attempted to build a "wolf barrier" along the Polish-Russian frontier. But their professional wolf hunters, expert shots and trained woodsmen, had been classed as "capitalists" by the Soviet masters and liquidated. The right to hunt in Poland was restricted, when Russia took over, to "proletarian workers" and party "functionaries," and even these were denied the use of any weapon more powerful than a smooth-bore shotgun. Russia has insisted upon "hunters with political qualifications." In the Soviet zone of East Germany and in Poland, "not a dozen experienced hunters can be found who have obtained hunting licenses from the Communists. . . . . The Society for Sports and Technology determine which members of the district hunting authorities possess the 'political qualifications' to be given arms for hunting purposes 'in conformity with the demands of state security.' The Society allows only such persons to take part in the qualification tests for hunting of whom it assumes that they will not some day train their guns upon the powerholders."

The East Berlin writer points to a fact long known to zoologists that several times in every century the Russian wolves obey a great urge to migrate westward. They follow two main routes, across North Germany, and across the Alps, and both have the same goal—"The Spanish Pyrenees, which over the centuries served the packs as their most western advance posts."

These two routes, of course, have echoed through the centuries to the feet of marching armies as the human struggle for power ebbed and flowed between Asia and Europe.

There is a lesson for Americans in the plight of the East Germans and the Poles, helpless before the invading wolf packs. It involves the right of the people to keep and bear arms—a right guaranteed to us by the Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. Only in free countries are the people permitted to own and use weapons. The mere possession of a rifle or a pistol in dictator-ruled countries such as Soviet Russia and its satellites is punishable by death or long imprisonment. Any move toward curtailing this right in America should be viewed as dangerous to liberty and security.

"What is our state doing about neglected children? Nothing. What are our courts doing? Practically nothing. What are we the people doing? Nothing. We tear our shirts to X-ray children's chests for tuberculosis and make patch tests, all of which is fine and deserving, but leave the waifs of the by-ways and high-ways, potentially fine citizens, to grow into festering and running sores upon society, filling our prisons, and welfare rolls.

"If the state of Louisiana can build detention homes at Alexandria and Monroe for incorrigibles, it can build a few institutions modeled after our fine denominational orphans homes. Here society can reap a reward of good citizenship rather than a welfare client.

"If our courts can send men to the electric chair for murder, the same courts with a few more teeth in the law can take children away from parents who abuse them physically, mentally, morally and spiritually, and place them in homes of love and understanding.

"Someone may say, 'Oh, we have laws like that now.' We haven't any such thing. It is just about as easy to get a court to assume custody of an abused and neglected child as it is to convict a fifth amendment Communist. Even if the public pressures the court into consideration of a case a timid welfare department must make an investigation. Then if the welfare department finds anything akin to murder and incest the child may be taken and farmed out to foster parents provided these can be found. Such an absurd and ridiculous situation in a so-called enlightened civilization!

"It is time we stopped beating our breasts and moaning about 'our young people going to the dogs.' We should do something about it. While we go sniffling and snooping far and wide for prospective hoodlums with criminal taint under our very noses little urchins, mentally abused, neglected and too often unloved and unwanted register for Angola and the welfare rolls. An embittered child is the most difficult problem to deal with. He grows to hate society, people and the law. He begins as any other child, bright eyed, intelligent and hopeful. He winds up too often as a fierce, desperate and unrelenting criminal, despising society and the law.

"We don't need detention homes. We need institutions where there is love and understanding and stringent laws to take neglected children from the homes of irresponsible parents. Our courts weep over the rights of parents. Parents who torture their children, mentally, physically and morally, have no rights."

Monroe Fire Department

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to express our appreciation to the Monroe Fire Department for their kindness and consideration during last Sunday's fire at the Monroe Area Guidance Center, 510 Catalpa, Monroe, Louisiana. In addition to doing a good job of fighting the fire they were very careful to protect our equipment and prevented much damage and loss. We are proud of the firemen of our community and the fine job they do.

The Telephone Strike

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

What seems to be the most unjust issue in this telephone strike is that the Telephone Company demands a "no strike" clause. To the employees, this is like fighting a bear with your fists. A Union must have "teeth" (power) or the money mongers will ignore them. The employees seem to have a legitimate cause for striking; there are no Communists at the head of it.

Here is something the public should bear in mind: The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. is now rated at more than ten billion dollars. This was accomplished with strings of wire, poles and the peoples' money. No other corporation—Standard Oil, General Motors, Ford—is rated this high. Paradoxically, telephone rates continue to go up while the employees go on their way of penny pinching.

Organized labor has made this country a decent, comfortable place to live. In 1908 I went to work for the Express Companies (Southern, Pacific, Wells Fargo). I was forced to sign a clause that I wouldn't join a union. I went to work for $50 a month and my working hours were from ten to eighteen hours a day—that's right, 18 hours a day—and the word "overtime" wasn't in their vocabulary. But six years later, during World War I, we caught them with their britches down. They had their eyes on the Kaiser and we organized a union and one with teeth in. After that, we got decent hours and wages.

I believe the public should stand up for the telephone employees. The Federal Government will allow them to keep only enough of their salary for the necessities of life anyway. The A. T. & T. has ten billion dollars. Astrike will be detrimental to the employees; but not the AT&T.

THOMAS A HILTON

Delay At R. R. Crossings

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Why do the tax - paying citizens of Monroe especially the southside, have to continue to put up with the Missouri Pacific RR Co., continually blocking all the crossings and delaying us getting to our work on time? If you have ever lived in the south part of town were you ever blocked at all crossings at the same time while trying to get to your work on time?

This thing happens practically every day between seven and eight o'clock in the morning where you are blocked from South Second Street crossing all the way down to and including Thomas Street and in many cases across the Standifer street crossing, where you are left hlepless until they finally move off.

If the Missouri Pacific and IC RR's won't build underpasses or overpasses they surely should be forced to cut a crossing especially where traffic is blocked for several blocks each way to let them pass to get to their work, as their work to them is just as important as the railroad work is to them, but we are always made to wait until they have finished their switching.

It appears that the City of Monroe is a large enough city to at least have one or more underpasses on each side of town to allow the necessary traffic to get by.

Monroe is fast growing into a large and busy city and with two railroads dominating the center of it, it is high time something was done about ways to keep the traffic moving instead of piling up on both sides of the tracks waiting for a chance to get on the other side. If West Monroe can have one underpass, Monroe can at least have one on each side of town.

The Yalta Betrayal

Los Angeles,

Editor, Morning World:

I wonder if anyone else is hopping, swearing mad as I am at this moment. Our local papers anyway, are playing up this Yalta stuff as though it were some deep, dark secret just now revealed for the first time.

Actually it has been so thoroughly revealed by numerous pro-American pamphleteers, and a few hardy, but only a few, editors and publishers that I doubt if there's a single jerk-water editor or publisher in the country that hasn't known the essentials of the Yalta betrayal for years.

Generally speaking, dailies, and most magazines, no longer form public opinion. They follow public opinion coming forth with the truth only after it becomes safe to do so.

Safety Campaign

Collinston,La.

Editor, Morning World:

How much longer are we humans here on earth going to use our being able to think, reason and invent things for a better life here on earth, for killing and destruction instead of for the uplifting of oppressed and down-trodden people and for a peaceful enjoyable life.

When are we ever going to accept God's teaching of how we are supposed to live and treat our fellow men, as laid down by prophets of old testament of the Holy Bible.

And surely if we don't accept and heed the teachings of Jesus Christ the Son of God, we are doomed to destruction and the second death in the fires of hell.

If we would all accept these things, then we would know our short span of life here on earth is but a second in the sight of God and there is no use of us rushing and hurrying here on earth, thinking we are going to accomplish a whole lot. We should be working for the reward of Eternal Life that God has promised us if will only believe in the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.

It would be a wonderful world to live in if we would slow down the pace of our lives, stop to look around us and enjoy the things God put on earth for us.

But most of us say we don't have time to go to church, we don't have time to visit our neighbors, we don't have time to visit the sick, we don't have time to take an active interest in our government.

We don't have enough people that will give what time they can to government offices solely for the good of man and country, rather than for money and power.

The Bible gives us the history of people and nations back through the ages that have turned away from God, to their lust and greed for power and money. They have always been destroyed and will be again.

It is a sad thing to think of how few of the earth's people will be brought up and left to live in the kingdom of God when he comes to dwell among us as revealed in the book of Revelations, in the new testament.

If we are a Child of God, we know that he uses us here on earth for the uplifting and building of h' kingdom. Also, that he takes our earthly life from us when our task he has appointed us is done.

We need to do something to show that we are turning back to God and his teachings. And there is one thing that the governor of the state of Louisiana is trying to do and that is to stop some of the killings and destructions on our highways. Everyone in the State of Louisiana should do everything they can to aid Gov. Kennon in this safety program.

I believe there are three major programs that need to be carried out that will stop a large percent of the accidents:

1. To get a drivers course in every high school in the state. Not only to teach them all safety rules of driving, but impress and instill in them the power and force of an automobile or truck. The human inability to control one at high speeds and that they are operating the worst death dealing thing we have in the country today, also they should respect other peoples lives even if they do not care about their own.

2. We need speed laws governed by weather, visibility and highway conditions, and enough police officers to enforce them, also penalties heavier for breaking them. For example, if a person is driving in fog, faster than he can stop in the distance he can see in front of him, he should be subject to arrest, fined and held liable for any accident he might cause.

3. Put up signs that can be seen at night or day and also be seen under inclement weather conditions, signs that will warn people when they are approaching a dangerous place on the highway.

To all who read this, if you think it needs to be done, let your public officials and law makers, also your courts and judges, know you want it done.

Canine Symphony

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

From time to time, we have an episode of dog poisoning. The papers give the harrowing details; the good people give out dire threats. We become highly indignant toward anyone who can stoop so low as to poison that most noble of creatures — the dog . . .

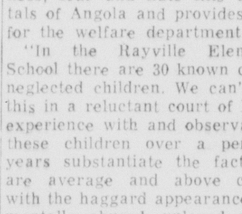

I live in a nice neighborhood, but life is becoming unbearable due to the neighbors' dogs. There is not an hour of the day or night when the canine symphony is not going full blast; and slowly but surely I am losing my sense of reason. It's like living in the midst of a perpetual fox hunt.

The dogs run the gamut of sounds, from deep guttural roars to ear-splitting shrieks, and I have yet to hear an owner make the slightest attempt to quiet his dog. They bark at birds, cats, automobiles, children, and one another. Let one dog start and the whole block reverberates for an hour to a chorus of discordant yelps, howls, and barks.

One would imagine that common decency would make a dog-owner have just a little consideration for his neighbors. A dog is an intelligent animal and can easily be taught to refrain from useless noise. All it takes is a few sharp words or a cuff or two.

Ordinarily I like dogs very much but I like quiet too; and I am reaching a point where something's got to bust if I don't get some relief.

Surrender, Dear?

YOU are the one I love the most . . . By any moon or sun . . . And that is natural because . . . You are my only one . . . I loved you in the autumn wind . . . And in the winter snow . . . And now in springtime you are mine . . . Wherever breezes blow . . . The summer days will come again . . . But life will be the same . . . And there will be no sound for me . . . Except to hear your name . . . Throughout the year, around the clock . . . My heart is yours to hold . . . So why not, please, give in to me . . . And let your love unfold? . . . No one will ever love you more . . . No one will ever give . . . As much as I can offer you . . . To love and really live.

Outer Space.

Dear Mr. Harvey:

This is to et you know I flew in from Outer Space, but you were out of town. I couldn't wait. I caught the first flying saucer home. I'm sorry I came.

For centuries we have been looking at Earth through our telescopes studying the mountains and the canals and the seas. And it all seemed so peaceful. All my life I dreamed of traveling to Earth. But what did I find?

What is the matter? You were to have been God's noblest experiment. Those of your ancestors who created the world's first government - under - God, then fought to keep it, proved themselves worthy of heaven.

Then what happened?

Today you make speeches against police state methods, while your own national treasury is paying a reward to 200,000 citizen informers every year who will tattle on their fellow taxpayers.

You build more houses than ever before . . . but fewer homes.

You have the genius to make it rain, but lack the sense to come in out of it.

Yours is the ability to control nuclear fission . . .

Yet you cannot stop the explosions in the minds of men . . . so one in every twelve children now born in your beautiful, prosperous United States is headed for a mental institution before he dies.

You sing hymns one hour, one day a week.

But you bring burlesque shows into your living room two hours every night.

Your saloons take in eight times as much as your churches.

On the newsstand . . . even on the phonograph . . . you grin at what you used to blush at.

On your theatre marquees everything is "wonderful" but nothing is good.

You sentence professional liars to prison . . . then buy their books.

Is there any possible beauty, any conceivable resource, anything at all that God overlooked when he tried to give you everything?

What is there that He might have done but did not do to set the perfect stage for you?

Maybe, if I'd come a couple thousand years sooner I'd have been able to warn you in time that you have to abide by the laws which run all this . . .

But then I guess not.

I remember now.

Somebody tried.

Goodbye,

Facts Worth Knowing

The giant fulmar, or stinker, when approached during incubation, likely will throw up its entire last meal. The bird can shoot up to six feet, says the National Geographic Society. No amount of cleaning will remove the odor from clothes. From the very start the stinker chick, too, can deliver a powerful little jet, and its aim seems to be even better than that of its parents. Except for the albatross, the giant fulmar is the largest of the petrel family, about 37 inches long and weighing around eight pounds. Its wings extend more than six feet.

Remove paper stuck to wood by soaking it with a few drops of oil and rubbing gently with a clean cloth.

To clean painted or tile bathroom walls easily, fill the bathtub with hot water and let stand a few minutes. Then wipe the walls clean with a dry cloth.

All maples yield sweet sap, but only two are significant to syrup producers — the sugar maple and the black maple, says the National Geographic Society. In New England and neighboring Canada conditions are especially favorable for the collection of sap. Chief factor is the combination of freezing nights and thawing days that encourages the sap's spring flow.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Four Key States

The first breath of spring finds the Democrats in such fine fettle that none of the polls which show President Eisenhower at the peak of his popularity can dampen their spirits. Without too much on which to base their optimism; they say they can beat the general next year, and some of them really think they can.

The 1956 election promises to be a sprightly affair, provided the United States suffers no serious economic reverses, with conventions held in August and a short campaign, which will alleviate the boredom of previous years and still give ample opportunity for sharp discussion of principal issues, without too much repetition.

All the Democrats need to beat Ike is a candidate with appeal and 177 more electoral votes than they received last time. The party hit its lowest presidential vote level in 24 years in the Eisenhower - Stevenson contest with 89 electoral votes and nine states.

Looking backward, Democratic leaders recall that only the hair line division in Congress kept them from feeling panicky. Since then, the party at all times has exhibited a vitality which sometimes must have given President Eisenhower a momentary doubt of his wisdom in accepting the Republican rather than the Democratic nomination.

The Democrats in Congress and at national headquarters are sure they will regain 57 electoral votes in southern states which they lost to Mr. Eisenhower in 1952. They are in Texas (24), Tennessee (11), Florida (10) and Virginia (12). They are also confident of Oklahoma (8) and Missouri (13) two border states which usually go along with the south.

To that total of 78, they think that declining livestock and other farm prices will give them the western states of Montana (4) and Wyoming (3). That will make it 85, they figure and they're off to a flying start.

In the Pacific Northwest, the Eisenhower administration has become so involved on the public power issue that the Demos are gleefully confident they can take Oregon (6) Washington (9) and Idaho (4). That brings the prospective total to 104.

Needing some big northern and eastern states for their rock bottom requirement to win, they have a firm belief, based on results of the 1954 congressional elections that they can take Michigan (20) with organized labor strength, New Jersey (16) and quite possibly Massachusetts (16). They are also encouraged by reports from Maryland (9), Delaware (3), Rhode Island (4) and Connecticut (8).

That gives them 180 or more than the 177 they require. The only reason that such an estimate flickers like a bad TV picture is that it leaves out the four big states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California. Only by adding figures can any political analyst figure an electoral college victory without any of those four states, although Woodrow Wilson won in 1916 with only one of the four—California, which he carried by a mere 4,000 votes. You can find some Democrats who think they can almost if not quite put Pennsylvania in the Democratic column.

About the candidate who can get the required 266 electoral votes, the Democrats have a philosophy. They believe that President Eisenhower and the Republican party can defeat themselves, and they need no crystal ball to see how that would come about. Party leaders and national party headquarters reason that while the president himself is popular, he is on the unpopular side of a number of issues, and that is what will count in a presidential selection.

"In this day and age, it is almost impossible for a president to stay on the popular side of every issue," said one Democrat who is listened to by his party mates. "Mr. Eisenhower still has a year to go, and we think he is hitting the skids right now. Besides, that we have more Democrats in this country than Republicans and they are flocking back to the fold."

That may be the optimism which goes with spring. At any rate it reveals that a party which can stage a comeback two years after being booted out of office, as the Democrats did last year, is eager to go after the big stakes.

Mississippi To Hand Out School Money This Week

JACKSON, Miss., March 26 (AP)—The Mississippi Legislature hands out school money next week after working 11 weeks to get it.

In one week, the Legislature probably will appropriate 21 million dollars for school operation and another three million for buildings.

The money will provide schools until June 30, 1956, and a start on school construction, heart of the plan to equalize Negro and white schools.

The log-jam preventing the Legislature from ending its work-burst Friday when the Senate voted 27-12 to approve a compromise surtax. It boosts eight separate taxes 14 per cent.

The temporary surtax will bring in $3,700,000 in "new money" until June 30, 1956, end of the two-year financial period. It dies automatically on that date.

The Senate set April 7 as the date to end the special session which begins its 12th week Monday. The House of Representatives is expected to agree. It had refused to accept the same date until the Senate approved the surtax.

Lawmakers probably will go home next Friday, April 1. The remaining time will be for Gov. Hugh White to sign bills, and House and Senate clerks to finish their work.

The House Appropriations Committee headed by Rep. John Junkin of Adams County will grind out the appropriation bills next week. Committee members already have been working on them.

Mississippi already has 16 million for schools next year, left over from the 1954 Legislature. The additional 24 million will finance the qualization program at 100 cents on the dollar, except for school buildings.

Construction of new buildings will wait until Jan. 1, 1956.

One final thorny issue faces the Legislature — aid to cities.

The Senate will consider the problem next week. The House already has approved 1½ million yearly aid to municipalities.

The House bill would take $548,000 each year from the gasoline tax money which goes to counties. Another million would come from gasoline tax money going to the State Highway Department.

Cotton Senators To Make Second Try For Acreage

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Cotton states senators are going to make another effort to get a cotton acreage increase bill through the Senate with what Sen. Johnston (D-SC) termed today "a new and reasonable formula."

That bill would have increased acreages in each cotton-growing state by 1½ per cent. But it included an amendment, by Sen. Case (R-SD), to increase wheat acreage by the same amount. The bill would have increased cotton acreage by 272,000 acres.

Originally, the Senate considered a bill approved by its Agriculture Committee, which would have provided small growers a minimum of four acres of cotton, wherever they lived. Since most of them live in the southeast, senators from western cotton-growing states objected. This brought on the bill to grant a 1½ per cent increase for all cotton-growing states.

After the bill's defeat, Chairman Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said he saw no remaining hopes for new legislation this year.

In a statement today, however, Sen. Johnston said a new formula has been worked out in the last day or so. He did not outline it.

LeBlanc Opposes U. S. Control Of Gas Production

BATON ROUGE, March 26 (AP) — Attorney General Fred LeBlanc said today replacing state control of natural gas with federal regulation would tend to stifle free competition and might discourage . . . development and production.

LeBlanc said, in a prepared statement, that the Federal Power Commission "does not want the authority" to regulate "production gathering, processing or sale of natural gas before its entry into an interstate transmission line."

He added prior to a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision such regulation "was never previously construed as coming within the commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution."

He said he had two members of his staff in Washington studying proposed legislation designed to offset the high court ruling.

"The Louisiana Legislature has enacted sound laws to provide for the effective conservation of oil and gas," LeBlanc said. "Price fixing at Washington could largely defeat the objectives of reasonable development and permissive production. Economic waste is quite as harmful as physical waste from the standpoint of oil and gas conservation.

LeBlanc said the demand for federal control came mostly "from cities in the mid-west. Their officers think that such control would lower consumer rates. They do not seem to realize, that the end result of federal price fixing would increase, in all probability, the consumer's bill. . ."

A few days before the wedding concentrate on proper washing of your hands. Use the surgeon's scrub for thorough cleansing. Build up a good rich lather and brush it downward over forearms, wrists and hands. Rinse thoroughly. Seven-Year-Old Regains Consciousness After Five Months, Asks For Santa

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — This is Christmas Day for blonde, blue-eyed, 7-year-old Gail Staley, who is gaily making up for her five months of unconsciousness.

Gail, who lost consciousness when an automobile struck her last October, awoke Tuesday night. She asked her mother, "Where is Santa Claus?"

Mrs. Clarence Staley told her little daughter that Santa would come today just for her. The little girl smiled—and talked. She asked about her missed school work, called her family's names and conversed with excited neighbors.

But she mostly talked about "Christmas."

The weatherman was most obliging, too. It snowed last night, Gail's Christmas Eve, and more snow was forecast for today.

To add to the Christmas spirit, Gail's parents yesterday decorated a tree, but its orilliance was no match for the little girl's eyes.

Also planned for Gail today is a special program of Christmas music by a church choir near her home.

Gail, who hadn't spoken for five months, was taken to Louisville during the Thanksgiving holiday for possible surgery. But doctors said they believed she would regain consciousness after a blood clot dissolved. They decided not to operate. Gail then was taken home.

"Everybody is being so good," Mrs. Staley said.

Choral Reading Demonstration Is Presented Here

Northeast State students of a speech class in activities for elementary teachers and a group in language arts Saturday observed a demonstration in choral reading presented by George A. Brian of the speech faculty and Mrs. Irene Terrall, teacher at Lenwill School of West Monroe.

Brian teaches the speech class and Miss Euna Lee Wallace offers the course in language arts.

Choral reading has been a neglected field until recently, according to Brian. "This type of expression is an excellent way for teachers to develop the shy child," he said. "It provides a medium whereby he loses the feeling of inferiority as he becomes a definite part of the group."

The three types of speaking which are used in choral reading, refrain, line-a-child, and two parts, were demonstrated by 10 fourth grade pupils of Mrs. Terrall and children from the following schools:

Ann Adams, Sherrouse; Zella Fay Brown, Calhoun; Anne Owens, Dee Dee Owens and Pamela Sims, all of Rayville; and Carol Crotwell, Plum Street School of Monroe.

Texas' Huge Bill On Appropriations Being Studied

AUSTIN (AP) — A joint Senate-House conference committee probably will be the next stop for the giant appropriations bill which passed the Senate yesterday after weathering a record-setting filibuster.

The measure, a Senate version of a bill passed earlier by the House, calls for state spending of 1¾ billion dollars during the next two years.

The total is the largest in the history of Texas.

Unless the House accepts the Senate version, the measure must go into conference committee for the differences to be ironed out.

The original House bill called for considerable salary increases not included in the Senate-approved version. The Senate, however, gave a 2½ million dollar increase to the State Health Department while the House voted a $1,800,000 hike.

Senate approval of the bill came after a bitter floor fight over the size of certain appropriations, notably the allowance for operation of the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

TAXI TROUBLE

PARIS (AP) — After an interruption of 15 years, Paris has put back into operation the telephones along side Taxi stands, so that customers can call the cabs to their homes. Taxi drivers aren't enthusiastic. For one thing, they have to pay a keg to the box. For another the customer often gets tired of waiting and finds another cab. Worst of all, a cab on its way to pick up a customer may be halted by a policeman for cruising empty with its flag down, which is against the law.

Hard Freeze

South Louisiana Truck Crops Face Total Destruction

HAMMOND, La. March 26 —UP — Truck farmers today faced almost certain financial loss with the forecast of lows of 25 tonight in this "strawberry capitol of the world."

The Louisiana State University agriculture department said that the cold wave would "kill off strawberry crops for a month" because it would kill both the bloom and berry. However, the berry would come back in about 30 days.

The berry crop already has suffered about 25 per cent damage from heavy frost this week which wiped out beans, peppers and cucumbers.

An LSU spokesman said the predicted temperatures in the very low 20s in North Louisiana would "practically destroy this year's peach crop" which already is blooming.

The freeze was expected to kill all warm weather crops in truck gardens such as tomatoes, peppers and eggplants. All would have to be replanted.

The U. S. weather bureau at New Orleans said the forecast for the Hammond area tonight was for lows between 25 and 28.

Winds kept temperatures from dipping below freezing last night. Meanwhile, Dr. George F. Potter of the Agriculture department's research service office in Bogalusa said it might be weeks before an exact estimate can be made of damage to the tung crop near the Mississippi state line.

The late season frost this week apparently injured vessels which carry water through the stem to the fruit, Potter said. It was the first time such injury had occurred and Potter indicated that tung growers may simply have to wait and see whether the fruits develop or not.

The freeze came later in the season than any previous cold spell since the research office was set up in 1938.

Potter said research so far has indicated the fruits could live through temperatures of 29 degrees but he said the unseasonably warm weather in early March might have made the fruit more susceptible to cold.

He inspected orchards at Money Hill and the Bogalusa Tung Oil Co. plantation at Bush. He said damage was light, about 10 to 15 per cent. Temperatures had dropped to 30 degrees at Money Hill and to 28 in other areas of Washington parish and Mississippi.

Genealogical And Historical Society To Meet In Rapides

INDEPENDENCE, La., March 26 (AP) — The Louisiana Genealogical and Historical Society will meet next Saturday at the Rapides Parish courthouse in Alexandria.

President Nicholas R. Murray said the society chartered in 1953, would be meeting for the first time outside Baton Rouge. It normally meets four times a year. He said meetings are planned in Shreveport and other cities over the state.

Armed Services Subcommittee In Study Of Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Armed Services subcommittee is still undecided whether to give the Pentagon authority to use the draft, if necessary, to help build up the military reserves.

Failing to reach a vote yesterday, the subcommittee put off until next week a final decision on the Defense Department's second request for power to induct men 19-26 years for six months' training. These trainees would be obligated to 7½ years' reserve duty.

Carter L. Burgess, assistant secretary of defense, said draft authority would be used only as a "last resort," if there are fewer than 100,000 volunteers a year for this special corps.

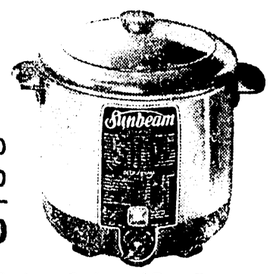

The subcommittee already tentatively has approved a plan to allow up to 250,000 youths between 17 and 19 years to volunteer for the program. They would be in active service 18 months less than draftees. The regular draft would continue.

Burgess called draft authority a "major part" of the Pentagon program to build the present active reserve force of about 700,000 men to over two million by 1959.

Chairman Brooks (D-La) said the subcommittee probably will approve a final version of the bill early next week.

Mississippi To Hand Out School Money This Week

JACKSON, Miss., March 26 (AP)—The Mississippi Legislature hands out school money next week after working 11 weeks to get it.

In one week, the Legislature probably will appropriate 21 million dollars for school operation and another three million for buildings.

The money will provide schools until June 30, 1956, and a start on school construction, heart of the plan to equalize Negro and white schools.

The log-jam preventing the Legislature from ending its work-burst Friday when the Senate voted 27-12 to approve a compromise surtax. It boosts eight separate taxes 14 per cent.

The temporary surtax will bring in $3,700,000 in "new money" until June 30, 1956, end of the two-year financial period. It dies automatically on that date.

The Senate set April 7 as the date to end the special session which begins its 12th week Monday. The House of Representatives is expected to agree. It had refused to accept the same date until the Senate approved the surtax.

Lawmakers probably will go home next Friday, April 1. The remaining time will be for Gov. Hugh White to sign bills, and House and Senate clerks to finish their work.

The House Appropriations Committee headed by Rep. John Junkin of Adams County will grind out the appropriation bills next week. Committee members already have been working on them.

Mississippi already has 16 million for schools next year, left over from the 1954 Legislature. The additional 24 million will finance the qualization program at 100 cents on the dollar, except for school buildings.

Construction of new buildings will wait until Jan. 1, 1956.

One final thorny issue faces the Legislature — aid to cities.

The Senate will consider the problem next week. The House already has approved 1½ million yearly aid to municipalities.

The House bill would take $548,000 each year from the gasoline tax money which goes to counties. Another million would come from gasoline tax money going to the State Highway Department.

Cotton Senators To Make Second Try For Acreage

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — Cotton states senators are going to make another effort to get a cotton acreage increase bill through the Senate with what Sen. Johnston (D-SC) termed today "a new and reasonable formula."

That bill would have increased acreages in each cotton-growing state by 1½ per cent. But it included an amendment, by Sen. Case (R-SD), to increase wheat acreage by the same amount. The bill would have increased cotton acreage by 272,000 acres.

Originally, the Senate considered a bill approved by its Agriculture Committee, which would have provided small growers a minimum of four acres of cotton, wherever they lived. Since most of them live in the southeast, senators from western cotton-growing states objected. This brought on the bill to grant a 1½ per cent increase for all cotton-growing states.

After the bill's defeat, Chairman Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said he saw no remaining hopes for new legislation this year.

In a statement today, however, Sen. Johnston said a new formula has been worked out in the last day or so. He did not outline it.

LeBlanc Opposes U. S. Control Of Gas Production

BATON ROUGE, March 26 (AP) — Attorney General Fred LeBlanc said today replacing state control of natural gas with federal regulation would tend to stifle free competition and might discourage . . . development and production.

LeBlanc said, in a prepared statement, that the Federal Power Commission "does not want the authority" to regulate "production gathering, processing or sale of natural gas before its entry into an interstate transmission line."

He added prior to a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision such regulation "was never previously construed as coming within the commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution."

He said he had two members of his staff in Washington studying proposed legislation designed to offset the high court ruling.

"The Louisiana Legislature has enacted sound laws to provide for the effective conservation of oil and gas," LeBlanc said. "Price fixing at Washington could largely defeat the objectives of reasonable development and permissive production. Economic waste is quite as harmful as physical waste from the standpoint of oil and gas conservation.

LeBlanc said the demand for federal control came mostly "from cities in the mid-west. Their officers think that such control would lower consumer rates. They do not seem to realize, that the end result of federal price fixing would increase, in all probability, the consumer's bill. . ."

A BEAUTY TIP FOR BRIDE'S HANDS

A few days before the wedding concentrate on proper washing of your hands. Use the surgeon's scrub for thorough cleansing. Build up a good rich lather and brush it downward over forearms, wrists and hands. Rinse thoroughly. Dry hands and arms so that not a drop of moisture remains, especially between the fingers and around knuckles.

Seven-Year-Old Regains Consciousness After Five Months, Asks For Santa

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — This is Christmas Day for blonde, blue-eyed, 7-year-old Gail Staley, who is gaily making up for her five months of unconsciousness.

Gail, who lost consciousness when an automobile struck her last October, awoke Tuesday night. She asked her mother, "Where is Santa Claus?"

Mrs. Clarence Staley told her little daughter that Santa would come today just for her. The little girl smiled—and talked. She asked about her missed school work, called her family's names and conversed with excited neighbors.

But she mostly talked about "Christmas."

The weatherman was most obliging, too. It snowed last night, Gail's Christmas Eve, and more snow was forecast for today.

To add to the Christmas spirit, Gail's parents yesterday decorated a tree, but its orilliance was no match for the little girl's eyes.

Also planned for Gail today is a special program of Christmas music by a church choir near her home.

Gail, who hadn't spoken for five months, was taken to Louisville during the Thanksgiving holiday for possible surgery. But doctors said they believed she would regain consciousness after a blood clot dissolved. They decided not to operate. Gail then was taken home.

"Everybody is being so good," Mrs. Staley said.

Choral Reading Demonstration Is Presented Here

Northeast State students of a speech class in activities for elementary teachers and a group in language arts Saturday observed a demonstration in choral reading presented by George A. Brian of the speech faculty and Mrs. Irene Terrall, teacher at Lenwill School of West Monroe.

Brian teaches the speech class and Miss Euna Lee Wallace offers the course in language arts.

Choral reading has been a neglected field until recently, according to Brian. "This type of expression is an excellent way for teachers to develop the shy child," he said. "It provides a medium whereby he loses the feeling of inferiority as he becomes a definite part of the group."

The three types of speaking which are used in choral reading, refrain, line-a-child, and two parts, were demonstrated by 10 fourth grade pupils of Mrs. Terrall and children from the following schools:

Ann Adams, Sherrouse; Zella Fay Brown, Calhoun; Anne Owens, Dee Dee Owens and Pamela Sims, all of Rayville; and Carol Crotwell, Plum Street School of Monroe.

Texas' Huge Bill On Appropriations Being Studied

AUSTIN (AP) — A joint Senate-House conference committee probably will be the next stop for the giant appropriations bill which passed the Senate yesterday after weathering a record-setting filibuster.

The measure, a Senate version of a bill passed earlier by the House, calls for state spending of 1½ billion dollars during the next two years.

The total is the largest in the history of Texas.

Unless the House accepts the Senate version, the measure must go into conference committee for the differences to be ironed out.

The original House bill called for considerable salary increases not included in the Senate-approved version. The Senate, however, gave a 2½ million dollar increase to the State Health Department while the House voted a $1,800,000 hike.

Senate approval of the bill came after a bitter floor fight over the size of certain appropriations, notably the allowance for operation of the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston.

TAXI TROUBLE

PARIS (AP) — After an interruption of 15 years, Paris has put back into operation the telephones along side Taxi stands, so that customers can call the cabs to their homes. Taxi drivers aren't enthusiastic. For one thing, they have to buy a key to the box. For another the customer often gets tired of waiting and finds another cab. Worst of all, a cab on its way to pick up a customer may be halted by a policeman for cruising empty with its flag down, which is against the law.

Frozen brussels sprouts are widely available and so nutritious that they can be used often to good advantage in family menus. Try serving them with browned butter and toasted almonds. Or team them with cream sauce and a topping of crisp crumbled bacon.

Hard Freeze

South Louisiana Truck Crops Face Total Destruction

HAMMOND, La March 26 —UP — Truck farmers today faced almost certain financial loss with the forecast of lows of 25 tonight in this "strawberry capitol of the world."

The Louisiana State University agriculture department said that the cold wave would "kill off strawberry crops for a month" because it would kill both the bloom and berry. However, the berry would come back in about 30 days.

The berry crop already has suffered about 25 per cent damage from heavy frost this week which wiped out beans, peppers and cucumbers.

An LSU spokesman said the predicted temperatures in the very low 20s in North Louisiana would "practically destroy this year's peach crop" which already is blooming.

The freeze was expected to kill all warm weather crops in truck gardens such as tomatoes, peppers and eggplants. All would have to be replanted.

The U. S. weather bureau at New Orleans said the forecast for the Hammond area tonight was for lows between 25 and 28.

Winds kept temperatures from dipping below freezing last night. Meanwhile, Dr. George F. Potter of the Agriculture department's research service office in Bogalusa said it might be weeks before an exact estimate can be made of damage to the tung crop near the Mississippi state line.

The late season frost this week apparently injured vessels which carry water through the stem to the fruit, Potter said. It was the first time such injury had occurred and Potter indicated that tung growers may simply have to wait and see whether the fruits develop or not.

The freeze came later in the season than any previous cold spell since the research office was set up in 1938.

Potter said research so far has indicated the fruits could live through temperatures of 29 degrees but he said the unseasonably warm weather in early March might have made the fruit more susceptible to cold.

He inspected orchards at Money Hill and the Bogalusa Tung Oil Co. plantation at Bush. He said damage was light, about 10 to 15 per cent. Temperatures had dropped to 30 degrees at Money Hill and to 28 in other areas of Washington parish and Mississippi.

Genealogical And Historical Society To Meet In Rapides

INDEPENDENCE, La., March 26 (AP) —The Louisiana Genealogical and Historical Society will meet next Saturday at the Rapides Parish courthouse in Alexandria.

President Nicholas R. Murray said the society chartered in 1953, would be meeting for the first time outside Baton Rouge. It normally meets four times a year. He said meetings are planned in Shreveport and other cities over the state.

Flour used in cake - making should always be measured carefully. Sift the flour onto a piece of waxed paper, then spoon lightly into the measuring cup and level off with a spatula.

Armed Services Subcommittee In Study Of Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Armed Services subcommittee is still undecided whether to give the Pentagon authority to use the draft, if necessary, to help build up the military reserves.

Failing to reach a vote yesterday, the subcommittee put off until next week a final decision on the Defense Department's second request for power to induct men 19-26 years for six months' training. These trainees would be obligated to 7½ years' reserve duty.

Carter L. Burgess, assistant secretary of defense, said draft authority would be used only as a "last resort," if there are fewer than 100,000 volunteers a year for this special corps.

The subcommittee already tentatively has approved a plan to allow up to 250,000 youths between 17 and 19 years to volunteer for the program. They would be in active service 18 months less than draftees. The regular draft would continue.

Burgess called draft authority a "major part" of the Pentagon program to build the present active reserve force of about 700,000 men to over two million by 1959.

Chairman Brooks (D-La) said the subcommittee probably will approve a final version of the bill early next week.

Union And Bell Remain In Deadlock

ATLANTA, March 26 (AP)—The Communications Workers of America today asked the public for ideas on how to settle its 13-day-old strike against Southern Bell Telephone Co.

The company tussled by saying it is "doing everything within reason to bring about a prompt settlement" of the strike in the nine-state area.

Several more cable-cutting incidents were reported today but the company said breaks in its lines are being repaired as fast as the trouble is located.

The total of reported cable cuttings in Atlanta since the strike began rose to 91 with three new reports today. The company said its Atlanta-Charlotte cable was cut Friday night for the second time within 24 hours but service was maintained by rerouting. It said the Atlanta-Charlotte circuits have been shifted to an undisclosed route.

Another incident was reported at St. Augustine, Fla., where a long distance cable carrying 19 circuits was hacked. The cable connected St. Augustine with Jacksonville and Palatka, Fla., and also carried a radio wire and a railroad line circuit.

The CWA statement by W. A. Smallwood, director of district 3, said "the union will take constructive ideas which are submitted by any member of the public into the negotiations and attempt to resolve the deadlock which exists on the question of an enforceable contract."

Smallwood said negotiations have continued on the "strike action by approximately 40,000 telephone workers" who belong to CWA. He said the union has about that many members among the approximately 50,000 company employes who are eligible for union membership.

Smallwood said the union wanted to "set the record straight" on its stand toward a no-strike clause in any new contract.

He said the union has publicly stated its willingness "to include an appropriate no-strike pledge in our contract . . . provided only that our pledge is balanced out by some method such as arbitration, which would allow the union to effectively challenge decisions of the company in regard to matters in the contract . . ."

The company reply said in part:

"There is no real issue except unwillingness of union leaders to face up to their responsibility of accepting contractual provisions which will keep the people on the job and provide the public with continuous service. Any attempts to blow up other items into fundamental disagreements merely are endeavors to cloud the issue and do not contribute to the prompt settlement of the matter."

The company said more of its employes are returning to work.

Negotiations between union and managements are in recess. Mediators called the recess yesterday after a number of meetings failed to produce significant results. Both sides are subject to recall.

Right-To-Work Bill Passes Test In Circuit Court

BATON ROUGE, March 26 (AP)—Louisiana's right to work bill, which bounds compulsory union membership and places other restrictions on union activity, won its test in the first circuit Court of Appeals.

The appeals court yesterday upheld the ruling of district Judge Minos Miller Jr. of Jennings when he forbid picketing of a highway construction job of the Hanson Co., Pineville, by the International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL, Lake Charles local No. 406.

This was the first ruling by an appeals court on the law passed by the 1954 Legislature.

Judge Miller restrained the union from picketing the contractors job on state route 105 south of Welsh, claiming it violated the right to work law's provision against any picketing in an attempt to force an employer to hire only union workers.

The union charged Hanson paid sub-standard wages, forcing union workers out of their jobs.

The unanimous decision by the court, delivered by Judge Robert Ellis, upheld every phase of the law, including a section permitting labor unions as well as their individual members to be sued.

The French premier told the Senate the government must take a firm position against any attempt to amend the complex treaty "package" rearming Germany and bringing it within the framework of the Western European Alliance (WEU) and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

"The question of ratifying a treaty is not an ordinary matter of law. You cannot amend a treaty. No foreign parliament ever has done so. If you vote amendments, the text will have to go back to the assembly and then start running back and forth (between other governments concerned)," he said.

Faure presented his foreign policy "charter" to the French Senate as a prelude to the climactic series of votes which will at last end five years of French hesitations and doubts on German rearmament.

The premier's statement to the Senate had been approved line-by-line by his cabinet before he spoke Saturday night.

Apartment House

This luckily was of minor nature — in the air-conditioning unit — and the firemen returned quickly to their stations.

A report was circulated that Mrs. Leggett was stricken with a heart attack at the fire but was untrue. A Mulhearn Funeral ambulance had received a call to convey a sick woman to the hospital from the 1800 block of Jackson, at the same time the fire was going on. There was no connection.

Mrs. Leggett identified the occupants of the apartment house who were there at the time as Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dean, Billy and Bobby Mathews, 17 and 15, whose mother was a ward of the juvenile court, and Mr. and Mrs. Atwell and their child. Another couple were out of town, she said.

Mrs. Leggett lived alone on the top floor of the building, and those were her downstairs neighbors.

40 Injured

release those arrested after the city quiets down.

Among those taken into custody were four deputies from the Social Christian (Catholic) party. Police said they would also be released in a few hours.

One Social Christian senator, former Minister of Justice Ludovic Meyer-oen, was thrown to the ground by spray from a water hose but was not injured.

The Catholics defied a government ban against the demonstration. Thousands slipped through a triple police cordon around this metropolis of 800,000 and surged toward the city's center.

Late today Theo Lefevre, president of the Social Christian party, called the demonstration a complete success. He gave orders to disperse quietly and go home, but many stayed on to participate in scattered clashes with police.

He estimated the demonstrators to number 100,000. Police estimates ran from 50,000 to 60,000.

Lefevre called it a "demonstration of peasants, workers, and people from all classes. Police were fair except the mounted troopers who showed undue brutality in charging the crowd with their swinging sabers."

A different view was expressed by Pierre Vermeylen, Socialist minister of the interior responsible for police measures, which included bringing in 8,000 crack state police to reinforce the city police.

"I find that in spite of its precise orders the Social Christian party has been incapable of organizing a demonstration in Brussels," Vermeylen said. "I wish to render special homage to the police and state police who acted with firmness and remarkable tact."

Of Belgium's 1,646,000 school children, 934,000 attend church schools. Some estimates put the slash planned in subsidies as high as 250 million francs—five million dollars. Last year the government granted subsidies of about 170 million dollars to state schools. Private schools were given about 92 million dollars.

Asked what would happen next, Lefevre said:

"It is too early to speak of our next step. Our struggle against the government school policy will be continued until this bad policy is abandoned."

Smudge Pots Burn To Save Canteloupes

LAREDO, Tex. (UP) Vegetable growers in the Laredo area lighted smudge pots and were burning oil Thursday night in their fields. Saturday night in hopes to save a $500,000 canteloupe crop from freeze.

The Laredo Air Force Base cooperated with the growers by putting several thousand gallons of jet fuel on sale this afternoon. Growers were burning them to night.

Massive Snow

18 and Birmingham, Ala., 27.

The South braced for the second crop-killing cold wave to hit the area this spring.

In Meriwether County, Ga., the heart of the state's peach-growing section, County Agent R. C. Buchanan said the cold will finish off the county's peach crop.

The peach crops in Oklahoma, northern Texas and southern Illinois were destroyed or heavily damaged by freezing weather earlier in the week.

Major crops in peril, besides the Georgia peaches, are the big peach-growing section of Alabama, possibly Alabama's big potato crop on the Gulf Coast, and north Florida truck farms.

Thirteen motor vehicles were damaged in a blinding snowstorm at Washington Court House, Ohio, in a chain-reaction smashup on a curve. One person was hurt seriously and four others were hospitalized.

Northwestern Ohio had more than 6 inches of snow by early afternoon with 2 to 3 more inches expected. Cleveland had one of the state's heaviest falls.

La Porte, Ind., had from 12 to 14 inches of snow. Drifts several feet high virtually paralyzed the business district of the city of 20,500 population. Some secondary roads in the state were blocked.

All north-south roads in the northern half of Indiana were blocked with snow except U.S. 31 and 421. Some 200 cars were stranded in southwest Marion County near Indianapolis. State police discouraged all unnecessary travel.

The Hoosier Relays, called the biggest high school indoor track meet in the nation and scheduled for the Indiana University fieldhouse at Bloomington, was postponed for a week, the first time in history.

3 Persons Hurt In Auto Crash At Intersection

Three persons were injured, none critically, at about 4 p.m. yesterday in an automobile accident at the intersection of Texas and South Eighth streets.

Receiving treatment at the Bendel and Wright Clinic for a fracture of the pelvis was Mrs. R. E. Bynum, 808 South 8th street. The attending physician said her condition was not critical.

Also admitted to the same clinic were Mrs. Lillie Montgomery, 812 Jonesboro road, who suffered a laceration of the forehead, and Mrs. J. C. Norrell, Louis Lock Homes, who received a contusion of the right hip.

A 1949 two-door automobile driven by Mrs. Norrell ran a stop sign while going south on South 8th, and was struck by a 1955 four-door car operated by Robert E. Whipple, Bastrop, who was traveling east on Texas, according to records of the Monroe city police.

Damage to the cars was estimated at approximately $100 each.

"In this connection it must be pointed out that the Soviet government has already proposed to hold a great power conference in the near future at which the question of an Austrian peace (independence) treaty could be settled."

Martin Says Ike Would Favor Lower Brackets In Any Major Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, March 26—UP—House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. said Saturday that if President Eisenhower is able to recommend an income tax cut year "low income groups" will benefit the most.

The GOP leader said Mr. Eisenhower will not propose a cut unless the budget is balanced or "brought close" to balance. Mr. Eisenhower previously has stated that as his position.

The administration apparently is counting on a balanced budget in the 12 months starting July 1, 1956, barring "untoward" international incidents.

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey reported this week that there is a "very good opportunity" to achieve the administration's first balanced budget.

In holding out hope for cuts for low income groups, Martin said in an interview that he did not see how the Democrats could develop a tax issue that would give them "political advantage" in the 1956 election campaign.

The Massachusetts Republican spoke out in the wake of the collapse of the fight by House Democrats to cut everybody's income taxes next Jan. 1. The House-approved plan, which would have reduced taxes next year $20 for each taxpayer and an additional $20 for each dependent, was killed Friday in a Senate-House conference committee.

The Senate then promptly passed the administration measure to continue corporation and excise (sales) taxes at current rates for another year.

In giving up the fight, Democrats expressed confidence they could make taxes a major political issue next year. They contend the Republican administration favors a "trickle down" tax policy in contrast to the democratic policy of helping low income groups.

However, Martin voiced confidence that any tax reduction recommended by the administration next year would demolish that argument.

"Low income groups would naturally be the chief beneficiaries of any administration proposal," he said. "The Democrats would join in the same request. Our purpose would be identical. So I don't think anybody is going to get any political advantage."

On the other hand, Martin said, if a budget deficit doesn't permit a tax reduction next year, the Democrats would be labelled "irresponsible" by the voters if they launched a tax-cutting drive over administration opposition.

Union And Bell Remain In Deadlock

ATLANTA, March 26 (AP) —The Communications Workers of America today asked the public for ideas on how to settle its 13-day-old strike against Southern Bell Telephone Co.

The company answered by saying it is "doing everything within reason to bring about a prompt settlement" of the strike in the nine-state area.

Several more cable-cutting incidents were reported today but the company said breaks in its lines are being repaired as fast as the trouble is located.

The total of reported cable cuttings in Atlanta since the strike began rose to 91 with three new reports today. The company said its Atlanta-Charlotte cable was cut Friday night for the second time within 24 hours but service was maintained by rerouting. It said the Atlanta-Charlotte circuits have been shifted to an undisclosed route.

Another incident was reported at St. Augustine, Fla., where a long distance cable carrying 19 circuits was hacked. The cable connected St. Augustine with Jacksonville and Palatka, Fla., and also carried a radio wire and a railroad line circuit.

The CWA statement by W. A. Smallwood, director of district 3, said "the union will take constructive ideas which are submitted by any member of the public into the negotiations and attempt to resolve the deadlock which exists on the question of an enforceable contract."

Smallwood said negotiations have continued on the "strike action by approximately 40,000 telephone workers' who belong to CWA. He said the union has about that many members among the approximately 50,000 company employes who are eligible for union membership.

Smallwood said the union wanted to "set the record straight" on its view toward a no-strike clause in any new contract.

He said the union has publicly stated its willingness "to include an appropriate no-strike pledge in our contract — provided only that our pledge is balanced out by some method such as arbitration, which would allow the union to effectively challenge decisions of the company in regard to matters in the contract . . ."

The company reply said in part: "There is no real issue except unwillingness of union leaders to face up to their responsibility of accepting contractual provisions which will keep the people on the job and provide the public with continuous service. Any attempts to blow up other items into fundamental disagreements merely are endeavors to cloud the issue and do not contribute to the prompt settlement of the matter."

The company said more of its employes are returning to work.

Negotiations between union and managements are in recess. Mediators called the recess yesterday after a number of meetings failed to produce significant results. Both sides are subject to recall.

Right-To-Work Bill Passes Test In Circuit Court

BATON ROUGE, March 26 (AP) — Louisiana's right to work bill, which forbids compulsory union membership and places other restrictions on union activity, won its test in the first circuit Court of Appeals.

The appeals court yesterday upheld the ruling of district Judge Minos Miller Jr. of Jennings when he forbid picketing of a highway construction job of the Hanson Co., Pineville, by the International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL, Lake Charles local No. 406.

This was the first ruling by an appeals court on the law passed by the 1954 Legislature.

Judge Miller restrained the union from picketing the contractors job on state route 105 south of Welsh, claiming it violated the right to work law's provision against any picketing in an attempt to force an employer to hire only union workers.

The union charged Hanson paid sub-standard wages, forcing union workers out of their jobs.

The unanimous decision by the court, delivered by Judge Robert Ellis, upheld every phase of the law, including a section permitting labor unions as well as their individual members to be sued.

The French premier told the Senate the government must take a firm position against any attempt to amend the complex treaty "package" rearming Germany and bringing it within the framework of the Western European Alliance (WEU) and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

"The question of ratifying a treaty is not an ordinary matter of law. You cannot amend a treaty. No foreign parliament ever has done so. If you vote amendments, the text will have to go back to the assembly and then start running back and forth (between other governments concerned)," he said.

Faure presented his foreign policy "charter" to the French Senate as a prelude to the climactic series of votes which will at last end five years of French hesitations and doubts on German rearmament.

The premier's statement to the Senate had been approved line-by-line by his cabinet before he spoke Saturday night.

This luckily was of minor nature — in the air-conditioning unit — and the firemen returned quickly to their stations.

A report was circulated that Mrs. Leggett was stricken with a heart attack at the fire but was untrue. A Mulhearn Funeral ambulance had received a call to convey a sick woman to the hospital from the 1800 block of Jackson, at the same time the fire was going on. There was no connection.

Mrs. Leggett identified the occupants of the apartment house who were there at the time as Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dear; Billy and Bobby Mathene, 12 and 15, whose mother was at work at the time; and Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and their child. Another couple were out of town, she said.

Mrs. Leggett lived alone on the top floor of the building, and there were four downstairs apartments. She said there were 22 rooms and five bathrooms in the building.

release those arrested after the city quiets down.

Among those taken into custody were four deputies from the Social Christian (Catholic) party. Police said they would also be released in a few hours.

One Social Christian senator, former Minister of Justice Ludovic Meyersoen, was thrown to the ground by spray from a water hose but was not injured.

The Catholics defied a government ban against the demonstration. Thousands slipped through a triple police cordon around this metropolis of 800,000 and surged toward the city's center.

Late today Theo Lefevre, president of the Social Christian party, called the demonstration a complete success. He gave orders to disperse quietly and go home, but many stayed on to participate in scattered clashes with police.

He estimated the demonstrators to number 100,000. Police estimates ran from 50,000 to 60,000.

Lefevre called it a "demonstration of peasants, workers, and people from all classes. Police were fair except the mounted troopers who showed undue brutality in charging the crowd with their swinging sabers."

A different view was expressed by Pierre Vermeylen, Socialist minister of the interior responsible for police measures, which included bringing in 8,000 crack state police to reinforce the city police.

"I find that in spite of its precise orders the Social Christian party has been incapable of organizing a demonstration in Brussels," Vermeylen said. "I wish to render special homage to the police and state police who acted with firmness and remarkable tact."

Of Belgium's 1,646,000 school children, 934,000 attend church schools. Some estimates put the slash planned in subsidies as high as 250 million francs—five million dollars. Last year the government granted subsidies of about 170 million dollars to state schools. Private schools were given about 92 million dollars.

Asked what would happen next, Lefevre said:

"It is too early to speak of our next step. Our struggle against the government school policy will be continued until this bad policy is abandoned."

The Coast Guard and Air Rescue Service of the Air Force were notified immediately. The latter had planes over the stricken Stratocruiser within an hour.

Coast Guard planes were dispatched from Port Angeles, Wash., and San Francisco. Surface craft headed for the scene from Coast Guard stations along the Oregon coast. The scene was off Cape Arago on the southern Oregon shore.

Eleven women were among those aboard. They include the stewardess, Elizabeth Thompson, and Purser Natalie Parker, both of Seattle.

The sea was choppy, but not exceedingly rough, the observing planes reported.

The big luxury plane was ditched without breaking up, although its damaged engine was burning.

The crew included two copilots, two flights engineers, a purser, steward and stewardess.

The passengers included Claude Hollister, 53, and his wife, Florence, 52, who were on their way to Jakarta, Idonesia. He is to become aviation advisor to the government there. Hollister was with Pan-American World Airways in New York but was on loan to the Indonesian government.

Smudge Pots Burn To Save Canteloupes

LAREDO, Tex. —UP—Vegetable growers in the Laredo area lighted smudge pots and were burning old tires and oil in their fields Saturday night, hoping to save a $750,000 cantaloupe crop from freezing.

The Laredo Air Force Base cooperated with the growers by putting several thousand salvage aircraft tires on sale this afternoon. Growers were burning them tonight.

The Laredo district has 2,000 acres of cantaloupes and the crop has been blooming during the past week.

Some heavy growers of onions weren't doing anything to protect that crop, believing the cold weather would do little damage.

18 and Birmingham, Ala., 27.

The South braced for the second crop-killing cold wave to hit the area this spring.

In Meriwether County, Ga., the heart of the state's peach-growing section, County Agent R. C. Buchanan said the cold will finish off the county's peach crop.

The peach crops in Oklahoma, northern Texas and southern Illinois were destroyed or heavily damaged by freezing weather earlier in the week.

Major crops in peril, besides the Georgia peaches, are the big peach-growing section of Alabama, possibly Alabama's big potato crop on the Gulf Coast, and north Florida truck farms.

Thirteen motor vehicles were damaged in a blinding snowstorm at Washington Court House, Ohio, in a chain-reaction smashup on a curve. One person was hurt seriously and four others were hospitalized.

Northwestern Ohio had more than 6 inches of snow by early afternoon with 2 to 3 more inches expected. Cleveland had one of the state's heaviest falls.

La Porte, Ind., had from 12 to 14 inches of snow. Drifts several feet high virtually paralyzed the business district of the city of 20,500 population. Some secondary roads in the state were blocked.

All north-south roads in the northern half of Indiana were blocked with snow except U.S. 31 and 421. Some 200 cars were stranded in southwest Marion County near Indianapolis. State police discouraged all unnecessary travel.

The Hoosier Relays, called the biggest high school indoor track meet in the nation and scheduled for the Indiana University fieldhouse at Bloomington, was postponed for a week, the first time in history.

The storm dead, most of them in traffic accidents on ice-slicked roads, include:

Indiana, 8; Illinois, 3; Missouri, 1, Ohio, 1.

Somewhat warmer weather was forecast for the Great Plains and west. It gave promise of a breakup of the cold weather pattern that has prevailed generally since the first day of spring.

Midday temperatures were at or below freezing from the Canadian border southward to northern Texas, southern Arkansas and northern Alabama.

Brownsville, Tex., had a 42 reading—down 40 degrees from the same time Friday.

Other midday temperatures included New Orleans, 43; Atlanta, 37; Miami, 84; Cape Hatteras, N.C., 67; Phoenix, Ariz., 77; Thermal, Calif., 86; Seattle, 47; San Francisco, 66; Los Angeles, 68; Chicago, 23; Duluth, Minn., 22; Bismarck, N.D., 24; New York, 38 and Boston, 37.

He said he thought Western observers were inclined to overrate the Red Chinese military. While they have a large ground force they lack the structure—presumably industrial—to support a great military machine, he asserted.

Sen. George said today some credence was being given in government circles here to the possibility that following the Afro-Asian conference in Indonesia next month, the Chinese Reds might engage in "some step-up toward an actual attack on the offshore islands."

Whether this would involve the United States in fighting he said he was not prepared to say.

LET ME INTRODUCE TO YOU . . .

Mr. Herschel Haneline,

our latest addition to Monroe's business circles, who came here highly recommended to me and I take pleasure in recommending him for your consideration.

Mr. Haneline will hereafter own and operate the men's wear store formerly operated by me, while I shall retain and will devote my entire time to the custom tailoring department in the same location as I have had for the past 29 years.

I thank you for your patronage of the past and I shall appreciate if you will hereafter favor my successor.

As heretofore, well known, nationally advertised brands of men's accessories, shoes and hats will be featured. I have retained my location and I shall be glad to see you.

Let us make Mr. Haneline welcome in his new home since beyond doubt he will, in due time, prove to be a valuable citizen. Watch for his opening April 1st & 2nd . . .

For the smartest in custom tailored clothes, in the future as in the past, call on . . .

Despite Taxes, Credit Worries

Business Maintains Fast Clip; Stocks Climb

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP) — Business held to a fast pace this week, despite uncertainties over taxes and credit.

The outlook for tax relief for business was clouded by the action of the House, which knocked out two provisions of the 1954 income tax law. They had given very generous "breaks" to corporations.

The governmenst' policy of guaranteeing easy-term mortgages came in for renewed attention. A top federal home loan official said mortgage interest rates are tightening up.

The stock market bounded ahead as the Fulbright Committee rang down the curtain on the first—and possibly final—act of its "friendly study" of stock prices.

Record production of automobiles set the tone for a high level of business activity all along the line.

Steel operations—scheduled at 92.8 per cent of capacity—were close to the highest level in two years.

Crude oil output set an all-time record; check clearings in major cities and business loans by leading New York banks moved higher. Heavy construction contract awards were the highest for any week in 15 months, with total volume for 1955 to date a whopping 63 per cent above a year ago.

Latest available figures showed department store sales outstripping the like 1954 week by 14 per cent.

There were other favorable indicators:

Seidman & Seidman of Grand Rapids, Mich., accountants for the furniture industry, said new orders received by furniture factories in February were a good 16 per cent ahead of February last year.

The Department of Agriculture reported a 15 per cent rise in exports of U.S. farm products for the eight months ended Feb. 28.

Two of the nation's largest railroads, the Pennsylvania and the New York Central, reported sizable profits for the first two months this year. Last year at this time both were losing money.

Of interest to stockholders was a commerce department report showing an upward trend in corportate dividend payments. Publicly reporting corporations shelled out 261 million dollars in dividends last month, an increase of 17 millions over February 1954. There was a particularly sharp rise in dividends paid by utility and finance companies.

What are the main props of the spring business upturn? The Commerce Department listed several in its latest business survey: "Expanding" consumer demand for services and goods, booming construction, the rebuilding of business inventories.

Retailers mentioned still another prop: Credit.

T. V. Houser, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said American consumers have reversed their habits of a year ago when much of their buying was done for cash. Today, he said, they're buying on-the-cuff. This swing toward credit purchases, Houser said, is chiefly responsible for the big increase in business the company has had this year. First-half sales are expected to stop year-ago volume by 12 per cent, he added.

J. Gordon Dakins, executive vice president of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn., forecast an increase of one billion dollars in outstanding consumer credit this year. He said increased charge and instalment buying may lift total 1955 retail sales 4 per cent to an all-time high of 175 billions.

Auto retailers have sold nearly 1,800,000 new cars this year. Although dealer inventories are rising manufacturers seem confident that eager buyers will be found for the unprecedented flood of vehicles that will come off assembly lines in the next three months. George W. Troost, vice president of Chrysler Corp., declared: "We at Chrysler, in common with others who attempt to appraise the market for this year, have been lifting our sights in recent weeks. It seems that everyone underestimated the amount of stimulation that would result from the introduction of new models."

Detroit sources point out that some of that stimulation has undoubtedly resulted from fears of a possible shutdown. The big CIO United Auto Workers Union has threatened to strike, if necessary, for a guaranteed annual wage. If it comes, a strike could leave some dealers with few or no cars to sell during the summer season.

New car retailers hope they'll do better profit-wise than in 1954 when, according to the National Automobile Dealers Assn., earnings were the lowest in 15 years and 38 per cent of the nation's dealers lost money.

FULL SUPPORT—"Tom," a none too industrious striker, takes time out from his picketing to catch a cat-nap in yards of the Louisville and Nashville railroad in Memphis. Born and raised in the yards, Tom feels it's his duty to back up railroad's 25,000 non-operating employes who are out on strike. Five operating railroad unions have pledged "full support" to their members in refusing to run trains of the railroad.

U. S. Offer To Cut Army By Two Million Rejected By Russia At Arms Talks

LONDON, March 26—UP—British Minister of State Anthony Nutting disclosed Saturday that the United States offered to cut its armed forces by 2 million men in a disarmament plan Russia has rejected.

Under the same plan France would have trimmed 300,000 men from its armed forces and Britain would have reduced its armed forces by 250,000 men.

Russia balked, Nutting said, because the West's disarmament proposal—submitted to the disarmament conference now in session here—would have asked Russia and Red China to cut their armed forces to between 1 million and 1.5 million men each. That is the same figure proposed for the United States.

Russia countered with what the United States has described as "a pig in a poke" plan for a one-third cut of all forces across the board. But Russia has refused to say what her present armed strength is.

France made such an educated guess Friday and said the Russian plan probably would leave the Soviets upward of 3.5 million men — after "disarmament." That would be twice as many as any single Western power would have and slightly more than the combined forces of the Western Big Three.

Nutting said the West, laying down specific figures for the first time in disarmament talks, proposed the following armed forces ceilings for the major powers:

United States, 1 million to 1.5 million men; Russia, 1 million to 1.5 million; Red China 1 million to 1.5 million, Britain 650,000 and France 650,000.

City Delegation To Attend Confab In New Orleans

Two executives of People's Homestead and Savings Association of Monroe, left yesterday for New Orleans where they will attend the annual meeting of the Southwestern Savings and Loan Conference, to be held in the Roosevelt Hotel. They are O. A. Easterling, President and Herbert Milford, assistant secretary. They were accompanied by Mrs. Milford.

Officials from savings and loan associations in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico, Texas, Mississippi and Louisiana are expected to attend.

The conference is headed by Kenneth P. Brasted of Wichita, Kansas. Bert Scott of Jackson, Miss. is first vice-president; Mrs. Gladys Forsyth of Lincoln, Neb., second vice-president; and Lloyd S. Bowles of Dallas, secretary-treasurer.

A series of panel discussions and round table meetings will be held.

Speakers scheduled are Walter McAllster, Sr., chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank board; Norman Mason, FHA commissioner; Dr. Arthur A. Smith, economist; James C. Downs, Jr., president of the Real Estate Research Corporation of Chicago; T. J. Sweeney, assistant deputy administrator for Loan Guaranty, Veterans Administration; Hal Braman, executive manager of the National Savings and Loan League and Merle Smith, vice-president of the United States Savings and Loan League.

In addition to the regular business sessions, several social activities have been scheduled, including tours through the French Quarter, lunch at the Court of Two Sisters, boat ride, and movies of the Carnival Balls.

The meeting will be closed with a banquet at the Roosevelt Hotel March 30.

Six Groups Of Broilers Tops At Parish Showing

Six pens — of six broilers each — were placed in the blue ribbon group Saturday morning in the Ouachita Parish Chicken-of-Tomorrow show held at the West Monroe Agricultural Building under the sponsorship of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

The plump eight-week old broiler entries were of such high quality generally that judges Ralph Germany and M. J. Richardson, Jr., of the Louisiana Department of Agriculture's Market Commission, Baton Rouge, had to deliberate longer than usual in arriving at their decisions.

Germany described the chickens which were raised as Ouachita parish 4-H Club projects as "very good." He said that only one of the 13 pens of birds was underweight. Average weight for the broilers was about one-half pounds apiece. Some weighed in excess of four pounds, however.

Four-H Club members displaying blue ribbons birds which will be in competition at the Alexandria State Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest Wednesday were Ronnie Griggs, Billy Lobrano, Jimmy Gewin, Jeanette Holdeman, Mary Luttrell and Donnie Holderman. Each received four-dollars in cash from the Chamber of Commerce, with awards being presented by the group's agricultural committee chairman, B. P. Graham.

Receiving three-dollars apiece for red ribbon entries were Ann Beard, Gay Beard, Wayne Shipp, Beverly, Ramsey, Lucille Browder and Benny Gewin. Laron Owens received one-dollar for his white ribbon pen.

After awards were announced, the judges pointed out how they had arrived at their decisions and made feeding recommendations for the birds which will be taken to Alexandria.

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, associate home demonstration agent in charge of 4-H Club work, who with W. B. Aycock, Jr., associate county agent, directed the show, advised blue ribbon exhibitors to take their birds home immediately and start "pushing" the feed to them to add weight and plumpness in preparation for the state show.

Aycock will take the birds to Alexandria, Wednesday and the youthful exhibitors will make an appearance at the show on Friday where they will be guests at an awards banquet sponsored by the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce.

Preparations had been made late Friday to stage the parish poultry show on the front porch of the Agricultural Building but chilly temperatures which moved into town overnight forced a change in plans. The pens were moved into the building's auditorium Saturday morning, and the show got under way on schedule.

An unexpected visitor at the show was J. J. Joyce, Jr., county agent who has been on sick leave since December 15 when he was stricken with a heart condition. He reported that his physician said he would be able to drive his car in about two or three weeks, but will not be permitted to return to work for several months. The agent suggested, after surveying the pens of broilers, that he could pass judgement on them better after exposing them to a frying pan.

Burglars Remove $285 From Vault At Neville High

City detectives and members of the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department yesterday were investigating the burglary of Neville High School and the theft of $285 from the vault there.

The theft was reported about 7:30 a.m. Saturday, by Paul Neal, principal, who went to the school and found his office door open. Investigation revealed that the door had been forced, and that the vault had been opened and not broken into. They expressed the belief that although the vault door had been closed it had not been locked.

Officers said papers and checks were strewn about the floor of the vault, and that a metal cash box had been broken open. Of the loot, officers said, only $85 was in currency. The remainder was in change.

It was the third Twin City safe burglary — the second in a school — in less than a week. Several hundred dollars, mostly in currency, was taken from the vault at Carroll High School Wednesday night, and $2,235 was taken from a safe at Hogan's Grocery, West Monroe last weekend.

At Carroll High School, as at Neville, officers said, the vault door apparently was closed but not locked. But in the grocery store burglary the safe was broken open by a person West Monroe police described as a "very professional" safecracker.

Chief of detectives Hugh Tobert, however, expressed doubt that the school burglaries were the work of a professional. "In fact," he said, "there is some doubt as to whether both were committed by the same persons."

50 Years of Customer Satisfaction

M. M. Gordon
Founder and Chairman of the Board

There have been many changes in America's way of life since my first day's business back in 1905. But there is one thing that has never changed at GORDON'S . . . and never will! That is our policy of complete Customer Satisfaction.

That a policy such as this builds confidence and goodwill is reflected in the continuous growth of GORDON'S. Today . . . after 50 years . . . we are gratified in the knowledge that we can count our friends and customers in the millions. Where it was only a humble store in 1905, there are today 27 GORDON'S Quality Jewelers stores in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi. In addition, our expansion program calls for five additional stores for the year 1955.

A company's growth such as this cannot be accomplished without the loyal efforts and support of its employees. To them, I want to pay tribute. Some of them have been associated with Gordon's for as long as 40 years...many of them 20, 10, and 5 years. And, as we continue to grow, my fondest wish is that they will grow with the company. Today, the employees of GORDON'S Quality Jewelers participate in the progress of their company. They enjoy the benefits of a modern Profit Sharing Plan, designed to provide participation in Company profits, a savings plan, and a retirement plan. In addition numerous other Company benefits are offered our employees.

As we enter our second half-century of business, I would like to pledge our untiring efforts to always bring you the finest quality and values in Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry, Silver and Household Appliances. Gordon's will always offer you these finer things for happier living on our famous Friendly Budget Plan. You can enjoy their beauty and usefulness while paying on terms that suit your budget requirements.

Thank you for making my first 50 years in business so happy. You can rest assured . . when you choose Gordon's as your jewelers . . you will always get the finest in Quality and Value. Everybody at GORDON'S joins with me in thanking our customers who have made our growth possible.

Winnie Voices Plans To Remain In Parliament

WOODFORD, Eng., March 26—UP—Prime Minister Winston Churchill Saturday told the voters he has represented in Parliament for more than 30 years that he hopes to continue to be their spokesman for some time to come.

Churchill's speech in his "home" district neither confirmed nor denied reports he plans to retire as prime minister within the next two weeks. He can continue in Parliament as long as Woodford elects him, whether as prime minister or merely as a rank-and-file member.

Apart from the passing reference to his hope of continued service, the prime minister's speech was devoted to general comments on political responsibility—with an occasional dig at the Laborite opposition thrown in.

Under British electoral law, a candidate for Parliament may run in any district, whether he lives there or not. Churchill chose Woodford in 1924, at the suggestion of Conservative Leader Sir James Hockey, and he has been a candidate here in every parliamentary election since.

The prime minister is sure enough of the loyalty of Woodford voters not to feel it necessary to campaign seriously in this town northeast of London, but he often makes speeches here on special occasions.

Churchill came to Woodford Saturday to speak at ceremonies dedicating a new civic hall named for Hockey, his original post in the district.

His last appearance here was during the week of his 80th birthday in November, when he received in a speech that he had considered using German troops if necessary to stem the tide of Russian conquest in Europe in 1945.

Boggs Says Solons Never Intended U. S. Gas Control

WASHINGTON —UP— Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.) says Congress never intended for the Federal Power Commission or any federal agency to fix the wholesale price of natural gas nor regulate the production and gathering of gas.

Boggs, a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, testified yesterday before the House interstate and foreign commerce committee. He urged Congress to pass a law that will be clear and "unequivocal in terms that can never be susceptible of misinterpretation that Congress does not want the gas business under a federal agency."

The United States Supreme Court last June directed the FPC in the Phillips case majority opinion to take jurisdiction of all wholesale sales of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale even though made before transmission in interstate commerce.

Legislation is pending before both the House and Senate interstate commerce committees to amend the 1938 natural gas act.

Louisiana ranks second among states in known gas reserves, and its reserves per square mile are greater than any place in the world.

Bulls Break Out In Arizona City

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 26—UP—Harried authorities Saturday rounded up the last of some 30 snorting Brahma bulls that broke out of a railroad pen and turned city streets into a rodeo arena Friday night.

Several persons were injured, one seriously, two vehicles were damaged, and fences, lawns, shrubs and gardens were torn up before police corralled the beasts.

Three of the bull were shot to death by officers. Police switchboards were flooded with complaints from angry citizens chased from the streets by the excited bulls.

Frances Rhodes, 15, an Indian girl, suffered serious head injuries and was under treatment at Phoenix Indian hospital. James Legg, 72, of Phoenix, suffered minor injuries when he hopped over a fence to avoid a charging bull.

Congressman Posts Poem On Squirrels

WASHINGTON, March 26—UP—Rep. Harris Ellsworth (R-Ore.) was moved to poetry Saturday by the controversy over White House squirrels.

He posted this verse on the House gallery bulletin board:

If I were a squirrel on the White House lawn
I'd pick up my tail and get gone
To some other place wherever it be
That a squirrel might have some privacy.

COLD PUSH—Canadian Custom House at Niagara-on-the-Lake near Fort Erie, Ont., has been pushed 30 feet from its original location by Niagara River ice jam described as worst in 46 years. Ice formed at mouth of river extends for nine-mile stretch and is 30 feet high in some spots.

Blaze Destroys Caddo Landmark

SHREVEPORT, La. March 26—UP—A three-story frame building known as Kennonwood, long a Caddo parish landmark, was destroyed by fire here today.

The building was known in the late 20's and 30's as the home of W. K. Henderson, pioneer radio broadcaster whose "Hello, world" was heard virtually around the world.

Its luxurious furnishings had deteriorated in recent years. Authorities said the fire may have been started by transients who sought shelter in the building.

The W. E. Hall firm, which owns an interest in the property, estimated the loss would be about $7,000.

Butler Hits GOP

SIOUX FALLS, S.D., March 26—UP—Democratic national chairman Paul Butler Saturday accused the Republican party of seeking to win the presidency in 1956 by "personality rather than principle."

Butler said the GOP had made an "admission of bankruptcy" when two leaders said the party could not win the presidency next time unless President Eisenhower is its candidate.

EISENHOWERS VISIT FARM

Federal District Court Considers Golf Course Suit

BATON ROUGE —UP— A federal district judge held yesterday that a suit by six Negroes seeking permission to play golf at the City Park course must be heard in full.

Attorneys for the Negroes had asked that district Judge Herbert Christenberry render a favorable verdict on the pleadings without hearing arguments.

The Negroes filed the suit after they were barred from playing on the city course in September of 1953. They contend the recreation and park commission, in refusing to allow them use of the course, is violating the federal Constitution.

Dist. Atty. J. St. Clair Favrot represented the commission at the hearing.

"There are controverted questions of material fact" in the case, Judge Christenberry decided. "This being so, the court finds that the matter cannot be decided on a motion for a jugment on the pleadings."

The judge gave no indication of when the case would come to trial.

Officers Check Murder Report

OKLAHOMA CITY March 26—UP—A taxicab driver's report of a possible bludgeon murder Saturday sent police looking for the body, the scene of the crime and a young sailor who said he committed the slaying.

Bill Gene Beamon, 25-year-old cab driver, told officers a young sailor with blood on his uniform and hands hailed him in the vicinity of Northwest 10th and Shartel and told him he had just killed a girl with a hammer.

Homicide Capt. Ted Baughman said Beamon let the sailor out near a downtown cafe. Investigation so far has failed to produce any signs of the missing sailor or a body, Baughman said.

Beamon said the sailor had been drinking but appeared calm and not out of breath. Authorities at the Norman, Okla., Naval base, 18 miles from Oklahoma City, were alerted for the sailor and officers continued to check rooming houses here.

Voroshilov Says Only 'Capitalists' Would Be Killed

MOSCOW, March 26—UP—Soviet Marshal Kliment Voroshilov said Saturday that it will be the capitalist system and not world civilization that will be destroyed in the event of another world war.

Voroshilov, who is president of the supreme Soviet of the USSR spoke at the final session of the Russian federation socialist republic supreme Soviet.

"We cannot be intimidated by claims that in the event of a new world war civilization will perish."

Voroshilov spoke in the presence of all top members of the Communist presidium with the exception of former Premier Georgi Malenkov and First Deputy Premier M. Z. Saburov.

Malenkov —it was recalled— made a speech before he resigned in which he predicted that civilization would perish if a third world war broke out.

CANCER CONTROL

WASHINGTON, March 26—UP—President Eisenhower Saturday proclaimed April as cancer control month. He invited governors to issue similar proclamations.

Mr. Eisenhower said cancer kills nearly 250,000 persons annually and means "the serious lowering of our national productivity."

JET FUEL SAID DELIVERED

TAIPEI, March 26—UP—The [illegible] Chinese News Agency said Saturday that a Polish freighter landed 8,000 tons of Rumanian jet fighter fuel in Red China Friday.

OUT ON ARRIVAL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 26—UP—The fire department Saturday listed, without comment, this cause for answering a call: "Child's lip caught in ironing board, out on arrival."

Mix cottage cheese (the creamed variety) with grated carrot and finely grated onion; serve on salad greens for a luncheon salad.

U. S. Continues To Fear Attack In Formosa Area

By RUTHERFORD POATS

TOKYO, March 26—UP—United States officials both here and in Washington are pessimistic about the chances for a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. They believed a Red attack on Chinese Nationalist offshore islands could come "almost any time" and that U. S. prestige in the Far East will be placed squarely on the spot.

Their grave views parallel those first reported by this correspondent in a United Press dispatch on March 9.

That dispatch said United States military leaders in the Far East believed that a major war in Asia might be only weeks away. A recanvass of those sources Saturday indicated no change in this view.

It was disclosed in Washington Friday that some high American military officials there now believe the Reds will attack Matsu Island at the top of the Formosa Strait around April 15.

But others refused to predict any date.

It is about April 15 when the "invasion season" opens—the period extending into August when the waters in the Formosa Strait are calm enough to see what will happen.

Many of them feel that war may come at any moment. All of them are watching to see whether they may safely count on the United States for help if the Communists attack them.

Any sign of American weakness might well cost the United States some of its prestige in free Asia.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said in a speech in New York Monday that the Chinese Reds are an "acute and imminent" threat to peace. He said the Red leaders seemed "dizzy with success," and were showing an "aggressive fanaticism" reminiscent of Hitler.

Diplomatic observers in Djakarta, Indonesia, predict that the Chinese Communists will not start any attack before May.

They point out that Red China is one of the 28 Asian and African countries due to attend a conference at Bandung, Indonesia, starting April 18.

"Chinese Premier Chou En-lai simply can not afford to come to the Africa-Asia conference with blood on his hands," an official in Djakarta said.

Young Girls Held For Wallet Thefts

BATON ROUGE —UP— Police said today they believe they have solved a year-long series of wallet "liftings" in downtown stores with the arrest of three suspects.

In police custody, Chief Shirley S. Arrighi said, are two 13-year-old girls and their 12-year-old playmate.

They confessed to lifting 18 wallets from the purses of women shoppers over the past year, Arrighi said.

According to Arrighi, the girls said they would wait in downtown stores for a woman to put her purse on the counter or let it dangle open from her arm.

Baked pears make a nice fruit change at breakfast time. serve them with light cream, if you like, and a sprinkle of cinnamon.

Winnie Voices Plans To Remain In Parliament

WOODFORD, Eng., March 26—UP—Prime Minister Winston Churchill Saturday told the voters he has represented in Parliament for more than 30 years that he hopes to continue to be their spokesman for some time to come.

Churchill's speech in his "home" district neither confirmed nor denied reports he plans to retire as prime minister within the next two weeks. He can continue in Parliament as long as Woodford elects him, whether as prime minister or merely as a rank-and-file member.

Apart from the passing reference to his hopes of continued service, the prime minister's speech was devoted to general comments on political responsibility, with an occasional dig at the Laborite opposition thrown in.

Under British electoral law, a candidate for Parliament may run in any district, whether he lives there or not. Churchill chose Woodford in 1924, at the suggestion of Conservative Leader Sir James Hawkey, and he has been a candidate here in every parliamentary election since.

The prime minister is sure enough of the loyalty of Woodford's voters not to feel it necessary to campaign seriously in this town northeast of London, but he often makes speeches here on special occasions.

Churchill came to Woodford Saturday to speak at ceremonies dedicating a new civic hall named for Hawkey, his original sponsor in the district.

His last appearance here was during the week of his 80th birthday in November, when he revealed in a speech that he had considered using German troops if necessary to stem the tide of Russian conquest in Europe in 1945.

Gas Storage In Demand In Locale Of Its Consumers

The Federal Power Commission reports an upsurge in demand for underground storage the last three years—a period of marked increase in gas consumption and expansion of distribution systems.

The commission has authority over gas storage projects where interstate companies are involved. Other companies not under its jurisdiction have underground storage projects or are considering them.

Underground gas storage was being used some more than 20 years ago. But in the last few years it has come into use more and more, with gas demand increasing and discovery of more suitable underground structures for storage.

The big advantage is that gas can be moved from wells to storage in summer when the pipeline traffic is lighter and then is readily available to meet the peak demand in the winter heating season.

Gas people say such a method decreases the over-all cost of gas distribution and thus benefits consumers.

There are many underground storage fields in midwestern, northern and eastern areas of heavy population.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, has reported to members he feels oil imports "can be restricted by law during this session of Congress."

Brown and other IPAA officials appeared before the Senate Finance Committee in support of a proposed amendment to the reciprocal trade extension bill to limit oil imports to 10 per cent of U.S. demand.

One Producer Is Brought In During Past Week

The single producers brought in during the past week was the D. Grandstaff - Morrison No. 8, located in the Tullos-Urania field of Grant parish, according to a weekly field report of oil and gas wells drilled and completed in the Monroe district for the period ending March 24. The report, also listing two wells plugged and abandoned and six new locations, was issued by the local office of the department of conservation, minerals division.

The producer was located in Section 10, township 9 range 1 east, and was gauged at 41 bbls. at a total depth of 1,529 feet.

Wells plugged and abandoned included:

Concordia parish (wild cat field)-E. C. Wentworth-Clinch Drlg. Co.-Rosan Griffin No. 1, plugged at 5,515 feet was located in section 13-7-6E.

Union parish (Monroe field)-Southwest Natl. Prod. Co.-Tay Albritton No. 1, abandoned on March 18 in section 22-20-2E.

New locations listed included:

Catahoula parish (Ross Bayou field)—R. A. Campbell - Calhoun No. 2 from the southeast corner of section 6-6-7E, run south 89 degrees 45' for 1670', thence north 0 degrees 17' west for 350' to location in Sec. 6-6-7E.

Woman Killed In Shreveport Wreck

Police identified the victim as Mrs. King W. Beddingfield. She died at a Shreveport sanitarium at 10:30 a.m., three hours after the crash.

Beddingfield, field superintendent for the Arkansas Fuel Oil Corp., told police he failed to see a traffic light change. His car ran into the path of a large truck and trailer.

Accident Fatal

The driver of the truck, identified as Frank Ely, also of Foxworth, was unhurt.

RECEIVED FEES—U. S. Representative John Bell told a special Texas Senate Investigating Committee in Austin which is investigating veterans land scandals, that he received $28,112 in fees stemming from block land deals.

Woman Convicted Of Slaying Mate

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Elsie Lee, 26, was convicted last night of fatally shooting her husband, dentist Marcellus D. Lee, Nov. 8, and sentenced to 15 years.

The state said Mrs. Lee shot her husband in their home, then shot herself as a cover-up.

Mrs. Lee, who did not take the stand, contended her husband was killed during a struggle over a pistol which climaxed a three-hour argument.

Stocks Push On With Recovery To Near Records

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The stock market pushed its recovery drive ahead strongly this week to within the shadow of a record high.

Much less notice was paid the recovery than to the severe decline that preceded it. Just three weeks ago the market touched a peak, then tumbled in a severe reaction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week went up $4.10. It closed at $160.20. At that level the average had retraced 78 per cent of the previous heavy losses. It now stands only $2.40 away from the record peak hit March 4.

Brokers recalled the market broke wide open when the Senate Banking Committee in Washington started its friendly study of market movements. They also pointed out the market was going up strongly when the study ran through its three-week agenda of witnesses and closed down.

But these brokers also noted other factors might have caused stocks to suffer the shakeout if there had been no market study at all. Principally, they said, the market was ready for a reaction and took the first excuse it could to tumble.

The five most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange were General Dynamics up 9¾ at 72⅛ on 238,800 shares, Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton up 2 at 17¼, Chrysler up 4⅛ at 72⅞, Anaconda Copper up 4⅜ at 58 and American Bosch up 1⅞ at 19¼.

The corporate bond market advanced on a broad front this week, though volume was relatively light. U. S. government bonds backed and filled.

U. S. Action On Foreclosure In Ark. Postponed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Remaining testimony in the government's three million dollar foreclosure suit against Westmoreland Manganese Corp., has been postponed to April 18.

Judge Harry J. Lemley of federal District Court here said prior court schedules forced the prolonged delay.

The illness of a defense attorney caused yesterday's session to be cut short. Fuller Highsmith became ill while questioning W. S. Stringham of Joplin, Mo.

The government is seeking to recover $2,800,000 it advanced to Westmoreland under a defense contract. Also, the government is asking payment of interest on the money from Jan. 8, 1954.

Westmoreland was formed at Cushman, Ark., to produce manganese for the government. The plant was closed by the government before any of the mineral was delivered.

The government charged breach of contract and contended Westmoreland officials mismanaged the project and failed to keep proper records and file proper reports.

Westmoreland, however, has charged that the government breached the contract when it foreclosed without formal notice.

What to serve for lunch bothering you? How about a corn pudding topped with crisp strips of bacon? Tastes delicious with a tossed green alad. Fruit and cookies for dessert will make everyone happy!

Woman Killed In Shreveport Wreck

Police identified the victim as Mrs. King W. Beddingfield. She died at a Shreveport sanitarium at 10:30 a.m., three hours after the crash.

Beddingfield, field superintendent for the Arkansas Fuel Oil Corp., told police he failed to see a traffic light change. His car ran into the path of a large truck and trailer.

Concordia Action In Drilling Still Is Very Active

FERRIDAY, La., March 26 (Special)—In Concordia parish, E. C. "Wimpy" Wentworth and Clinch Drilling company were drilling this week at 3135 on the north Rosan Griffin, a wildcat in Section 13-7N-6E, three - fourths of a mile west of the Wildsville field. The hole was spudded on March 16.

Sinclair Oil and Gas Company were waiting on cement on the B-1 Sharp State Unit in Section 10-4N-9E of the Fairview Field which will be drilled in a depth of 7300 feet.

Gas Storage In Demand In Locale Of Its Consumers

The Federal Power Commission reports an upsurge in demand for underground storage the last three years—a period of marked increase in gas consumption and expansion of distribution systems.

The commission has authority over gas storage projects where interstate companies are involved. Other companies not under its jurisdiction have underground storage projects or are considering them.

Underground gas storage was being used some more than 20 years ago. But in the last few years it has come into use more and more, with gas demand increasing and discovery of more suitable underground structures for storage.

The big advantage is that gas can be moved from wells to storage in summer when the pipeline traffic is lighter and then is readily available to meet the peak demand in the winter heating season.

Gas people say such a method decreases the over-all cost of gas distribution and thus benefits consumers.

There are many underground storage fields in midwestern, northern and eastern areas of heavy population.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, has reported to members he feels oil imports "can be restricted by law during this session of Congress."

Brown and other IPAA officials appeared before the Senate Finance Committee in support of a proposed amendment to the reciprocal trade extension bill to limit oil imports to 10 per cent of U.S. demand.

Accident Fatal

The driver of the truck, identified as Frank Ely, also of Foxworth, was unhurt.

Woman Convicted Of Slaying Mate

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Elsie Lee, 26, was convicted last night of fatally shooting her husband, dentist Marcellus D. Lee, Nov. 8, and sentenced to 15 years.

The state said Mrs. Lee shot her husband in their home, then shot herself as a cover-up.

Mrs. Lee, who did not take the stand, contended her husband was killed during a struggle over a pistol which climaxed a three-hour argument.

Stocks Push On With Recovery To Near Records

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The stock market pushed its recovery drive ahead strongly this week to within the shadow of a record high.

Much less notice was paid the recovery than to the severe decline that preceded it. Just three weeks ago the market touched a peak, then tumbled in a severe reaction.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks this week went up $4.10. It closed at $160.20. At that level the average had retraced 78 per cent of the previous heavy losses. It now stands only $2.40 away from the record peak hit March 4.

Brokers recalled the market broke wide open when the Senate Banking Committee in Washington started its friendly study of market movements. They also pointed out the market was going up strongly when the study ran through its three-week agenda of witnesses and closed down.

But these brokers also noted other factors might have caused stocks to suffer the shakeout if there had been no market study at all. Principally, they said, the market was ready for a reaction and took the first excuse it could to tumble.

The five most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange were General Dynamics up 9¾ at 72⅛ on 238,800 shares, Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton up 2 at 17¼, Chrysler up 4⅞ at 72⅞, Anaconda Copper up 4⅜ at 58 and American Bosch up 1⅞ at 19¼.

The corporate bond market advanced on a broad front this week though volume was relatively light. U. S. government bonds backed and filled.

U. S. Action On Foreclosure In Ark. Postponed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Remaining testimony in the government's three million dollar foreclosure suit against Westmoreland Manganese Corp., has been postponed to April 18.

Judge Harry J. Lemley of federal District Court here said prior court schedules forced the prolonged delay.

The illness of a defense attorney caused yesterday's session to be cut short. Fuller Highsmith became ill while questioning W. S. Stringham of Joplin, Mo.

The government is seeking to recover $2,800,000 it advanced to Westmoreland under a defense contract. Also, the government is asking payment of interest on the money from Jan. 8, 1954.

Westmoreland was formed at Cushman, Ark., to produce manganese for the government. The plant was closed by the government before any of the mineral was delivered.

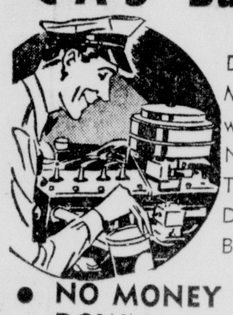

The government charged breach of contract and contended Westmoreland officials mismanaged the project and failed to keep proper records and file proper reports.

Westmoreland, however, has charged that the government breached the contract when it foreclosed without formal notice.

What to serve for lunch bothering you? How about a corn pudding topped with crisp strips of bacon? Tastes delicious with a tossed green alad. Fruit and cookies for dessert will make everyone happy!

U. S. Welcomes Attitude Of Red Premier As Hope For Formosan Situation

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — The United States today welcomed Soviet Premier Bulganin's "Positive attitude" toward a possible peace meeting with President Eisenhower and other great power leaders.

Bulganin's statement was put under the microscope at the State Department to study its full meaning. Officials were encouraged to hope that the Soviet government may restrain Communist China from precipitating a war with the United States in the Formosa Strait.

Pressures seem to be building up on President Eisenhower to harden American policy in advance of any attack on the coastal Nationalist islands of Quemoy and Matsu. There was talk that some public statement might be issued to warn the Chinese Reds of the dangers of American reaction they face and the destruction they risk if they force a military showdown.

Secretary of State Dulles and the Joint Chiefs of Staff seem to consider that the Communist regime has been moving determinedly toward a showdown. Dulles is described as convinced that the United States must make a firm stand, with full readiness to fight over Matsu or Quemoy if the Reds force the issue. Similar views are attributed to a majority of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Formosa situation and the possibility of a big power meeting are foremost among subjects which will be discussed by President Eisenhower and Dulles when the President receives Senate and House congressional leaders at two successive luncheons next Wednesday and Thursday.

The meetings will afford the President, Dulles and other administration leaders an opportunity to sound out congressional sentiment which has been somewhat divided on a Big Four top level meeting and shown little enthusiasm for war in the Far East.

The State Department reacted to Bulganin's statement promptly after it was received here. The comment presumably was approved by Secretary Dulles. It said:

"We are carefully studying the implications of Premier Bulganin's statement. In general we welcome it as a sign that the Soviet government is receptive to President Eisenhower's views concerning the circumstances which would make it useful to hold future discussions."

Eisenhower said Wednesday that a meeting of the heads of state should be preceded by talks among the foreign ministers who would lay the groundwork. He said there were a dozen ways in which the Soviets could give essential evidence of "good faith."

Senate Finance Group To Study Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee goes behind closed doors Monday to try to resolve one of the most bitterly contested issues of this session — President Eisenhower's foreign trade program.

The secret sessions are likely to last at least two weeks; some members say they will be much longer.

Democratic leaders were saying early in the session they would get the reciprocal trade bill through in the form desired by Eisenhower. They said this would show they could furnish him much greater support on this measure than his own party.

But supporters of the program in both parties now concede it is in great trouble in the Senate. A flood of amendments is being offered in behalf of industries and regions which fear import competition.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Finance Committee said he expected a tough battle in his committee, with various members pressing vigorously for drastic amendments.

The Virginian would not predict the outcome. He is generally supporting the administration on this issue, but has reservations about international organizations through which the U.S. has conducted trade negotiations.

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), senior Republican on finance and a legislator who long has had strong doubts about the reciprocal trade program, told a reporter he was sure the act would be extended.

The big question, he said, is what amendments the committee will insist on. He refused to say at this point what changes he would offer or support.

The bill passed by the House and now before the committee carries out Eisenhower's recommendations. It extends the 21-year-old reciprocal trade agreements law three years and gives him some new powers to cut tariffs in return for concessions from foreign countries.

The committee heard about 125 witnesses on the bill in 16 days of public hearings. Those opposed to the measure predominated, but backers of the legislation said this gave a false picture. They said dozens of industries which have no objection to the trade program did not appear.

Some members feel that foes of the program will have a better chance if they concentrate on some general amendment, rather than scatter their fire on a variety of proposals to give relief to specific products.

One of the most far-reaching of the general amendments is offered by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo). It would require that all trade agreements be submitted to Congress for approval. He has offered this several times before, and once saw it defeated by only six votes.

Car Theft Suspect Is Returned Here

City detectives yesterday said Stenson Heard, Bernice, was returned here Saturday and charged with auto theft after being arrested in Farmarville by Union Parish deputy sheriffs a short time after a Monroe man reported the theft of his car.

According to officers, shortly before midnight H. L. Giles, 1402 Standifer street, reported that his auto had been stolen from the parking lot at a DeSiard street night club sometime between 8 and 11:30 p.m. Friday.

An alarm was broadcast for the stolen vehicle, and a short time later Union parish officers arrested Heard as he was driving through Farmerville in the stolen car, they said. He was returned to Monroe by detectives and was being held in the Ouachita parish jail.

M'Carthy And Ellender Give Views On Yalta Pact

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)— Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said tonight that President Eisenhower apparently wants to forget about "the whole sorry mess" but McCarthy is going to talk about "the treason and sellout at Yalta."

In a statement issued by his office, the Wisconsin senator said he was "shocked" at Eisenhower's news conference comments last Wednesday about publication of the Yalta papers. Eisenhower said he saw nothing to be gained "by going back 10 years and showing, in the light of after-events, that someone may have been wrong, or someone may have been right." He said profit might be taken from "mistakes" at Yalta without merely attempting to "damage reputations."

"I had thought it was the duty of the Republican party—and especially of its leaders—to inform the American people of the errors of either party," McCarthy declared.

"Who are we supposed to be covering up for? Whose 'reputations' are we meant to be careful not to 'damage'? What incompetents, what traitors? Whatever does the President mean?"

Asserting that the official documents of the 1945 Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting "reveal untarnished treason," McCarthy added:

"Even though Eisenhower doesn't think it's proper to talk about it, I do.

"I think it's proper—I think it's imperative—to talk about it and act because there is nothing as yet in the record to indicate that the United States government has dispensed with the services of all the traitors."

In a separate statement, Sen. Ellender (D-La) said Republicans are "attempting to make political thunder out of the papers but it appears that their efforts will fizzle out like a wet roman candle."

"For my own party, I think it is high time we forget about the errors of the past," Ellender said. "We must concentrate our efforts on the future—on removing the seeds of distrust and international trouble-making which today pose the threat of atomic warfare."

Ellender said that the decisions reached at Yalta by the late President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill "leave much to be desired when measured by today's standards."

"But, viewed in the setting in which they were made, I can not see how the Yalta agreements can give comfort to anyone," he said. "To my way of thinking, the only decision open to criticism at this late date was the failure of President Roosevelt to take the Congress into his confidence before the agreements were made binding. . . .

"Under the circumstances, and at the time they were made, I believe that President Roosevelt's decisions were fair ones, honestly made."

McCarthy said the attitude of Democratic leaders toward the release of the Yalta papers was "shocking." He criticized House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) for saying "if it helps the Republicans, then it will be a glorious thing."

"If I've ever seen a party in my life that needed help," Rayburn added last week, "it's the Republican party."

Wallet Scheme Used

Monroe Woman Reported Victim Of $740 Swindle

Officer said Esleaner Reed, 408 Pearl street, related that she had drawn a sum of money out of her saving account at a local bank and was en route to the Western Union office to telegraph it to her husband, who is in the military service. On the way she was accosted by two Negro men, who showed her a wallet containing a large sum of money, which they had found.

The men reportedly stated that they didn't know what to do with the wallet, and offered to split the money with the Reed woman. However, they explained, they wanted to discuss the matter with their boss first, to make sure they were doing the proper thing.

To show her good faith in them, they asked the Reed woman to put up a matching sum of money, which they would hold until they returned to divide the loot. The money in the wallet totaled $750, they said, the same amount they had earlier learned the Reed woman had in her saving account.

She withdrew the money from the bank and gave it to the men, who agreed to meet her in the 400 block of DeSiard street at 10:30 a.m. When they failed to make an appearance by 1 p.m. she notified police.

One of the Negroes was described as 50 to 55 years old. When last seen he was wearing a white shirt, dark tie, blue suit and black shoes. The other was described as 35 to 40, slender, light complexioned, and wearing a brown porter cap, and gray cord trousers. He had a large cataract over one eye.

Chief of Detectives yesterday again urged persons not to allow themselves to be victimized by such schemers. "If you are approached by anyone offering to split with you any money he or she allegedly found and asks you to put up a specific sum to show 'good faith' notify the police at once," the detective chief said. "But under no circumstances give them any money."

House Concerned

Farmer's Price Drops; Consumer Costs Climbing

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee said today that housewives paid the highest prices on record for some foods in 1954 despite sharply lower returns to farmers.

The committee said that in 1954 prices on the farm were 7 per cent lower than in the 1947-49 period while grocery store prices were 13 per cent higher. A big factor in retail prices are the costs of fancier packaging and processing, it asserted.

The figures were presented in a study of food market prices and costs. It is a continuation of a study started by the committee last year.

The committee's chairman, Rep. Cooley (D-NC), is the author of a bill to abandon the administration's variable price support program and restore rigid high supports on basic farm commodities.

The committee report said the farm price of food grains went down 9 per cent in the five-year period although, it added, cereals and bakery products rose 22 per cent, for the highest levels on record.

It added that the price received by farmers for dairy products declines 8 per cent, while retail prices were 6 per cent higher.

Fruit and vegetable producers received 4 per cent less while consumers paid 12 per cent more for their crops.

"An important reason" for the difference between farm and grocery store prices is the cost of fancier packaging and processing, the report said, adding:

House Democrats Study Tax Bill In Loophole Search

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)— House Democrats are planning a long-range full-scale investigation of last year's big tax revision act. They say they will uncover scores of mistakes which would cost the government large amounts of revenue in years ahead.

Rep. Mills (D-Ark), one of the leaders in the move, said today he is convinced a search will uncover many more than the 70 mistakes the treasury says it has already found.

Mills, a veteran member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the committee should "not leave it up to the Treasury to find mistakes. We have our own responsibility to find out just what this law is doing to our tax code and our revenues."

Democrats have repeatedly charged the revision bill, sponsored by Republicans, favored corporations and the wealthy. Republicans have retored this is a false issue, raised in desperation by Democrats to try to stave off defeat in next year's elections.

Indications were the investigation would be undertaken by a House Ways and Means subcommittee, possibly headed by Mills. It would probably take months to complete.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has advised congressional tax writers there are about 70 needed corrections, mostly minor and clerical.

Mills said Democrats, in opposing the revision bill last year, voiced "fears and misgivings" of possible loopholes in the law. These fears are now being justified, he contended.

Eisenhower said Wednesday that a meeting of the heads of state should be preceded by talks among the foreign ministers who would lay the groundwork. He said there were a dozen ways in which the Soviets could give essential evidence of "good faith."

Senate Finance Group To Study Foreign Trade

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)— The Senate Finance Committee goes behind closed doors Monday to try to resolve one of the most bitterly contested issues of this session — President Eisenhower's foreign trade program.

The secret sessions are likely to last at least two weeks; some members say they will be much longer.

Democratic leaders were saying early in the session they would get the reciprocal trade bill through in the form desired by Eisenhower. They said this would show they could furnish him much greater support on this measure than his own party.

But supporters of the program in both parties now concede it is in great trouble in the Senate. A flood of amendments is being offered in behalf of industries and regions which fear import competition.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Finance Committee said he expected a tough battle in his committee, with various members pressing vigorously for drastic amendments.

The Virginian would not predict the outcome. He is generally supporting the administration on this issue, but has reservations about international organizations through which the U.S. has conducted trade negotiations.

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo), senior Republican on finance and a legislator who long has had strong doubts about the reciprocal trade program, told a reporter he was sure the act would be extended.

The big question, he said, is what amendments the committee will insist on. He refused to say at this point what changes he would offer or support.

The bill passed by the House and now before the committee carries out Eisenhower's recommendations. It extends the 21-year-old reciprocal trade agreements law three years and gives him some new powers to cut tariffs in return for concessions from foreign countries.

The committee heard about 125 witnesses on the bill in 16 days of public hearings. Those opposed to the measure predominated, but backers of the legislation said this gave a false picture. They said dozens of industries which have no objection to the trade program did not appear.

Some members feel that foes of the program will have a better chance if they concentrate on some general amendment, rather than scatter their fire on a variety of proposals to give relief to specific products.

One of the most far-reaching of the general amendments is offered by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo). It would require that all trade agreements be submitted to Congress for approval. He has offered this several times before, and once saw it defeated by only six votes.

Car Theft Suspect Is Returned Here

City detectives yesterday said Stenson Heard, Bernice, was returned here Saturday and charged with auto theft after being arrested in Farmarville by Union Parish deputy sheriffs a short time after a Monroe man reported the theft of his car.

According to officers, shortly before midnight H. L. Giles, 1402 Standifer street, reported that his auto had been stolen from the parking lot at a DeSiard street night club sometime between 8 and 11:30 p.m. Friday.

An alarm was broadcast for the stolen vehicle, and a short time later Union parish officers arrested Heard as he was driving through Farmerville in the stolen car, they said. He was returned to Monroe by detectives and was being held in the Ouachita parish jail.

M'Carthy And Ellender Give Views On Yalta Pact

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)— Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said tonight that President Eisenhower apparently wants to forget about "the whole sorry mess" but McCarthy is going to talk about "the treason and sellout at Yalta."

In a statement issued by his office, the Wisconsin senator said he was "shocked" at Eisenhower's news conference comments last Wednesday about publication of the Yalta papers. Eisenhower said he saw nothing to be gained "by going back 10 years and showing, in the light of after-events, that someone may have been wrong, or someone may have been right." He said profit might be taken from "mistakes" at Yalta without merely attempting to "damage reputations."

"I had thought it was the duty of the Republican party—and especially of its leaders—to inform the American people of the errors of either party," McCarthy declared.

"Who are we supposed to be covering up for? Whose 'reputations' are we meant to be careful not to 'damage'? What incompetents, what traitors? Whatever does the President mean?"

Asserting that the official documents of the 1945 Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting "reveal untarnished treason," McCarthy added:

"Even though Eisenhower doesn't think it's proper to talk about it, I do.

"I think it's proper—I think it's imperative—to talk about it and act because there is nothing as yet in the record to indicate that the United States government has dispensed with the services of all the traitors."

In a separate statement, Sen. Ellender (D-La) said Republicans are "attempting to make political thunder out of the papers but it appears that their efforts will fizzle out like a wet roman candle."

"For my own party, I think it is high time we forget about the errors of the past," Ellender said. "We must concentrate our efforts on the future—on removing the seeds of distrust and international trouble-making which today pose the threat of atomic warfare."

Ellender said that the decisions reached at Yalta by the late President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill "leave much to be desired when measured by today's standards."

"But, viewed in the setting in which they were made, I can not see how the Yalta agreements can give comfort to anyone," he said. "To my way of thinking, the only decision open to criticism at this late date was the failure of President Roosevelt to take the Congress into his confidence before the agreements were made binding. . . .

"Under the circumstances, and at the time they were made, I believe that President Roosevelt's decisions were fair ones, honestly made."

McCarthy said the attitude of Democratic leaders toward the release of the Yalta papers was "shocking." He criticized House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) for saying "if it helps the Republicans, then it will be a glorious thing."

"If I've ever seen a party in my life that needed help," Rayburn added last week, "it's the Republican party."

Wallet Scheme Used

Monroe Woman Reported Victim Of $740 Swindle

Officer said Esleaner Reed, 408 Pearl street, related that she had drawn a sum of money out of her saving account at a local bank and was en route to the Western Union office to telegraph it to her husband, who is in the military service. On the way she was accosted by two Negro men, who showed her a wallet containing a large sum of money, which they had found.

The men reportedly stated that they didn't know what to do with the wallet, and offered to split the money with the Reed woman. However, they explained, they wanted to discuss the matter with their boss first, to make sure they were doing the proper thing.

To show her good faith in them, they asked the Reed woman to put up a matching sum of money, which they would hold until they returned to divide the loot. The money in the wallet totaled $750, they said, the same amount they had earlier learned the Reed woman had in her saving account.

She withdrew the money from the bank and gave it to the men, who agreed to meet her in the 400 block of DeSiard street at 10:30 a.m. When they failed to make an appearance by 1 p.m. she notified police.

One of the Negroes was described as 50 to 55 years old. When last seen he was wearing a white shirt, dark tie, blue suit and black shoes. The other was described as 35 to 40, slender, light complexioned, and wearing a brown porter cap, and gray cord trousers. He had a large cataract over one eye.

Chief of Detectives yesterday again urged persons not to allow themselves to be victimized by such schemers. "If you are approached by anyone offering to split with you any money he or she allegedly found and asks you to put up a specific sum to show 'good faith' notify the police at once," the detective chief said. "But under no circumstances give them any money."

House Concerned

Farmer's Price Drops; Consumer Costs Climbing

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee said today that housewives paid the highest prices on record for some foods in 1954 despite sharply lower returns to farmers.

The committee said that in 1954 prices on the farm were 7 per cent lower than in the 1947-49 period while grocery store prices were 13 per cent higher. A big factor in retail prices are the costs of fancier packaging and processing, it asserted.

The figures were presented in a study of food market prices and costs. It is a continuation of a study started by the committee last year.

The committee's chairman, Rep. Cooley (D-NC), is the author of a bill to abandon the administration's variable price support program and restore rigid high supports on basic farm commodities.

The committee report said the farm price of food grains went down 9 per cent in the five-year period although, it added, cereals and bakery products rose 22 per cent, for the highest levels on record.

It added that the price received by farmers for dairy products declines 8 per cent, while retail prices were 6 per cent higher.

Fruit and vegetable producers received 4 per cent less while consumers paid 12 per cent more for their crops.

"An important reason" for the difference between farm and grocery store prices is the cost of fancier packaging and processing, the report said, adding:

House Democrats Study Tax Bill In Loophole Search

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)— House Democrats are planning a long-range full-scale investigation of last year's big tax revision act. They say they will uncover scores of mistakes which would cost the government large amounts of revenue in years ahead.

Rep. Mills (D-Ark), one of the leaders in the move, said today he is convinced a search will uncover many more than the 70 mistakes the treasury says it has already found.

Mills, a veteran member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the committee should "not leave it up to the Treasury to find mistakes. We have our own responsibility to find out just what this law is doing to our tax code and our revenues."

Democrats have repeatedly charged the revision bill, sponsored by Republicans, favored corporations and the wealthy. Republicans have retored this is a false issue, raised in desperation by Democrats to try to stave off defeat in next year's elections.

Indications were the investigation would be undertaken by a House Ways and Means subcommittee, possibly headed by Mills. It would probably take months to complete.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has advised congressional tax writers there are about 70 needed corrections, mostly minor and clerical.

Mills said Democrats, in opposing the revision bill last year, voiced "fears and misgivings" of possible loopholes in the law. These fears are now being justified, he contended.

3 C. S. L. Clubs Busy, 3 Start In Week

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

By this time next week Manager Ed Head of the Twin Cities Sports will be in Hattiesburg, Miss., getting ready for the combined training camp of four New York Yankee minor league farm clubs, including the Monroe-West Monroe Cotton States League entry.

In addition to the Twin Cities, club participating in the Hattiesburg camp will be Bristol, Va., of the Appalachian League, McAlester, Okla., of the Sooner State League, and Owensboro, Ky., of the Kitty League. With the exception of the Sports, only Class C club with a full working agreement in the Yankee system, the other three are from the Class D circuits, and, since the Sports are in the higher classification, Skipper Head will be in the position of selecting the cream of the training camp.

Pitchers and catchers will report Monday week, and the outfielders and infielders are due to report in April 7.

Bill Skiff, a member of the Yankee family for years as a coach at Yankee Stadium as well as a manager of Yankee clubs of the high minors, will be camp director. He will be assisted by four scouts, managers of the four clubs, and Lannie Johnson, from the New York office, will serve as camp business manager.

After three weeks at Hattiesburg, Head comes home with his crew a couple of days ahead of the official season opener on April 26 here with the El Dorado Oilers.

High school baseball followers in some sectors are figuring the two B's—Bastrop and Bolton—as the teams most likely to furnish the Class AAA champion this spring with Coach Bob Brasher's Bastrop Rams defending.

But the West Monroe Rebels are looking mighty tough and could be a big threat to Bastrop's district crown. Coach Bobby Wilson can hardly contain his pride, not so much in the fact that he already shows a good challenger, but because many of his boys are freshmen and sophomores, insuring the Rebs of baseball power for the next two or three seasons at least.

Coach Herschel McConathy, new as a diamond tutor at Neville, finds most of the stars of the Tigers' Class A titled team gone, but the Bengals still can show plenty of fight, particularly with such a dangerous stickman as Wayne Causey still around. When Wayne poled two triples and a homer in a losing cause against West Monroe a couple of days ago, Coach Wilson of the Rebs termed him "probably the best single competitor we'll see all season."

The Ouachita Parish High Lions haven't had a chance to show yet, but Coach Jim Hodgins also lost several key performers and must work up new talent to fill the gaps. The Lions get the big test tomorrow when they open in a district conference game with West Monroe.

What Notre Dame is to football and Kentucky to basketball, so Tulane is to tennis. The Greenies, headed by Hamilton Richardson, twice National Collegiate champion, David Cupper, and the No. 3 U. S. amateur, have won 37 consecutive dual meets on their latest string. Coach J. Emmett Pare has compiled a dual meet record of 135 wins, 24 defeats, and 11 ties since becoming Tulane tennis coach in 1933. His teams have won 12 of 16 Southeastern Conference championships, and Tulanians like Cliff Sutter (1930-32), Ernie Sutter (1936-37), Jack Tuero (1949), and Richardson (1953-54) have taken a total of seven N. C. A. A. singles crowns in the past quarter-century. No other university can claim more than three.

Louisiana Tech's Cindermen Claim Triangular Win

RUSTON, La., March 26 (AP) — Louisiana Tech won seven of 17 events today to win a triangular track meet from Arkansas State Teachers and Mississippi College.

Vicksburg, Twin Cities Are Last To Get Started

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The six Cotton States League clubs—including one new one—will intensify their campaigns in the next few weeks to line up players and fans.

With opening day less than a month away, few of the class C clubs have reported more than two or three team positions definitely filled. As for filling the stands, most clubs report a cold to medium warm reaction of fans to advance ticket-selling campaigns.

DIRECTORS MEET

Directors of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation meet tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at Central Auto Sales to discuss plans for the opening of spring training at Hattiesburg on April 4, and make arrangements for the season opening Cotton States League game here April 26.

Directors are Dr. W. L. Bendel, president; J. H. "Slim" Scogin, vice president; Walter Savage, secretary-treasurer; R. D. Farr Jr., assistant secretary-treasurer; and Saul Adler, Nathan L. "Buddy" Blair, Steve Gilbert, Bob Hines, Cary Thompson, Clifford Strauss, F. N. "Sticky" Steele, and Kirt Touchstone.

El Dorado, Greenville and Pine Bluff set up spring training camps last week; Hot Springs is scheduled to start workouts tomorrow; and Vicksburg—the new member—and Monroe plan to wait until April 4 to hold their first limbering up sessions.

Opening games are scheduled April 26.

Widespread financial shortages have been reported at several clubs for several seasons, but league president Emmet Hardy of Greenville says everything will "be okay if the newspapers will quit burying the league."

Every club is expecting help in the form of players from major league tieups, although some of the agreements are losely written to allow the cities to do their own player-procuring if they wish.

Vicksburg expects to build its team around holdovers from the 1954 Meridian, Miss., the club it replaced in the league lineup. Hot Springs already has been provided a new manager—Joe Lutz—by the Kansas City Athletics and is expecting five players from the American League outfit. Lutz succeeds Jackie Bales.

Two veterans, both former major leaguers, entered the league last week.

Vicksburg only last week signed as manager Fred (Pap) Williams, a 40-year-old former Cleveland Indian who has been in baseball 18 years. Williams has managed seven years and has finished out of the first division only once.

Another baseball veteran, 58-year-old George (Mickey) O'Neil, entered the Cotton States circuit as an owner last week. O'Neil, of St. Louis, became the third owner of the Bathers in less than two years. Charley Williamson had purchased the Hot Springs franchise during the 1954 season from Paul Dean.

The major league tieups are:

Hot Springs and Kansas City, El Dorado and New York Giants, Pine Bluff and Baltimore; Vicksburg and Milwaukee, Greenville and Detroit; Monroe and New York Yankees.

Some 25 aspirants—mostly players assigned by the New York Giants—reported to Parker at El Dorado's camp in Melbourne, Fla. That group included only three holdovers, pitcher Elmer Toth, second baseman Bobby Scott and catcher Luther Tucker.

The Pine Bluff Judges, training at home, already have signed the three men who played in the outfield most of last season. They are Bernie Tomicki, Doug Kassay and Robert Gonzalez. With Knoke to work behind the plate, the Judges have four positions set.

Hudlin is working his men at the Lakeland, Fla., farm base of the Detroit Tigers.

Vicksburg general manager C. B. (Dough) Rawlins said he has sent contracts to the following former members of the defunct Meridian club.

Pitchers Roy Jayne, 20-8 last year; Harold Cottle, 15-7, and Francis Patrick Healy, who had 22-18 over two seasons; outfielder Emmett Eugene Pompelia, who hit .330; and third baseman Wendal Francis Forbes, who had a .310 average.

Vicksburg will be fielding a pro team for the first time since the class B Southeastern League discontinued operations in 1950. The Billies will train at home.

Lutz is expecting pitchers Ed White and Vance Byrd, shortstop Larry Good and outfielder Dale Bragg to report to Hot Springs' Savannah, Ga. base for spring training tomorrow.

By W. B. RAGSDALE Jr.

BATON ROUGE, March 26 (AP) — It used to be enough for a halfback to stay up in his studies. But to play regularly at Louisiana State University this fall, he will also have to watch his grades on the football field.

Paul Dietzel, 30-year-old new head coach, has juggled his lineups during spring practice according to the marks the boys made in the previous scrimmage.

And he will pick his starters for the annual intrasquad game next Saturday from the players with the highest grades.

Movies are made of all scrimmages and the coaches grade each boy on each play.

"The grading of football players by the use of movies gives our staff its only practical way of knowing who did their job and who didn't explains Dietzel.

The young head coach, who has been on the job less than two months, learned his football as player and assistant coach under Wallace Wade, former Duke coach; Earl Blaik of Army, Sid Gillman of the professional Los Angeles Rams and Paul (Bear) Bryant of Texas A&M.

The linemen, running backs and quarterbacks are graded separately. For technique—the way they do it—the coach gives one point. Two points are given, if the player blocks out his man, makes the tackle, or does whatever was required of him.

Bonus points may be given if the player does more than he is required to do on the play.

"Our bonus points stimulate downfield blocking," says Dietzel, "because the individual knows he can gain additional points by blocking someone, getting up and going down for another block. It makes him exert that extra effort which is vital for the success of any football team."

There are three points normally possible on each play. If a player is in the game for 10 plays, he can score 30 points, if he plays perfectly. If he manages 20 points, his efficiency rating would be 67 per cent.

But the human element must be taken into account.

"While the grading system generally gives the highest grade to the better players," Dietzel explains, "there are exceptions when the coach must use his judgment in selecting a representative team.

"The grading system only covers the mechanical factors. Temperament, attitude and personality traits of the individual, all of which have a bearing on the performance of that individual, cannot be scored on a grade sheet. The coach must then decide himself."

S. E. C. Coaches Asking To Revive Cage Tournament

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 26 (AP) —A move to revive the season-end basketball tournament to decide a Southeastern Conference champion was stymied today when SEC coaches split 6-6 on the issue at their annual meeting.

Commissioner Bernie Moore announced that as a result of the stalemate, the issue will not go before the annual SEC meeting in December, "unless something else should come up."

The coaches may only make recommendations and are not empowered to take final action.

They voted to ask the SEC to increase the limit on schedules from 24 to 26 games, the maximum permitted by the NCAA. They also approved the current round-robin schedule, which has every member playing every other member at least once.

Most of the day-long session was taken up with organization of the SEC officials' association for next season, a rules interpretative lecture by Tulane's Cliff Wells, and a discussion of the growing problem of unruly crowd behavior.

Gun Club Ready To Shoot Today Against Ruston

The Twin City Gun Club, fighting weather conditions, hopes to get in its inter-city match with Ruston on the Selman Field range this afternoon. Weather conditions last Sunday caused postponement of the event. In addition to regular Sunday afternoon shooting, the match is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

The best score out of 250 shots per team will determine the winner. LeRoy Stern, range manager said.

The club, because of poor Saturday shoots, has discontinued its Saturday afternoon events, but Sunday shooting will continue through to next hunting season.

Skeet—E. W. Andrews, 103X125; C. N. Rector, 15X25; Bill Andres, 44X50; Ross Graves, 95X100; Bert Williams, 14X25; Barney Cox, 41-X50; George Ineichen, 37X50; Gerry Williams, 13X25; J. B. Thoman, 47X50; "Sonny" Harper, 32X50; Sid Williams, 11X25; Nina Pankey, 6X25; Pat Sellers, 6X25; Pete Gonzales, 21X25; Otto Williamson, 20-X25; S. K. Bernheim, 20X25.

Wildlife Group Holds Meeting Tuesday Night

The Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at Virginia Hotel at 7:30 o'clock. This will be the first meeting since the Ouachita unit was host to the state convention, and will be highlighted by reports from the various committees, as well as a report by the chairman of the convention committee.

Wayne Huckabay, commissioner of streets and parks, will tell about the progress made on the Bayou DeSiard project. His talk will be of special interest because this project will determine to a great extent Monroe's future water supply.

Another important item of business will be the election of a new board of directors for the year 1955-56.

"Every member of the Ouachita unit should be present in order to be able to cast their vote of preference," Ed Crowley, president, said.

Lions Groom For Bengals

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, their baseball season start hindered by weather, expect to launch their campaign tomorrow with the Neville High Tigers on Neville's diamond in a regularly scheduled game although Coach Jim Hodgins' Lions have a postponed Neville game pending from last Thursday when the season opener was delayed by weather. The postponed game hasn't yet been rescheduled. Ouachita follows Neville with a Class AAA conference scrap with West Monroe Friday.

The Lions are shy eight players from last season, six of them starters, but they have some promising new talent to go with their few old hands in moulding their newest edition.

Gone are Neal Duncan, Billy Smith, Larry Barnes, Vivian Pettit, Bobby May, Carol George, Doyle Holstead, and Glynn Johnson, the later by eligibility woes, but Coach Hodgins has a squad of about 25 boys to provide blocks for the gaps.

Ike McMullen, only four - year player, is back to head the outfield. Pitchers are Floyd Duchesne and Jimmy Hunt, who saw service last season, and Tommy Doss, H. B. Bennett, Billy Thomas, and Eddie McGowan, the latter also a shortstop and third baseman who will probably be in the lineup when not pitching.

Johnny Maroney, Jeff Spence, Jackie DuPriest, Lanis Pettit, Joe Thurman, Dickie Crowe, Ralph Ward, T. L. Fuller, Paul Roye, Ronald Day and Dickie Culpepper appear as front - liners. Other good prospects are Robert Whitten, William McKay, Billy Roach, Tommy Godwin, Duke Yates, "Mac" McMillion, and Ronald Nichols.

The Lions were supposed to have opened against Neville here Thursday, but bad weather spiked the game. No date has been fixed for the postponement.

The Ouachita schedule:

March 28 —Neville, here.
April 1 —West Monroe, there.
April 4 —Calhoun, there.
April 6 —Bastrop, here.
April 12 —LaSalle, here.
April 15 —LaSalle at Olla.
April 20 —West Monroe, here.
April 25 —Calhoun, here.
April 29 —Bastrop, there.

Louisiana Tech Golf Team Wallops Rival

RUSTON, La., March 26 (AP)—Playing in bitter cold, Louisiana Tech today swamped Arkansas State Teacher's College golf team, 15½ to 2½.

The teams of Jack Rivers-Roy Nash and H. C. Menuet-C. B. McMahan yesterday advanced to the finals of the annual Bayou DeSiard Handicap Four-Ball Golf Tournament and will meet next Saturday to settle the championship.

Rivers and Nash, shooting a net 67, yesterday, eliminated Bobby Oliver and Dickie Thouchstone, 5 and 3, in their semi-final match. Menuet and McMahan, with an even par net 70, disposed of Theo Terzia and Tom Sandridge, 3 and 2.

It was also announced yesterday that Bayou DeSiard golfers will invade Vicksburg next Sunday for their first inter-city event of the season. It will mark the sixth annual event of cup play between Bayou DeSiard and Vicksburg linksmen with a cup going to the winner on a combination of points decided on home-and-home matches for the season.

Bayou DeSiard, readying for its sixth year of Vicksburg inter-club rivalry, has won the cup four of the five previous years. Local golfers planning to participate next Sunday are being required to register at Bayou DeSiard's Golf Shop.

Arkansas Derby Purse Captured By Trim Destiny

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 26 (AP)—G. R. White's favored Trim Destiny raced to a three-length victory in the $10,000 added Arkansas Derby today, closing feature at Oaklawn Park.

With L. C. Cook astride, the chesnut son of Destino and Trimlike completed the mile and one-eighth in 1:49 3-5, two-fifths off the track record set by Gushing Oil in 1952.

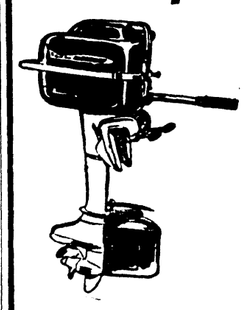

Mrs. A. M. Creech's Styrunner was second, a nose in front of J. C. Pollard's Shannon Comet. Hutcheson was fourth in the field of 11 3-year-olds.

Also rans were Jeffrey J. S. (an entry with Shannon Comet by J. H. Homan and Pollard), Prince Eric, Deodend, Harold I., Dutch Wyatt, Challa Boy and Tiger B.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

By this time next week Manager Ed Head of the Twin Cities Sports will be in Hattiesburg, Miss., getting ready for the combined training camp of four New York Yankee minor league farm clubs, including the Monroe-West Monroe Cotton States League entry.

In addition to the Twin Cities, club participating in the Hattiesburg camp will be Bristol, Va., of the Appalachian League, McAlester, Okla., of the Sooner State League, and Owensboro, Ky., of the Kitty League. With the exception of the Sports, only Class C club with a full working agreement in the Yankee system, the other three are from the Class D circuits, and, since the Sports are in the higher classification, Skipper Head will be in the position of selecting the cream of the training camp.

Pitchers and catchers will report Monday week, and the outfielders and infielders are due to report in April 7.

Bill Skiff, a member of the Yankee family for years as a coach at Yankee Stadium as well as a manager of Yankee clubs of the high minors, will be camp director. He will be assisted by four scouts, managers of the four clubs, and Lannie Johnson, from the New York office, will serve as camp business manager.

After three weeks at Hattiesburg, Head comes home with his crew a couple of days ahead of the official season opener on April 26 here with the El Dorado Oilers.

High school baseball followers in some sectors are figuring the two B's—Bastrop and Bolton—as the teams most likely to furnish the Class AAA champion this spring with Coach Bob Brasher's Bastrop Rams defending.

But the West Monroe Rebels are looking mighty tough and could be a big threat to Bastrop's district crown. Coach Bobby Wilson can hardly contain his pride, not so much in the fact that he already shows a good challenger, but because many of his boys are freshmen and sophomores, insuring the Rebs of baseball power for the next two or three seasons at least.

Coach Herschel McConathy, new as a diamond tutor at Neville, finds most of the stars of the Tigers' Class A titled team gone, but the Bengals still can show plenty of fight, particularly with such a dangerous stickman as Wayne Causey still around. When Wayne poled two triples and a homer in a losing cause against West Monroe a couple of days ago, Coach Wilson of the Rebs termed him "probably the best single competitor we'll see all season."

The Ouachita Parish High Lions haven't had a chance to show yet, but Coach Jim Hodgins also lost several key performers and must work up new talent to fill the gaps. The Lions get the big test tomorrow when they open in a district conference game with West Monroe.

What Notre Dame is to football and Kentucky to basketball, so Tulane is to tennis. The Greenies, headed by Hamilton Richardson, twice National Collegiate champion, David Cupper, and the No. 3 U. S. amateur, have won 37 consecutive dual meets on their latest string. Coach J. Emmett Pare has compiled a dual meet record of 135 wins, 24 defeats, and 11 ties since becoming Tulane tennis coach in 1933. His teams have won 12 of 16 Southeastern Conference championships, and Tulanians like Cliff Sutter (1930-32), Ernie Sutter (1936-37), Jack Tuero (1949), and Richardson (1953-54) have taken a total of seven N. C. A. A. singles crowns in the past quarter-century. No other university can claim more than three.

Vicksburg, Twin Cities Are Last To Get Started

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The six Cotton States League clubs—including one new one—will intensify their campaigns in the next few weeks to line up players and fans.

With opening day less than a month away, few of the class C clubs have reported more than two or three team positions definitely filled. As for filling the stands, most clubs report a cold to medium warm reaction of fans to advance ticket-selling campaigns.

El Dorado, Greenville and Pine Bluff set up spring training camps last week; Hot Springs is scheduled to start workouts tomorrow; and Vicksburg—the new member—and Monroe plan to wait until April 4 to hold their first limbering up sessions.

Opening games are scheduled April 26.

Widespread financial shortages have been reported at several clubs for several seasons, but league president Emmet Hardy of Greenville says everything will "be okay if the newspapers will quit burying the league."

Every club is expecting help in the form of players from major league tieups, although some of the agreements are losely written to allow the cities to do their own player-procuring if they wish.

Vicksburg expects to build its team around holdovers from the 1954 Meridian, Miss., the club it replaced in the league lineup. Hot Springs already has been provided a new manager—Joe Lutz—by the Kansas City Athletics and is expecting five players from the American League outfit. Lutz succeeds Jackie Bales.

Two veterans, both former major leaguers, entered the league last week.

Vicksburg only last week signed as manager Fred (Pap) Williams, a 40-year-old former Cleveland Indian who has been in baseball 18 years. Williams has managed seven years and has finished out of the first division only once.

Another baseball veteran, 58-year-old George (Mickey) O'Neil, entered the Cotton States circuit as an owner last week. O'Neil, of St. Louis, became the third owner of the Bathers in less than two years. Charley Williamson had purchased the Hot Springs franchise during the 1954 season from Paul Dean.

The major league tieups are:

Hot Springs and Kansas City, El Dorado and New York Giants, Pine Bluff and Baltimore; Vicksburg and Milwaukee, Greenville and Detroit; Monroe and New York Yankees.

Some 25 aspirants—mostly players assigned by the New York Giants—reported to Parker at El Dorado's camp in Melbourne, Fla. That group included only three holdovers, pitcher Elmer Toth, second baseman Bobby Scott and catcher Luther Tucker.

The Pine Bluff Judges, training at home, already have signed the three men who played in the outfield most of last season. They are Bernie Tomicki, Doug Kassay and Robert Gonzalez. With Knoke to work behind the plate, the Judges have four positions set.

Hudlin is working his men at the Lakeland, Fla., farm base of the Detroit Tigers.

Vicksburg general manager C. B. (Dough) Rawlins said he has sent contracts to the following former members of the defunct Meridian club.

Pitchers Roy Jayne, 20-8 last year; Harold Cottle, 15-7, and Francis Patrick Healy, who had 22-18 over two seasons; outfielder Emmett Eugene Pompelia, who hit .330; and third baseman Wendal Francis Forbes, who had a .310 average.

Vicksburg will be fielding a pro team for the first time since the class B Southeastern League discontinued operations in 1950. The Billies will train at home.

Lutz is expecting pitchers Ed White and Vance Byrd, shortstop Larry Good and outfielder Dale Bragg to report to Hot Springs' Savannah, Ga. base for spring training tomorrow.

DIRECTORS MEET

Directors of the Twin Cities Baseball Corporation meet tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at Central Auto Sales to discuss plans for the opening of spring training at Hattiesburg on April 4, and make arrangements for the season opening Cotton States League game here April 26.

Directors are Dr. W. L. Bendel, president; J. H. "Slim" Scogin, vice president; Walter Savage, secretary-treasurer; R. D. Farr Jr., assistant secretary-treasurer; and Saul Adler, Nathan L. "Buddy" Blair, Steve Gilbert, Bob Hines, Cary Thompson, Clifford Strauss, F. N. "Sticky" Steele, and Kirt Touchstone.

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions, their baseball season start hindered by weather, expect to launch their campaign tomorrow with the Neville High Tigers on Neville's diamond in a regularly scheduled game although Coach Jim Hodgins' Lions have a postponed Neville game pending from last Thursday when the season opener was delayed by weather. The postponed game hasn't yet been rescheduled. Ouachita follows Neville with a Class AAA conference scrap with West Monroe Friday.

The Lions are shy eight players from last season, six of them starters, but they have some promising new talent to go with their few old hands in moulding their newest edition.

Gone are Neal Duncan, Billy Smith, Larry Barnes, Vivian Pettit, Bobby May, Carol George, Doyle Holstead, and Glynn Johnson, the later by eligibility woes, but Coach Hodgins has a squad of about 25 boys to provide blocks for the gaps.

Ike McMullen, only four - year player, is back to head the outfield. Pitchers are Floyd Duchesne and Jimmy Hunt, who saw service last season, and Tommy Doss, H. B. Bennett, Billy Thomas, and Eddie McGowan, the latter also a shortstop and third baseman who will probably be in the lineup when not pitching.

Johnny Maroney, Jeff Spence, Jackie DuPriest, Lanis Pettit, Joe Thurman, Dickie Crowe, Ralph Ward, T. L. Fuller, Paul Roye, Ronald Day and Dickie Culpepper appear as front - liners. Other good prospects are Robert Whitten, William McKay, Billy Roach, Tommy Godwin, Duke Yates, "Mac" McMillion, and Ronald Nichols.

The Lions were supposed to have opened against Neville here Thursday, but bad weather spiked the game. No date has been fixed for the postponement.

The Ouachita schedule:

March 28 —Neville, here.
April 1 —West Monroe, there.
April 4 —Calhoun, there.
April 6 —Bastrop, here.
April 12 —LaSalle, here.
April 15 —LaSalle at Olla.
April 20 —West Monroe, here.
April 25 —Calhoun, here.
April 29 —Bastrop, there.

Louisiana Tech Golf Team Wallops Rival

RUSTON, La., March 26 (AP)—Playing in bitter cold, Louisiana Tech today swamped Arkansas State Teacher's College golf team, 15½ to 2½.

The teams of Jack Rivers-Roy Nash and H. C. Menuet-C. B. McMahan yesterday advanced to the finals of the annual Bayou DeSiard Handicap Four-Ball Golf Tournament and will meet next Saturday to settle the championship.

Rivers and Nash, shooting a net 67, yesterday, eliminated Bobby Oliver and Dickie Thouchstone, 5 and 3, in their semi-final match. Menuet and McMahan, with an even par net 70, disposed of Theo Terzia and Tom Sandridge, 3 and 2.

It was also announced yesterday that Bayou DeSiard golfers will invade Vicksburg next Sunday for their first inter-city event of the season. It will mark the sixth annual event of cup play between Bayou DeSiard and Vicksburg linksmen with a cup going to the winner on a combination of points decided on home-and-home matches for the season.

Bayou DeSiard, readying for its sixth year of Vicksburg inter-club rivalry, has won the cup four of the five previous years. Local golfers planning to participate next Sunday are being required to register at Bayou DeSiard's Golf Shop.

Arkansas Derby Purse Captured By Trim Destiny

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 26 (AP)—G. R. White's favored Trim Destiny raced to a three-length victory in the $10,000 added Arkansas Derby today, closing feature at Oaklawn Park.

With L. C. Cook astride, the chesnut son of Destino and Trimlike completed the mile and one-eighth in 1:49 3-5, two-fifths off the track record set by Gushing Oil in 1952.

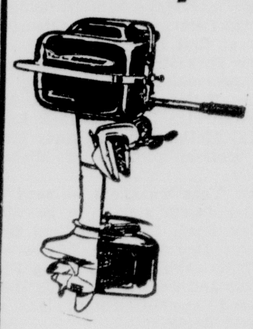

Mrs. A. M. Creech's Styrunner was second, a nose in front of J. C. Pollard's Shannon Comet. Hutcheson was fourth in the field of 11 3-year-olds.

Also rans were Jeffrey J. S. (an entry with Shannon Comet by J. H. Homan and Pollard), Prince Eric, Deodend, Harold I., Dutch Wyatt, Challa Boy and Tiger B.

Good Neighbor Net Finals For Seixas, Trabert

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The U. S. Davis Cup pair of Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert fought their way into a match for the Good Neighbor Tennis Championship today.

Trabert, Cincinnati, decisively defeated Argentine Champion Enrique Morea 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Seixas, the U. S. singles champion, eliminated fourth-ranked Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., in straight sets.

Trabert assumed command of his match from the first. He kept Morea near the baseline throughout and never permitted the tall, rangy South American to get going.

Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode, New York and Doris Hart, Coral Gales, the U. S. champion, will play in the women's singles finals tomorrow.

Mrs. Knode defeated Mrs. Barbara Schofield, Davidson, Milwaukee, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2. Miss Hart gained the finals yesterday with a victory over young Darlene Head, Montebello, Calif.

Jack Staton and Nathan Brandon, St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated Martin Tressel and Russ Unger, Pittsburgh, 6-1, 6-4 in the veterans doubles finals. Miss Hart and Barbara Briet, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. Knode and Miss Hard to win the women's doubles finals.

Seixas and Trabert play Larsen and Ulf Schmidt, Stockholm, Sweden, in the finals of the men's doubles Sunday.

Favored Nashua Romps Home 1st In Florida Race

MIAMI, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Belair stud's Nashua, 4 to 5 favorite, won the $148,750 Florida Derby today with a tremendous burst of speed that carried him to a neck victory in the mile and a furlong feature before 24,873 at Gulfstream Park.

Running for the first time in his life over a sloppy track, the big bay son of Nasrullah out of Segula by Johnstown sped the distance in 1:55 1-5 under 122 pounds with Eddie Arcaro riding.

H. C. Fruehauf's Bleu Lem finished second, two and a quarter lengths in front of Armer-Nail stables' First Cabin.

W. M. Peavey's Jett Flame finished fourth in the field of nine 3-year-olds and Montpelier Farm's Saratoga, the second choice at 3 to 1, was last.

Nashua, who has won nine out of 11 races and finished second in the others, paid $3.80, $3.30 and $2.90. Blue Lem paid $14.80 and $7.80 while the price on First Babin was $8.20 to show.

William Woodward Jr. of New York, owner of Nashua, picked up the winner's check of $100,000 and a gold trophy. The victory pushed Nashua's winnings to $302,340, including nearly $100,000 he earned in winning the recent Flamingo Stakes.

First Cabin set the early pace and Nance's Lad alternated for second with Munchausen for the first five furlongs. Nashua moved into second rounding the turn into the stretch and drove to victory ahead of the fast-closing Blue Lem.

Fifth behind Jett Flame was Chief, followed by Nance's Lad, Prince Noor, Munchausen and Saratoga. Craigwood was a late scratch.

'54-55 License Is Required Of Turkey Hunters

NEW ORLEANS March 26 (AP)—The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission reminded turkey hunters they must have the 1954-55 Louisiana hunting license in their possession when the six-day season opens.

The season opens April 1 and lasts through April 6. The commission said hunters will be forbidden to use dogs or bait or hunt at night. Hunting on game management areas and refuges will not be allowed.

The commission said hunters may kill one gobbler a day during the season in the Tensas, Madison, St. Tammany, St. Helena, Washington and Livingston parish area.

Celts Beat Nats, 100-97, To Remain In Pro Cage Race

BOSTON, March 26 (AP)—Boston's Easy Ed MaCauley and Bob Cousy combined their talents in a tense overtime today to give the Celtics a 100-97 victory over Syracuse and avoid elimination in the final eastern division playoff series of the National Basketball Association. Syracuse leads in the best-of-five series 2-1.

Cousy got five points and MaCauley three of Boston's 11 in the five-minute overtime before a national television audience and 13,091 Boston Garden fans. Cousy totaled 23 points and MaCauley 21.

The victory forced extension of the playoffs tomorrow afternoon at Boston Arena with a fifth game scheduled at Syracuse Tuesday, if necessary.

Boston, which had led with one exception from the start of the second quarter, was carried into the extra session when the Nats' George King tied it 89-89 on a free throw with 1:45 left in regulation time.

Bill Sharman, held to a game total of one basket and three free throws, hit from the charity line, Don Barksdale and MaCauley got buckets and Easy Ed connected on a free throw to give the Celtics a 95-89 lead before Syracuse could score in the overtime.

Rookie Johnny Kerr, the former University of Illinois flash who paced Syracuse with 20 points, dropped in two free throws to tighten the Celtics' margin to 98-95 with about a minute left. The Cousy fired in a rebound and Earl Lloyd's pair of gift tosses completed the scoring.

Major League Inventory

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—This is inventory time, when the managers take stock of their personnel, weighing credits against debits, as the spring training season swings into the final two weeks prior to the start of the regular campaign.

National League

New York strength — confidence of a champion; Johnny Antonelli's promise of greatness; Alvin Dark's leadership; Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom, brilliant relief pair; Dusty Rhodes and Bobby Hofman, outstanding reserves.

Milwaukee strength — best pitching in league with Warren Spahn, Gene Conley, Lew Burdette, and flock of good-looking youngsters; Bobby Thomson's clean bill of health following ankle fracture; best infield in league; steady improvement of Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock, Eddie Mathews and Del Crandall.

Brooklyn weakness — uncertainty of pitching comeback by Don Newcombe; advanced age of team's big guns; lack of standout pitchers; Robinson's susceptibility to injury; can Sandy Amoros hit lefthanded pitching?

St. Louis strength — Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst; improved defense with addition of third baseman Ken Boyer and outfielder Bill Virdon; improvement of second year men Alex Grammas, Wally Moon and Bill Sarni; addition of relief pitcher Frank Smith.

St. Louis weakness — pitching problem made more acute by loss of Vic Raschi for indefinite period; big question mark at first base; over - concentration of lefthanded hitters.

Cincinnati strength — most powerful attack in league headed by Ted Kluszewski; Roy McMillan and Johnny Temple, best double play combination in league.

Cincinnati weakness — no standout pitcher; no Redleg pitcher won more than 12 games in last two campaigns; Mednick's bench.

Chicago strength—Splendid infield headed by shortstop Ernie Banks and second baseman Gene Baker; promise of righthander Sam Jones and other young pitchers.

Pittsburgh weakness — veterans nearly over the hill and youngsters at least a year away; lack of extra base power; question marks at first, second, third and right field.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cleveland strength—superlative pitching made even more potent by addition of Herb Score; potential murderer's row of Larry Doby, Al Rosen, Vic Wertz and Ralph Kiner; brilliant hit - and - run pair of Al Smith and Bobby Avila.

Cleveland weakness — psychological effect of four straight World Series losses to Giants; Rosen still being bothered by right index finger broken last May; Kiner's fielding in right field and Wertz' defensive work at first base.

New York strength — Yogi Berra; spectacular spring hitting of rookie Elston Howard and Bill Skowron; steadiness of Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald and Andy Carey; brilliant promise of Mickey Mantle.

New York weakness — need of regular fourth starter to go with Whitey Ford, Bob Grim and Bob Turley; Don Larsen's sore arm; shortstop problem with aging Phil Rizzuto and weak hitting Billy Hunter and Jerry Coleman; lack of outfield depth.

Chicago strength —well provided in pitching; good speed, defense, hustle and fight; all-around ability of Minnie Minoso; fine double play combination in Nellie Fox and Chico Carrasquel; General Manager Frank Lane's trading ability.

Chicago weakness — George Kell's trick knee; need of another power hitter; doubt over Walt Dropo's ability to assume role of big RBI man; no outstanding rookie prospects.

Detroit strength — fine freshman array led by outfielders J. W. Porter and Bubba Phillips and pitcher Frank Lary; progress of youth movement as evidenced by rise of Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline, Bill Tuttle and Frank House.

Detroit weakness — concern over first baseman Ferris Fain's still troublesome knee; pitching shortage; need for more power and stouter bench.

Boston weakness — mediocre infield weakened further by inability to make double play and Milt Bollings injury; uncertainty of Ted Williams, who may be hampered by lack of training even if he decides to play.

Washington weakness — lack of long ball hitter, preferably an outfielder to flank Busby; inadequate double play combination.

Baltimore weakness — too many players that are either too young or too old; absence of power hitter to drive in runs; club hit 51 homers last only two more than Kluszewski hit by himself; already inadequate pitching staff hurt by sore arms of Duane Pillette and Ray Moore.

Kansas City strength — potential of third baseman Bob Finigan and pitcher Arnie Portocarrero; promise of several youngsters, particularly Hector Lopez, Art Ceccarelli and Hal Bevan; stimulus provided by switch from Philadelphia to Kansas City.

Kansas City weakness — Bobby Shantz' sore arm; failure to complete a single trade; practically same team lost 103 games last year, finished last in batting, fielding and standings. 'Nuff said.

Rematch Fields, Calento In Mat Feature Tuesday

The disputed wrestling rhubarb that saw the referee award one wrestler victory, the district wrestling commissioner claim in favor of the other, and resulted in Promoter Gus Kallio tying up their purses will get a rehash here Tuesday night when Lee Fields, Pawhuska, Okla., and Mario Calento, Bronx, N. Y., come back for the main event.

Calento, the lean long - hair with lots of class despite his villainy, got the nod from the referee, the Baby Blimp, also a wrestler, last week, but Commissioner Dave

LEE FIELDS

Silverstein, a witness, reversed the decision and claimed Fields, favorite of the customer, the winner because he had pinned Calento at a time when Baby Blimp was groveling on the floor at the ringside after he had been knocked out of the ring.

"Just to be fair with everybody, and particularly since the referee couldn't be blamed, we held up the purses and called for rematch," Promoter Kallio said. "The winner Tuesday gets the winner's share of both purses."

The match will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win.

Sets New Mark For 880 Run

BERKELEY, Calif., March 26 (AP)—Lonnie Spurrier, former University of California track captain now running for the San Francisco Olympic Club, set a new world record for the 880-yard run of 1:47.5 today.

Spurrier was clocked by "more than three" stop watches, as he finished what officials termed "a perfect race under perfect conditions."

The recognized world record of 1:48.6 was set by Mal Whitfield at Turku on July 17, 1953.

Spurrier, who returned this week from the Pan-American Games, was competing in a three-way meet with the University of California and the Santa Clara Youth center.

Colleges Award Telecast Rights For Grid Games

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company, which televised college football games in 1952 and 1953, today was given TV rights to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 1955 football program.

NBC got the nod, after a two-day meeting of the N.C.A.A.'s television committee, to televise a series of seven Saturday games plus a Thanksgiving Day game. Four of the Saturday dates are already set — Sept. 17, Oct. 1, Nov. 26 and Dec. 3. NBC will choose three more dates between Sept. 24 and Nov. 19.

The remaining five Saturdays will be devoted to regional telecasts, in which the colleges themselves will dicker with networks over terms.

NBC thus returns to the telecasting of American football after a season of handling the Canadian Football League. The American Broadcasting Company handled American college games last year.

The N.C.A.A. committee plan, just approved by the group's membership in a mail ballot, is a compromise between the advocates of national and regional television. In previous years, only one game was shown each week and it was televised nationally. But the Big 10 and Pacific Coast conferences led a strong drive for regional television over the winter.

The plan provides that a team may participate in one national and one intra-district regional telecast, or two intra-district dates if the national appearance is passed up.

Good Neighbor Net Finals For Seixas, Trabert

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 26 (AP)—The U. S. Davis Cup pair of Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert fought their way into a match for the Good Neighbor Tennis Championship today.

Trabert, Cincinnati, decisively defeated Argentine Champion Enrique Morea 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Seixas, the U. S. singles champion, eliminated fourth-ranked Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., in straight sets.

Trabert assumed command of his match from the first. He kept Morea near the baseline throughout and never permitted the tall, rangy South American to get going.

Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode, New York and Doris Hart, Coral Gales, the U. S. champion, will play in the women's singles finals tomorrow.

Mrs. Knode defeated Mrs. Barbara Schofield, Davidson, Milwaukee, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2. Miss Hart gained the finals yesterday with a victory over young Darlene Head, Montebello, Calif.

Jack Staton and Nathan Brandon, St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated Martin Tressel and Russ Unger, Pittsburgh, 6-1, 6-4 in the veterans doubles finals. Miss Hart and Barbara Briet, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. Knode and Miss Hard to win the women's doubles finals.

Seixas and Trabert play Larsen and Ulf Schmidt, Stockholm, Sweden, in the finals of the men's doubles Sunday.

Favored Nashua Romps Home 1st In Florida Race

MIAMI, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Belair stud's Nashua, 4 to 5 favorite, won the $148,750 Florida Derby today with a tremendous burst of speed that carried him to a neck victory in the mile and a furlong feature before 24,873 at Gulfstream Park.

Running for the first time in his life over a sloppy track, the big bay son of Nasrullah out of Segula by Johnstown sped the distance in 1:55 1-5 under 122 pounds with Eddie Arcaro riding.

H. C. Fruehauf's Bleu Lem finished second, two and a quarter lengths in front of Armer-Nail stables' First Cabin.

W. M. Peavey's Jett Flame finished fourth in the field of nine 3-year-olds and Montpelier Farm's Saratoga, the second choice at 3 to 1, was last.

Nashua, who has won nine out of 11 races and finished second in the others, paid $3.80, $3.30 and $2.90. Blue Lem paid $14.80 and $7.80 while the price on First Babin was $8.20 to show.

William Woodward Jr. of New York, owner of Nashua, picked up the winner's check of $100,000 and a gold trophy. The victory pushed Nashua's winnings to $302,340, including nearly $100,000 he earned in winning the recent Flamingo Stakes.

First Cabin set the early pace and Nance's Lad alternated for second with Munchausen for the first five furlongs. Nashua moved into second rounding the turn into the stretch and drove to victory ahead of the fast-closing Blue Lem.

Fifth behind Jett Flame was Chief, followed by Nance's Lad, Prince Noor, Munchausen and Saratoga. Craigwood was a late scratch.

'54-55 License Is Required Of Turkey Hunters

NEW ORLEANS March 26 (AP)—The Wildlife and Fisheries Commission reminded turkey hunters they must have the 1954-55 Louisiana hunting license in their possession when the six-day season opens.

The season opens April 1 and lasts through April 6. The commission said hunters will be forbidden to use dogs or bait or hunt at night. Hunting on game management areas and refuges will not be allowed.

The commission said hunters may kill one gobbler a day during the season in the Tensas, Madison, St. Tammany, St. Helena, Washington and Livingston parish area.

Celts Beat Nats, 100-97, To Remain In Pro Cage Race

BOSTON, March 26 (AP)—Boston's Easy Ed MaCauley and Bob Cousy combined their talents in a tense overtime today to give the Celtics a 100-97 victory over Syracuse and avoid elimination in the final eastern division playoff series of the National Basketball Association. Syracuse leads in the best-of-five series 2-1.

Cousy got five points and MaCauley three of Boston's 11 in the five-minute overtime before a national television audience and 13,091 Boston Garden fans. Cousy totaled 23 points and MaCauley 21.

The victory forced extension of the playoffs tomorrow afternoon at Boston Arena with a fifth game scheduled at Syracuse Tuesday, if necessary.

Boston, which had led with one exception from the start of the second quarter, was carried into the extra session when the Nats' George King tied it 89-89 on a free throw with 1:45 left in regulation time.

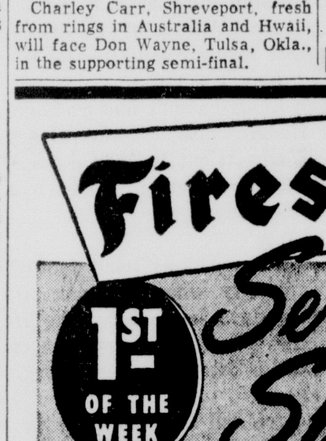

Bill Sharman, held to a game total of one basket and three free throws, hit from the charity line, Don Barksdale and MaCauley got buckets and Easy Ed connected on a free throw to give the Celtics a 95-89 lead before Syracuse could score in the overtime.

Rookie Johnny Kerr, the former University of Illinois flash who paced Syracuse with 20 points, dropped in two free throws to tighten the Celtics' margin to 98-95 with about a minute left. The Cousy fired in a rebound and Earl Lloyd's pair of gift tosses completed the scoring.

Rematch Fields, Calento In Mat Feature Tuesday

The disputed wrestling rhubarb that saw the referee award one wrestler victory, the district wrestling commissioner claim in favor of the other, and resulted in Promoter Gus Kallio tying up their purses will get a rehash here Tuesday night when Lee Fields, Pawhuska, Okla., and Mario Calento, Bronx, N. Y., come back for the main event.

Calento, the lean long - hair with lots of class despite his villainy, got the nod from the referee, the Baby Blimp, also a wrestler, last week, but Commissioner Dave

LEE FIELDS

Silverstein, a witness, reversed the decision and claimed Fields, favorite of the customer, the winner because he had pinned Calento at a time when Baby Blimp was groveling on the floor at the ringside after he had been knocked out of the ring.

"Just to be fair with everybody, and particularly since the referee couldn't be blamed, we held up the purses and called for rematch," Promoter Kallio said. "The winner Tuesday gets the winner's share of both purses."

The match will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win.

Sets New Mark For 880 Run

BERKELEY, Calif., March 26 (AP)—Lonnie Spurrier, former University of California track captain now running for the San Francisco Olympic Club, set a new world record for the 880-yard run of 1:47.5 today.

Spurrier was clocked by "more than three" stop watches, as he finished what officials termed "a perfect race under perfect conditions."

The recognized world record of 1:48.6 was set by Mal Whitfield at Turku on July 17, 1953.

Spurrier, who returned this week from the Pan-American Games, was competing in a three-way meet with the University of California and the Santa Clara Youth center.

Colleges Award Telecast Rights For Grid Games

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company, which televised college football games in 1952 and 1953, today was given TV rights to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 1955 football program.

NBC got the nod, after a two-day meeting of the N.C.A.A.'s television committee, to televise a series of seven Saturday games plus a Thanksgiving Day game. Four of the Saturday dates are already set — Sept. 17, Oct. 1, Nov. 26 and Dec. 3. NBC will choose three more dates between Sept. 24 and Nov. 19.

The remaining five Saturdays will be devoted to regional telecasts, in which the colleges themselves will dicker with networks over terms.

NBC thus returns to the telecasting of American football after a season of handling the Canadian Football League. The American Broadcasting Company handled American college games last year.

The N.C.A.A. committee plan, just approved by the group's membership in a mail ballot, is a compromise between the advocates of national and regional television. In previous years, only one game was shown each week and it was televised nationally. But the Big 10 and Pacific Coast conferences led a strong drive for regional television over the winter.

The plan provides that a team may participate in one national and one intra-district regional telecast, or two intra-district dates if the national appearance is passed up.

Major League Inventory

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP)—This is inventory time, when the managers take stock of their personnel, weighing credits against debits, as the spring training season swings into the final two weeks prior to the start of the regular campaign.

National League

New York strength — confidence of a champion; Johnny Antonelli's promise of greatness; Alvin Dark's leadership; Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom, brilliant relief pair; Dusty Rhodes and Bobby Hofman, outstanding reserves.

Milwaukee strength — best pitching in league with Warren Spahn, Gene Conley, Lew Burdette, and flock of good-looking youngsters; Bobby Thomson's clean bill of health following ankle fracture; best infield in league; steady improvement of Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock, Eddie Mathews and Del Crandall.

Brooklyn weakness — uncertainty of pitching comeback by Don Newcombe; advanced age of team's big guns; lack of standout pitchers; Robinson's susceptibility to injury; can Sandy Amoros hit lefthanded pitching?

St. Louis strength — Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst; improved defense with addition of third baseman Ken Boyer and outfielder Bill Virdon; improvement of second year men Alex Grammas, Wally Moon and Bill Sarni; addition of relief pitcher Frank Smith.

St. Louis weakness — pitching problem made more acute by loss of Vic Raschi for indefinite period; big question mark at first base; over - concentration of lefthanded hitters.

Cincinnati strength — most powerful attack in league headed by Ted Kluszewski; Roy McMilland and Johnny Temple, best double play combination in league.

Cincinnati weakness — no standout pitcher, no Redleg pitcher won more than 12 games in last two campaigns; Mediocre bench.

Chicago strength—Splendid infield headed by shortstop Ernie Banks and second baseman Gene Baker; promise of righthander Sam Jones and other young pitchers.

Pittsburgh weakness — veterans nearly over the hill and youngsters at least a year away; lack of extra base power; question marks at first, second, third and right field.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cleveland strength—superlative pitching made even more potent by addition of Herb Score; potential murderer's row of Larry Doby, Al Rosen, Vic Wertz and Ralph Kiner; brilliant hit - and - run pair of Al Smith and Bobby Avila.

Cleveland weakness — psychological effect of four straight World Series losses to Giants; Rosen still being bothered by right index finger broken last May; Kiner's fielding in right field and Wertz' defensive work at first base.

New York strength — Yogi Berra; spectacular spring hitting of rookie Elston Howard and Bill Skowron; steadiness of Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald and Andy Carey; brilliant promise of Mickey Mantle.

New York weakness — need of regular fourth starter to go with Whitey Ford, Bob Grim and Bob Turley; Don Larsen's sore arm; shortstop problem with aging Phil Rizzuto and weak hitting Billy Hunter and Jerry Coleman; lack of outfield depth.

Chicago strength —well provided in pitching; good speed, defense, hustle and fight; all-around ability of Minnie Minoso; fine double play combination in Nellie Fox and Chico Carrasquel; General Manager Frank Lane's trading ability.

Chicago weakness — George Kell's trick knee; need of another power hitter; doubt over Walt Dropo's ability to assume role of big RBI man; no outstanding rookie prospects.

Detroit strength — fine freshman array led by outfielders J. W. Porter and Bubba Phillips and pitcher Frank Lary; progress of youth movement as evidenced by rise of Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline, Bill Tuttle and Frank House.

Detroit weakness — concern over first baseman Ferris Fain's still troublesome knee; pitching shortage; need for more power and stouter bench.

Boston weakness — mediocre infield weakened further by inability to make double play and Milt Bollings injury; uncertainty of Ted Williams, who may be hampered by lack of training even if he decides to play.

Washington weakness — lack of long ball hitter, preferably an outfielder to flank Busby; inadequate double play combination.

Baltimore weakness — too many players that are either too young or too old; absence of power hitter to drive in runs; club hit 51 homers last only two more than Kluszewski hit by himself; already inadequate pitching staff hurt by sore arms of Duane Pillette and Ray Moore.

Kansas City strength — potential of third baseman Bob Finigan and pitcher Arnie Portocarrero; promise of several youngsters, particularly Hector Lopez, Art Ceccarelli and Hal Bevan; stimulus provided by switch from Philadelphia to Kansas City.

Kansas City weakness — Bobby Shantz' sore arm; failure to complete a single trade; practically same team lost 103 games last year, finished last in batting, fielding and standings. 'Nuff said.

Northeast Facing Delta State Invasion Tomorrow

Luffey's Indians Quest For Third Win Of Campaign

Northeast States' Indians have wrapped up practice drills and are waiting for an engagement with Delta State Teachers of Cleveland, Miss., here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Coach George Luffey will have his team take the field in quest of a third victory for the current season.

The Tribe has a pitching staff of seven which includes veterans Joe Jordan and "Bo" Laird. Backing up these ace hurlers are rookies Bob Watts, Bob Bertz, Carol George, Tom Hutson and Charles McBeth.

Jordan was named as a pitcher on last year's all-G.S.C. team. His 5 -won 2 -lost record last season lead Tribemen hurlers. Included in his performances was a no-hit no-run game against McNeese.

Laird, scheduled to start tomorrow, posted a 4-3 mark last season. His strong right arm is expected to bear a heavy load for the Indians during the campaign. Bob Betz's remarkable control and Bob Watts' fast ball have impressed Coach Luffey among the freshmen crop.

Opening the season by sweeping a double header from Mississippi College on March 14, the Indians will go into Monday's contest near full strength. Dick Campbell is the only member of the squad not ready for action. He is sidelined with a broken ankle received during practice.

Sam Campbell, second base, and Tommy Leos, center field, once again will be expected to carry the big war clubs for the Indians. Their ability in hitting was displayed against the Choctaws. Campbell accounted for a home run and triple and Leos knocked a base loaded homer.

Don Stewart will handle the short stop position as he has done for the past two years, with Harold Davis remaining in the "hot corner". Freshman Bobby Mays at first and dependable Billy Thompson, catching, round out the infield.

Vincent, Patty Take Gallia Doubles Title

Cannes, France, March 26 (AP) — Tony Vincent of New York and Budge Patty of Los Angeles today won the men's doubles title of the Gallia International Lawn Tennis Tournament, defeating Bernard Destremau of France and Vladislav Skonecki, a Polish exile 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

In an all-British final, Shirley Bloomer and Patricia Ward took the women's doubles crown by defeating Joan Curry and Angela Buxton, 5-7, 7-5, 6-1.

CARRIES HOME HOPES—"Hurtling Herschel" Buchanan, Shreveport, will carry the hopes of his home following into the 100-lap Gulf States Championship race for late model stock cars this afternoon at the Louisiana State Fair Grounds in Shreveport. Drivers from 13 states are entered.

St. Matthew's Plasters L. T. I. With 20-5 Loss

The Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's High capitalized on the wildness of Louisiana Training Institute pitching to wallop the Pelicans, 20 to 5, in a baseball game on L. T. I. field yesterday. Sixteen bases on balls, coupled with ten hits, helped the Irish along.

Jackie Norman, hurling for St. Matthew's, walked only one batter and allowed just five hits to notch the victory.

Joe Bruscato, lead off batter for the Irish, exploded with a home run to open the game, and Norman helped his cause with two triples. Donaldson's triple was L. T. I.'s longest hit.

The Irish will meet Mangham's Dragons here Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Northeast State diamond.

Irish Luck Rides With Quare Times In Steeplechase

AINTREE, England, March 26 (AP)—Sure-footed Quare Times from the land of the Shamrock won a muddy and dangerous Grand National today to give Irish trainer Vincent O'Brien an unprecedented third straight victory in the world's premier steeplechase.

The 9 - year - old bay gelding jumped slow but safe over the waterlogged course and splashed home in the gloom and mist 12 astonishing lengths ahead of Tudor Line, the top English threat.

With a wildly cheering crowd including Queen Elizabeth and other members of the royal family watching, jockey Pat Taaffe made it another big Irish show as he piloted his mount around the treacherous course. Carey's Cottage, another Irish entry, finished third, four lengths behind Tudor Line.

Gigolo finished fourth and Ontray was fifth.

Kicking, Cussing Tag On Stengel By Photographer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26 (AP) —Casey Stengel, the man who made baseball history by managing the New York Yankees to five straight pennants, today was charged with assault on a photographer and use of profane language.

According to an affidavit by Brannan (Sandy) Sanders, photographer fro the St. Petersburg Independent, Stengel used profane language and kicked Sanders on the right leg during the Yanks exhibition game with Brooklyn yesterday.

Stengel posted $50 bond each charge after the warrants were served at Miller Huggins Field. The warrants, issued by Peace Justice Edward P. Silk, are returnable before Peace Justice Clyde M. Kissinger Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. (CST).

Reached at the Yankee clubhouse, Stengel at first refused comment. Later he told reporters "This whole thing is being blown up out of proportion. All I told the fellow was to get out of the way, that he was in the line of vision. Sure, I yelled at him and told him to get out, when he sat down in the dugout because he didn't belong there. He said he had to make a living, and I told him we had to make one too."

Mexico's Horsemen Win To Climax Pan-Am Show

By TED SMITS

MEXICO CITY, March 26 (AP)—In a fitting climax and on a beautiful sunny day, Mexico's crack horsemen today won the classic prize of the nations as the second Pan - American Games came to a dramatic close.

The U. S. A. swept the opening event—the high jump—of these western hemispheric Olympics 13 days ago and wound up as the big winner in the unofficial scoring with 1,434½ points.

A crowd of 110,000 jammed the saucer-shaped stadium for the equestrian obstacle competition and the colorful closing ceremonies. Mexico was favored to win the final athletic contest and her riders didn't let her down.

Led by the veteran internationalist, General Humberto Mariles, the host nation scored a low total of 71.75 points to win. Argentina was second with 89.65 and Chile third with 115.95. The U. S., the only other nation entered, was eliminated because two members failed to complete the second round of 15 obstacles on the course.

Gen. Mariles, and his teammates, Captain Joaquin D'Harcourt, and Lts. Jaime De La Garza and Roberto Vinals, were accorded a tremendous ovation by the huge throng. It seemed like every Mexican in the brightly decked stadium let loose with a full-throated roar.

Chile could have ousted Venezuela from fourth place with victory today but had to settle for third and four points, winding up with 154 to Venezuela's 155.

Thousands of vari-colored balloons were released by a group of attractive girls clad in shorts. Then the flags of the 22 competing nations were lowered from their standards in the semi-circle before the tribune of honor in the vast stadium.

The formal closing speech was made by Minister of Education Jose Angel Ceniceros, as personal representative of President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, who was unable to attend.

"The games have demonstrated," Secretary Ceniceros said, "That the Americans are as strong in the field of sports as any other area of the world.

"As for Mexico, he continued, "the games brought us many helpful experiences in preparing for the various events and in receiving our good neighbors from throughout the hemisphere."

Dusk was gathering over the stadium when the games' torch was extinguished. This seemed to be a signal to the spectators. They brought out their rolled newspapers, lit them, and waved their flares. There were thousands of them burning away the coming gloom of the night.

It was the finish of a brilliant two-week show, highlighted by spectacular performances in the premier competition — track and field.

Highlight of the track and field competition was the breaking of two world records. Adhemar Ferreira Da Silva of Brazil set a new mark of 16.56 meters (54 feet, 44 inches) in the hop, step, and jump, and Lou Jones of the United States won his first major race of the year, and a world record to boot, in the 400 meters in :45.4.

The United States dominated men's and women's track and field, won the men and women's basketball championships, raced away in swimming, topped weight lifting, and took gymnastics, swimming, shooting and volleyball.

Argentina, winner of the first games, took boxing, cycling, soccer, rowing, and water polo. The U. S. A. and Argentina divided in wrestling. The Dominican Republic won the baseball championship, and Mexico captured honors in the modern pentathlon and tennis.

Northeast Facing Delta State Invasion Tomorrow

Luffey's Indians Quest For Third Win Of Campaign

Northeast States' Indians have wrapped up practice drills and are waiting for an engagement with Delta State Teachers of Cleveland, Miss., here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Coach George Luffey will have his team take the field in quest of a third victory for the current season.

The Tribe has a pitching staff of seven which includes veterans Joe Jordan and "Bo" Laird. Backing up these ace hurlers are rookies Bob Watts, Bob Bertz, Carol George, Tom Hutson and Charles McBeth.

Jordan was named as a pitcher on last year's all-G.S.C. team. His 5 -won 2 -lost record last season lead Tribemen hurlers. Included in his performances was a no-hit no-run game against McNeese.

Laird, scheduled to start tomorrow, posted a 4-3 mark last season. His strong right arm is expected to bear a heavy load for the Indians during the campaign. Bob Betz's remarkable control and Bob Watts' fast ball have impressed Coach Luffey among the freshmen crop.

Opening the season by sweeping a double header from Mississippi College on March 14, the Indians will go into Monday's contest near full strength. Dick Campbell is the only member of the squad not ready for action. He is sidelined with a broken ankle received during practice.

Sam Campbell, second base, and Tommy Leos, center field, once again will be expected to carry the big war clubs for the Indians. Their ability in hitting was displayed against the Choctaws. Campbell accounted for a home run and triple and Leos knocked a base loaded homer.

Don Stewart will handle the short stop position as he has done for the past two years, with Harold Davis remaining in the "hot corner". Freshman Bobby Mays at first and dependable Billy Thompson, catching, round out the infield.

Vincent, Patty Take Gallia Doubles Title

Cannes, France, March 26 (AP) — Tony Vincent of New York and Budge Patty of Los Angeles today won the men's doubles title of the Gallia International Lawn Tennis Tournament, defeating Bernard Destremau of France and Vladislav Skonecki, a Polish exile 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

In an all-British final, Shirley Bloomer and Patricia Ward took the women's doubles crown by defeating Joan Curry and Angela Buxton, 5-7, 7-5, 6-1.

CARRIES HOME HOPES—"Hurtling Herschel" Buchanan, Shreveport, will carry the hopes of his home following into the 100-lap Gulf States Championship race for late model stock cars this afternoon at the Louisiana State Fair Grounds in Shreveport. Drivers from 13 states are entered.

St. Matthew's Plasters L. T. I. With 20-5 Loss

The Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's High capitalized on the wildness of Louisiana Training Institute pitching to wallop the Pelicans, 20 to 5, in a baseball game on L. T. I. field yesterday. Sixteen bases on balls, coupled with ten hits, helped the Irish along.

Jackie Norman, hurling for St. Matthew's, walked only one batter and allowed just five hits to notch the victory.

Joe Bruscato, lead off batter for the Irish, exploded with a home run to open the game, and Norman helped his cause with two triples. Donaldson's triple was L. T. I.'s longest hit.

The Irish will meet Mangham's Dragons here Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Northeast State diamond.

Thousands of vari-colored balloons were released by a group of attractive girls clad in shorts. Then the flags of the 22 competing nations were lowered from their standards in the semi-circle before the tribune of honor in the vast stadium.

The formal closing speech was made by Minister of Education Jose Angel Ceniceros, as personal representative of President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, who was unable to attend.

"The games have demonstrated," Secretary Ceniceros said, "That the Americans are as strong in the field of sports as any other area of the world.

"As for Mexico, he continued, "the games brought us many helpful experiences in preparing for the various events and in receiving our good neighbors from throughout the hemisphere."

Dusk was gathering over the stadium when the games' torch was extinguished. This seemed to be a signal to the spectators. They brought out their rolled newspapers, lit them, and waved their flares. There were thousands of them burning away the coming gloom of the night.

It was the finish of a brilliant two-week show, highlighted by spectacular performances in the premier competition — track and field.

Highlight of the track and field competition was the breaking of two world records. Adhemar Ferreira Da Silva of Brazil set a new mark of 16.56 meters (54 feet, 44 inches) in the hop, step, and jump, and Lou Jones of the United States won his first major race of the year, and a world record to boot, in the 400 meters in :45.4.

The United States dominated men's and women's track and field, won the men and women's basketball championships, raced away in swimming, topped weight lifting, and took gymnastics, swimming, shooting and volleyball.

Argentina, winner of the first games, took boxing, cycling, soccer, rowing, and water polo. The U. S. A. and Argentina divided in wrestling. The Dominican Republic won the baseball championship, and Mexico captured honors in the modern pentathlon and tennis.

Union On Record For Defiance Of Segregation Laws

ATLANTA, March 26 (AP)—A call for open defiance of Southern segregation laws to invite court tests was made at a meeting of representatives of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO).

The meeting of packinghouse workers from 13 Southern states ended Friday after a resolution was passed calling for a 10 million dollar joint AFL-CIO drive against segregation. About 150 delegates, white and Negro, attended the meeting of workers from districts 8 and 9, UPWA.

The call to violate segregation laws came during a panel discussion on transportation. Delegates urged Southern Negroes to "break the law and sit where you please."

The resolution was a 10-point affair calling for attacks on segregation on every front.

One of the points called on President Eisenhower to place federal controls on any state school system which refuses to go along with the U.S. Supreme Court's segregation ruling.

During the two-day convention, A. T. Stephens of Chicago, vice president of the UPW-CIO, attacked Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia and other Southern leaders for their efforts to keep segregation.

Edmund Dumas, southeastern director of UPWA and host to the conference, said the anti-segregation program would go into effect in his area immediately.

Districts 8 and 9 of the UPWA includes Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico.

You can use leftover liquids drained from cooked, canned or frozen fruits in gelatin dishes.

Card of Thanks (2)

CARD OF THANKS

Dear Friends and Relatives: I am at a loss for words to express my sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness bestowed upon me during my nearly two months of confinement in St. Francis Hospital.

The prayers by the pastor and church organization, the special attention given me by Drs. Lyles, Yount and Sartor. Also the entire staff of the hospital. And, too, the visits, phone calls, cards and letters, flowers, gifts and trays of food made the days seem shorter for me.

And to Mr. C. L. Sprinkfield, Mr. Henry Mann and Mr. Marvin Evans, who shared their blood with me I shall ever be grateful and it is our prayer that the Lord will richly bless each of you.

T. G. FOSTER AND FAMILY

Union On Record For Defiance Of Segregation Laws

ATLANTA, March 26 (AP)—A call for open defiance of Southern segregation laws to invite court tests was made at a meeting of representatives of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO).

The meeting of packinghouse workers from 13 Southern states ended Friday after a resolution was passed calling for a 10 million dollar joint AFL-CIO drive against segregation. About 150 delegates, white and Negro, attended the meeting of workers from districts 8 and 9, UPWA.

The call to violate segregation laws came during a panel discussion on transportation. Delegates urged Southern Negroes to "break the law and sit where you please."

The resolution was a 10-point affair calling for attacks on segregation on every front.

One of the points called on President Eisenhower to place federal controls on any state school system which refuses to go along with the U.S. Supreme Court's segregation ruling.

During the two-day convention, A. T. Stephens of Chicago, vice president of the UPW-CIO, attacked Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia and other Southern leaders for their efforts to keep segregation.

Edmund Dumas, southeastern director of UPWA and host to the conference, said the anti-segregation program would go into effect in his area immediately.

Districts 8 and 9 of the UPWA includes Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana anl New Mexico.

You can use leftover liquids drained from cooked, canned or frozen fruits in gelatin dishes.

Card of Thanks (2)

CARD OF THANKS

Dear Friends and Relatives: I am at a loss for words to express my sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness bestowed upon me during my nearly two months of confinement in St. Francis Hospital.

The prayers by the pastors and church organizations, the faithful attention given me by Drs. Liles, Yancy and Sartor. Also the entire staff of the hospital. And, too, the visits, phone calls, cards and letters, flowers, gifts and trays of food made the days seem shorter for me.

And to Mr. C. L. Springfield, Mr. Henry Mann and Mr. Marvin Evans, who shared their blood with me. I shall ever be grateful and it is our prayer that the Lord will richly bless each of you.

I. G. FOSTER AND FAMILY

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of our kind friends and neighbors for their floral offerings and many kind expressions of sympathy and condolence during our recent bereavement. All have our everlasting gratitude.

PRESENTING
A New Kind Of Electric Typewriter
THE NEW ROYAL ELECTRIC
A typewriter that gives you new freedom . . . new ease of operation . . . the typewriter that was engineered with YOU in mind!

NEW FEATURES:

SPEED-FLO-KEYBOARD—Try it! You'll discover that the touch is smoother, faster, and lighter than that found on any electric typewriter yet designed.
COPY CONTROL—Sparkling carbons are now your meat with this major improvement. Just ask our salesman to demonstrate it to you.
FOOLPROOF REPEAT KEYS—Underscore . . . make hyphens - - space backward or forward - just by holding down the right key. You can't make a mistake, because these repeat keys operate independently of the regular keys. A ROYAL ELECTRIC exclusive!
INSTANT SPACE-UP KEY—You don't have to reach for the carriage knobs. You don't have to push the carriage return key. No matter where you are in a line, you just touch a bar and instantly you get as many spaces up as you like.
"MAGIC" MARGIN—Another Royal exclusive that gives you the fastest, easiest known method of setting margin. It does it automatically thanks to the only spring-impelled margins in the electric field.

NEW ROYALS ALSO AVAILABLE IN EXCITING PASTEL COLORS!

PRESENTING
A New Kind Of Electric Typewriter
THE NEW ROYAL ELECTRIC
A typewriter that gives you new freedom . . . new ease of operation . . . the typewriter that was engineered with YOU in mind!
NEW FEATURES:
SPEED-FLO-KEYBOARD—Try it! You'll discover that the touch is smoother, faster, and lighter than that found on any electric typewriter yet designed.
COPY CONTROL—Sparkling carbons are now your meat with this major improvement. Just ask our salesman to demonstrate it to you.
FOOLPROOF REPEAT KEYS—Underscore . . . make hyphens . . . space backward or forward—just by holding down the right key. You can't make a mistake, because these repeat keys operate independently of the regular keys. A ROYAL ELECTRIC exclusive!
INSTANT SPACE-UP KEY—You don't have to reach for the carriage knobs. You don't have to push the carriage return key. No matter where you are in a line, you just touch a bar and instantly you get as many spaces up as you like.
"MAGIC" MARGIN—Another Royal exclusive that gives you the fastest, easiest known method of setting margin. It does it automatically thanks to the only spring-impelled margins in the electric field.
NEW ROYALS ALSO AVAILABLE IN EXCITING PASTEL COLORS!

808 NORTH 4th
Here's an unusual purchase in investment property in an unusually good location! Three apartments furnished, two unfurnished. Gross Revenue $265 monthly. Property in excellent condition! The lot fronts 143 ft. on 4th street, depth 50 feet. It's shown by appointment only and we'll be glad to show today!

1431 CEDAR
"I'm in sad shape!" "Physically . . . I'm a dream!" "Mentally . . . I'm a little depressed, for I'm brand new and my owners (who built me and just moved in) have been transferred!" "Come see my: glistening oak block floors throughout; my central air conditioning and heating; my insulation (walls and ceiling); my 2 roomy bedrooms; my spacious 12x18 kitchen with loads of cabinet space; my pink tile bath; and my other features galore! $2995 down (FHA) makes the move!

511 SOUTH 4TH
1596 sq. feet of living area for only $8250 and $850 down (FHA) buys it all! It consists of 5 rooms with 13x17 living room . . . 12x13 dining room and 2 roomy bedrooms. Has hardwood floors, detached garage. Venetian blinds and other features that we'll gladly show today! Wants look?

201 GEORGIA
IF YOU cater to well-landscaped yards and reasonably priced homes . . . take a few minutes this p.m. and let us show this happy home! It's white asbestos with 2 bedrooms; hardwood floors; Venetian blinds; the lot's 57½'; nice size kitchen with stovehood and built-in ironing board and the yard's a perfect dream! Its all yours for only $400 down!

1413 SOUTH 5TH
WE WISH you'd take a few moments this afternoon to inspect this one thoroughly! It's just a half block from the Plum St. school; it has a pleasing shade of brown asbestos siding; and talk about features . . . how's this: 2 roomy bedrooms (one with two closets) and the other with a walk-in closet); blue bath fixtures; central heating; attic's insulated; copper plumbing and carport with storage. It's selling for $9450 (FHA value!) with only $600 down!

209 ERIN
IT'S ABSOLUTELY a "steal" at the asking price of $10,500. for look what it buys! 1300 Sq. feet of living area: wonderful northside neighborhood; spacious living room and separate dining room; 3 nice size bedrooms; tile bath; oak floors; kitchen has washer and dryer connections; has breakfast room and wonderful shade all day from huge pecan trees! If you're a veteran, closing costs is all it takes on a 100% G. I. loan.

405 PARGOUD DRIVE
FROM THE 90' lot to the double carport to the 1200 sq. feet of living area . . . it's spacious! Here's a brand new brick with 3 bedrooms (all with double sliding door closets); central heating; insulated attic; well proportioned living room facing the rear of the lot; attractive dining area; 10x19 kitchen with Formica cabinet tops; washer plumbing and breakfast area; double carport and "loads" of other features! It's already financed and $2730 down makes the move!

3705 GRAMMONT
YOU COULD "scratch around" for weeks and not come up with a better buy than this 2-bedroom AND paneled den home that's selling for only $9500! It has 1270 sq. feet; both bedrooms are 11x15; there's a 12x20 living room; the paneled den is 12x20; has oak floors; and it's on a 75' lot! $1050 down makes the move!

414 WILMUTH
TALK ABOUT good condition . . . there's not a blemish on this 1-year-old youngster, and for proof . . . let us show you today! And while we are at it, we'll show you also the two nice size bedrooms; the 2 wall furnaces; the well-arranged kitchen with stovehood, washer plumbing and nice cabinet space; the carport with storage; the 30 gallon heater and the paved street. It's vacant and priced at only $8750.

501 FILHIOL
HERE'S AN excellent value in a 2-bedroom and den home and it's on a 70' corner lot at that! It's asbestos siding with these features: 2 bedrooms and a den; roomy living room and separate dining room; hardwood floors; 3 floor furnaces and attic fan; well-arranged kitchen and a separate breakfast room; has 8x13 side screened porch and a detached garage! It's priced at $14,294 with $2894 down FHA!

118 SHORT NORTH 5TH
HERE'S THAT 3-bedroom home within a "stone's throw" of the West Monroe High school and Millsaps Grammar that possibly you've been yearning for! It's roomy (1174 sq. feet) and . . . ever so livable with the following features: 3 nice size bedrooms; asbestos siding; 4 wall furnaces; attic fan; 12x21 kitchen with huge breakfast area; carport with storage; 75' lot on paved street (well-landscaped); washer plumbing! $1700 down makes the move on FHA financing! We'll gladly show today!

HALSELL DRIVE
IF YOU'RE "hankerin" for country living and a splendid home with all conveniences not too far from West Monroe . . . listen to this! Here's a large (1496 sq. feet of living area) home only a year and a half old with every one of the following features and then some "to boot"! 3 bedrooms (the smallest is 14x14); bath and a half; 14x22 living room; wall furnaces; 42" attic fan; textone walls; natural woodwork throughout 30" dug water well, 60' deep; situated on a spacious lot with nice trees and it's just a half a block off the White's Ferry Road. There's also a carport and breezeway! $13,650 is the price!

1612 MILTON
IT'S A "problem solver" If you've a large family but so far you haven't found a well - located home to fit it! It's spacious (1800 sq. feet of living area) with 3 unusually large bedrooms and two tile baths; central heating; beautiful living room and dining area both have wall-to-wall carpeting and there's a Roman brick fireplace; the 14x18 kitchen has an abundance of cabinet space as well as . . . GE dishwasher, and disposal, washer plumbing and roomy breakfast area; has a 12x14' den with a closet; it's on a 100' lot with paving and just two blocks to Lexington Grammar! It's priced at $21,500 with $3800 down!

3410 POLK
IF YOU'VE a "bashful budget" . . . we've a home tailored to fit it! It's a 3-year-old beauty on a beautifully landscaped 52' corner lot (just 2 blocks from Lida Benton Grammar school) that's truly unique! It possesses: asbestos siding; the interior is completely pine-paneled; copper plumbing; 2 bedrooms; attic fan; spacious 13x14 kitchen; and one 12x16 bedroom! $500 down (including everything) makes the move with monthly notes of only $48. It's vacant and we'll gladly show today!

121 VERNON
WE'D SURE be tickled to show you this splendid purchase this p.m., for it's on a 100' lot . . . has 1044 sq. feet of well-arranged floor space; hardwood floors; a 14x21 kitchen with a host of good features; 2 roomy bedrooms; front screened porch; attic fan and also a garage! It's priced at $9000 with $1150 down.

Charity League 'Follies Of 1955' Well-Received

Burlesque, satire, ridicule and smiles were all packed into the "Follies of 1955" presented by the Junior Charity League last night in Neville Auditorium.

Under the direction of David Jones of New York City, local talent turned professional and provided a most receptive audience with two and a half hours of lighthearted merriment.

As the curtain rose on the first act, Charity Leaguers Marie Cookston, Joan Sager, Leila Ewing, Bitza Brown, June Sandridge, Camille Wood and June Holmes, in typical show costumes, inquired how to start the show.

A pomp demonstration was given by Dixie Johnson, Linda Hornbeak, Janet Mahaffey, Marianna Altick, Ashley Hamilton, Louise Doernberg, Gaye Olcott, Moyna Ann McKenzie, Sallie Oliver, Betty Hand, Ila Mae Jones, Martha Williams, Carolyn Futrell, Eleanor Cammack and Snuggie Burnett.

Marilyn Taylor, Fred Fudickar and John Kelso combined their talents for a strange interlude.

Adding a touch of spring and sports to the Follies was Barbara Baird, who appeared in an unusually attractive tennis outfit.

Among the most comical of the scenes of the follies centered around Stan Bagwell, characterized as stupid, and his buddies, Miles Sager, John McQuaid, Edmund Brown and Theo Terzia. Equally as humorous were Hazel Calloway as Cleopatra, Dottie Johnson, as Mary of Scotland, Camille Wood, Catherine the Great, Barbara Easterling, Josephine Bonaparte, and Joyce Kellogg as Mae West.

Junior executives in the business district beat were Lovell Hayden, Harry Hubenthal, Tom Hayland, Derwood Cann, Jack Taylor and Grady Merriman. The merry secretaries who proved preposterous were Naomi Durrett, Mary McHenry, June Holmes, Jean Brown, Arabella Cann, Leila Ewing and Bitza Brown.

"It's a riot to diet" with Joyce Kellogg as Marilyn, Beth Breese as Wallis, Bob Ledbetter as Hopalong and Phil Saragusa as Harry was a fantistic mock.

Also bringing applauds from the audience was Joe F. Smith, Jr.'s pantomine of Al Jolson.

Camille Wood and Jennings Wilkins combined their talents for a duet "Romance in Song which was followed by a Silver Anniversary waltz beautifully executed by Jack McCook and Betty Sue Parker; Harry Hubenthal and Camille Wood Tom Hyland and Rosanne Frazier; Jack Taylor and Dot Hyland; Irma George and Bobby George; Klein Crow and Virginia Crow; Fred Huenefeld and Jibby Fox.

Flappers Rosanne Frazier, Naomi Durrett, Eileen Rubin, Betty Sue Parker, Bitza Brown, Leila Ewing, Jibby Fox, Tettie Dixon and the Cake-Eaters, Klien Crow, Tom Hyland, Jack Taylor, Jack McCook, Grady Merriman, Lovell Hayden, Fred Heunefeld, Jr., and Dickie Touchstone comprised a dance-team for the Charleston in early-twenty costumes.

Another comical skit was that in which Marilyn Taylor appeared as a baby, Bub Calloway, creepy, Sonny Dixon, bartender, H. B. Hargrove, Al Capone, John McQuaid, legs diamond, Bob Downing, Greasy Thumb and Brents Witty, baby face.

Nancy Ledbetter portrayed Helen Morgan and Jibby Fox Bubbles.

Jack Smith was the star in the skit "Girls! Girls! Girls!" with Alice Smith, Jean Dixon, Virginia Allen, Tommye Sue Sartor, Pat Merriman and Sara Terzia as his fans.

Climaxing the evening was a court scene with Paul Ransom as the Chief Justice, Bobbie Moore as Mlle. Fifi La Tour and Grant Boardman, Jack Neel, Lon Heuer, Amos Shelton, Hank Hargrove, Haynes Harkey, Dick Touchstone and Bill McDowell as associate justices.

Brantly-Keasler Vows Said In Church Ceremony

On Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, Miss Lillian Ann Keasler became the bride of James Larkin Brantly. The ceremony was said in the First Baptist Church of Delhi with Reverend G. F. Stinebaugh officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Langdon Keasler and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Brantly of Homer.

An arch entwined with yellow blossoms and greenery with pedestal baskets of yellow gladioli and white stock at either side was placed on the rostrum before a background of greenery. White satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. She was wearing a wool suit of powder blue with a becoming hat of white. A white orchid was pinned at the neckline of her suit and her accessories were in white.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. J. G. Waters of Oak Grove, who wore a light blue suit with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Mr. Brantly served his son as best man. The ushers included J. G. Waters, Marvin Brantly, Ed Michael and L. J. Blackwelder.

Mrs. J. B. Smith presented the nuptial music and accompanied Miss Mary Kathryn Keasler, vocalist.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mrs. Keasler wearing a dress of navy silk with navy and pink accessories and a corsage of white carnations was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Brantly, mother of the groom who wore a pearl gray dress with yellow carnation corsage, the bridal couple and members of the wedding party.

Spring blossoms decorated the receiving rooms, and in the dining room the bride's table, covered with a white cut work cloth, was centered with a tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses. The yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the flower arrangements and in the fruit punch served from crystal bowls, presided over by Miss Margaret Ann Tatum, assisted by Miss Peggy Brantly, sister of the bridegroom, Misses Caliope Poulos and Mrs. Johnny Schmidt. Miss Mildred Smith presided over the bride's book.

After a wedding trip the young couple will be at home at 906 North Main St. in Homer.

Out of town guests for the wedding were, Miss Amy Lou Smith, Miss Irene Fallin and Miss Caliope Poulos of Winnsboro, Mrs. J. D. Keasler, Thomas Keasler and Miss Mary Kathryn Keasler of Mariana, Ark., J. W. Brinkley and Mrs. R. W. Everett of Farmerville, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Keasler and Miss Jeannie Sayers of Shreveport, Miss Wanda Guice, Miss Shirley Morse, Mrs. Era Branch, Miss Marguerite Michael, Miss Lucille Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Brantly, Miss Peggy Brantly, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Anderson, Miss Ozelle Traylor, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Deas, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Fortson, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Blackwelder all of Homer.

Also Glen Wynn, Mrs. Bettye H. Garriga, Mrs. Ruth Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brantly, Miss Teify Ann Michael, Ed Michael of Homer, Mrs. T. D. Waters Sr. and Mrs. Earl Shivers, Oak Grove, Mrs. Kelly Salemi, Lake Providence, Miss Dee Denman of St. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tatum and Miss Margaret Ann Tatum, Monroe.

Rehearsal Supper

Miss Keasler and Mr. Brantly were entertained at a rehearsal supper on the eve of their marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sproles. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Lorenzo Teer, Mrs. Rex Mikell and Mrs. Sproles.

The guests included with the bridal couple were, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Keasler, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Brantly, Marvin Brantly, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Waters, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Blackwelder, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith Jr., Miss Mary Kathryn Keasler, Mrs. J. I. Keasler and the Reverend G. F. Stinebaugh.

Mitchel-Coates Vows Said In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Mary Sue Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aulsie Coates of West Monroe became the bride of Johnnie Bardy Mitchel, son of Mrs. Robert Green and the late J. B. Mitchel, in an impressive double-ring ceremony at the First Methodist Church at five - thirty o'clock Saturday, March 12. The Rev. Tilman A. Brown performed the rites.

White cathedral tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the altar which was banked with greenery and white gladiolas.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Margie Watson, organist, who also accompanied Miss Betty Spurlock as she sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a wedding gown of white tulle over satin with lace inserts and tight sleeves which came to petal points over the wrist. It featured a sculptured bodice of lace and finger - tip veil of illusion which was held in place by a beaded crown. She carried a purple throated orchid atop a white Bible, with matching streamers and tube roses.

Mrs. Hattie Watson served as matron of honor. She wore a purple lace model over taffeta with a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The candles were lighted by Mrs. Sarah Hendricks and Mrs. Susie Sikes.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Billy Watson, J. B. McMullen and Lamar Owen were ushers.

Mrs. Coates chose for her daughter's wedding a printed silk spring model of ice blue with black accessories and pink carnations.

Mrs. Green, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a navy blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink asters.

Reception Held

Arrangements of white flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the reception rooms.

The bride's table was centered with the wedding cake flanked by white tapers. An artistic arrangement of white blossoms was placed at the end of the table. Opposite the arrangement was the punch service.

Presiding at the punch service were Mrs. Walter Halbert of Waterproof, Mrs. Victor Kelley and Mrs. Ivan D. Owens.

Mr. Mitchel also graduated from Ouachita Parish High school and attended Louisiana State University and Northeast State College.

Among the out - of - town guests here for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thompson of Lake Charles; Mrs. J. B. Thompson, of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Exell James and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Halbert and children, Bill and Virginia Sue of Waterproof.

News From The Public Library

Today this column is going to be given over entirely to the discussion of one book. This is "Brokenburn" the journal of Kate Stone 1861-1868, edited by John Q. Anderson. This book was released last Thursday by the L. S. U. Press. I consider this one of the most important contributions to the history of this region that has been made in many years.

Kate Stone was a young lady of twenty years of age in 1861, living in most comfortable and pleasant circumstances, when the war broke out. She decided to keep a journal of the war years, which she did. The editing and publication of this journal was a wonderful feat from a historical as well as a literary standpoint. So little has been written about the Civil War in this region that many people do not know that northeast Louisiana was harried and raided by federal soldiers and that literally thousands of the people from this section moved to Texas at that time. Many of them never came back to their former homes.

When the Civil War began, Kate's immediate family consisted of her mother, five brothers and one sister and two younger brothers of her mother, who also made their home with the Stone family. Two of her brothers were killed during the war and one of the uncles died of fever, because of a shortage of quinine.

Kate gives a very vivid picture of the daily life of the women of the Confederacy. The courage and stamina of her mother was truly remarkable. The feats of her two younger brothers Jimmy and Johnny, who were only 13 and 14 at the beginning of the war are inspiring tales of adaptability and ingenuity.

Kate's oldest brother enlisted at the beginning of the war, and served in Virginia all through the war. Miraculously he lived through the war and came back to help the family start over.

At the beginning of Kate's journal everyone thought that the war would be of short duration and that the south would surely win. As the war went on doubts crept in and finally the issue was seen to be hopeless. Kate and her family remained on their plantation, making frequent trips to Vicksburg, entertaining visitors and having a very good time in spite of the war for two years, until the early spring of 1863.

At that time the federal troops came into the area and made it unsafe for the civilians to remain. One of the most exciting portions of the book concerns their flight through the swamp to catch the train at Delhi. They came from Delhi to Monroe on the train, a journey which took six hours. They found kind people in Trenton who befriended them and they stayed there for some weeks before continuing on to Texas. On this flight they lost their clothes and practically everything else they had, but managed to get to Tyler where they remained for several years.

The author of this journal had no idea that it would ever be published and she wrote just as she saw things. She gives a vivid description of some of her friends and neighbors.

Of course Kate had a number of beaux and she describes her flirtations in great detail. After the war she married Henry Bry Holmes, a young lieutenant from Monroe and spent the remainder of her life in Tallulah.

This book should be read by every person who likes to know about the history of our state, by every person who is interested in the Civil War and by everyone who likes a good story. It is an account of a gallant and gentle people who met adversity bravely and saw their world crumble around them without crumbling themselves.

The L. S. U. press did a wonderful thing for north Louisiana when they published this book. It is certain to have a large circulation here, but I also hope that it will be read outside the state and the south. There are certain descriptive passages which should be most enlightening to people of other sections of this country, who do not understand the problems that we have had to face since the close of the war.

For a trip back into the past, I would like to recommend to each of our patrons the reading of "Brokenburn."

DOING THEIR PART — Displaying signs, reading literature, holding an Easter Lily can, and sealing envelopes containing Easter seals, was the contribution made to the 1955 drive by children who have been recipient of services offered by the Ouachita Parish Society for Crippled Children and Adults. (Staff Photos by John Oldenburg.)

there for some weeks before continuing on to Texas. On this flight they lost their clothes and practically everything else they had, but managed to get to Tyler where they remained for several years.

The author of this journal had no idea that it would ever be published and she wrote just as she saw things. She gives a vivid description of some of her friends and neighbors.

Of course Kate had a number of beaux and she describes her flirtations in great detail. After the war she married Henry Bry Holmes, a young lieutenant from Monroe and spent the remainder of her life in Tallulah.

This book should be read by every person who likes to know about the history of our state, by every person who is interested in the Civil War and by everyone who likes a good story. It is an account of a gallant and gentle people who met adversity bravely and saw their world crumble around them without crumbling themselves.

The L. S. U. press did a wonderful thing for north Louisiana when they published this book. It is certain to have a large circulation here, but I also hope that it will be read outside the state and the south. There are certain descriptive passages which should be most enlightening to people of other sections of this country, who do not understand the problems that we have had to face since the close of the war.

For a trip back into the past, I would like to recommend to each of our patrons the reading of "Brokenburn."

News From The Public Library

Today this column is going to be given over entirely to the discussion of one book. This is "Brokenburn" the journal of Kate Stone 1861-1868, edited by John Q. Anderson. This book was released last Thursday by the L. S. U. Press. I consider this one of the most important contributions to the history of this region that has been made in many years.

Kate Stone was a young lady of twenty years of age in 1861, living in most comfortable and pleasant circumstances, when the war broke out. She decided to keep a journal of the war years, which she did. The editing and publication of this journal was a wonderful feat from a historical as well as a literary standpoint. So little has been written about the Civil War in this region that many people do not know that northeast Louisiana was harried and raided by federal soldiers and that literally thousands of the people from this section moved to Texas at that time. Many of them never came back to their former homes.

When the Civil War began, Kate's immediate family consisted of her mother, five brothers and one sister and two younger brothers of her mother, who also made their home with the Stone family. Two of her brothers were killed during the war and one of the uncles died of fever, because of a shortage of quinine.

Kate gives a very vivid picture of the daily life of the women of the Confederacy. The courage and stamina of her mother was truly remarkable. The feats of her two younger brothers Jimmy and Johnny, who were only 13 and 14 at the beginning of the war are inspiring tales of adaptability and ingenuity.

Kate's oldest brother enlisted at the beginning of the war, and served in Virginia all through the war. Miraculously he lived through the war and came back to help the family start over.

At the beginning of Kate's journal everyone thought that the war would be of short duration and that the south would surely win. As the war went on doubts crept in and finally the issue was seen to be hopeless. Kate and her family remained on their plantation, making frequent trips to Vicksburg, entertaining visitors and having a very good time in spite of the war for two years, until the early spring of 1863.

At that time the federal troops came into the area and made it unsafe for the civilians to remain. One of the most exciting portions of the book concerns their flight through the swamp to catch the train at Delhi. They came from Delhi to Monroe on the train, a journey which took six hours. They found kind people in Trenton who befriended them and they stayed

Couple Say Vows By Candlelight

Claiming interest throughout Louisiana and Mississippi was the wedding of Miss Femmie Jean Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lee of Newellton, and Lt. Sam Otis Leake, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Otis Leake, of Woodville, Miss., which was solemnized in the Newellton Union Church on Saturday evening, March 19, at 6:00 p.m.

Before a background formed of white gladiola, stock, and ferns of fern lighted by a myriad of tapers in candelabra, the impressive double ring ceremony was read by Reverend C. E. Parker.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Sarita McDonald, at the organ, presented the nuptial music and accompanied Miss Shirley Ilderton who sang.

Trios of candles in each window and the altar candles gave a cathedral - like beauty to the edifice. There were lighted by Messers Clyde Leake, of Woodville, and Gary Diddy of Baton Rouge, who with Messers Larry Mobley of Baton Rouge and Lt. Norman Stevens of Biloxi, served as ushers. Mr Johnny Joe Leake of Woodville, Miss.,served his brother as best man.

Mrs. B. C. Watson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her bouffant waltz length dress of forget - me - not blue was of chrystalliette with a flounce of nylon net. The fitted bodice was jacketed with a bolero of self material. With this, she wore matching gloves of satin.

Miss Sheryl Gaye Lee, younger sister of the bride, in a floor length model and similar to that of the matron of honor served as junior maid. Other maids, gowned identically like the matron of honor, were Misses Vivian White, Peggy Doyle and Alice Patton. All

The tiny blonde niece of the bride, little Cynthia Joanne Lee, in a floor length model fashioned like that of the junior maid, served as flower girl.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin and Chantilly lace of the same shade. It was fashioned with a full cathedral train with bodice of lace. The lily - point sleeves were fastened with miniature buttons of the satin. The high neck was finished with a collar of lace which repeated the points of the sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a tiara of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of valley lilies, centered with a white orchid and tied with satin ribbons. Her only jewel was a string of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Lee chose for her daughter's wedding, a dress of powder blue taffeta. With this, she wore rhinestones and a small hat of white.

A reception was held at the American Legion Home following the ceremony. Small spring flowers of multiple hues were artistically arranged and placed at vantage points throughout the reception suite.

The mothers, with the bride and groom, and the bridal party, received the guests. Mrs. Bobby Joe Lee, wearing a gown of white net with a black lace trim, registered the guests.

The bride's table, in bridal-white linen was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake of colonade design entwined with tiny bride roses and topped with the traditional bride and groom. It was flanked on either side with silver candelabra and gleaming white tapers. On either end lime-sherbet punch was served by Mrs. D. H. Ratcliff and Mrs. Hubda Massey, sister of the groom. Mrs. Bill Poe served the cake. Misses Ginger Wilkerson, Henrietta Mason, Rachel Everett and Wilma Roundtree assisted in the serving.

For traveling the bride changed to a spring suit of grey with which she wore a white blouse and hat. Navy shoes and bag completed her ensemble. She wore an orchid from her bouquet.

For the present they will be at home at Camp Gordon, Georgia where Lieutenant Leake is presently stationed.

Out of town guests included, Mr. Clyde B. Leake, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Leake, and daughters, Anna Laura and Peggy Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Joe Leake and daughter, Jane Anne, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Otis Leake, Sr., of Woodville, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Massey, Brookhaven, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Leake, Columbia, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Lamar T. Mrs. J. Fudickar Is President Of Ferriday Club

FERRIDAY — Ferriday Garden Club met Thursday, March 10, 1955 at the R. E. A. building. Mrs. Fudickar, the club's new president, opened the meeting by presenting the past president, Mrs. U. B. Evans a token of appreciation for her services to the club and to our community for past two years.

Mrs. Evans made a report on the Library planting. It has almost been completed. She and Mr. Evans have added between twenty and thirty trees this year to the planting. This project is a real credit to the town and club.

Congratulations Ferriday Garden Club for winning first place in horticulture exhibit of bulbs at the Garder Center in Monroe. The prize, a check for ten dollars was received this week.

Mrs. Gray, librarian at the Concordia library, said the library now has the new editions of Gardening, in Lower South. She felt the club would be most interested in the new book and find it useful.

The Garden News for the month er Show. Its theme is to be Panorama of Louisiana. All members are urged to go to New Orleans or 20 to this very wonderful exhi- if they possibly can on March 18 it of our best talents in the state.

Mr. James Otto Lancaster was kind enough to come to our meeting and give us a short talk explaining the new bond issue for Recreational Center of Concordia parish. He urged all members to become more acquainted with the aims of the program and to support it to the best of their ability.

It was decided that the summer workshop in July and August would be held at Azulikit on St. John. A committee will be appointed to make all arrangements.

Mrs. Kaigler and Mrs. Evans showed slides of Williamsburg Gardens. Many beautiful and formal gardens were enjoyed by the group. These slides had been sent here by National Council. Then Mrs. Torres and Mrs. Kaigler showed slides of New York Garden Show. The arrangements were made very interesting and informative by the enclosed comments from the judges.

Later Mrs. Kaigler showed slides made by her and Mr. Kaigler of arrangements made for our own parish fair. They were beautiful and members were proud that they compared so favorably with the slides they had just seen from New York.

The meeting was adjourned and delightful refreshments were enjoyed with the hostesses, Mrs. Cuthbertson, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Mitchell. At the same time the members enjoyed inspecting the lovely arrangements that had been sp scored by Miss Myra Smith and the horticulture exhibits brought by different club members.

Seniors Present Class Play In Downsville

The senior class will stage the play "Papa Was A Preacher" on Tuesday night, March 29th. The Downsville High School gymnasium will be the place for the performance and the exercises will open at 7:30. It is a three-act comedy.

The play centers around a preacher's family, The Porters. Some members of the preacher's congregation think preacher's children should not have fun, but be examples for the other children of the community.

Berry-Barnes Wedding Is Solemnized In Phenix City

OLLA—Hues of pink characterized the wedding of Miss Charlotte Juanita Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Barnes of Phenix City, Ala., and Lt. William Clay Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Berry of Olla, which was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Columbus, Ga., at 5 o'clock Saturday, March 12.

Dr. John Waldrop, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A myriad of pink cathedral tapers illuminated the altar which was banked with baskets of pink gladiolas and greenery.

Nuptial music was presented by Miss Frances Arnold, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. W. D. Barnes who sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "Oh God of Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a white satin gown with a bouffant skirt featuring panels of Chantilly lace, a sculptured bodice and fitted sleeves which extended in lily points over the wrist. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a small satin cap trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations centered with a white orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Rebecca Barnes, served as matron of honor. Her waltz - length gown was of ice blue net over satin with a fitted bodice and stole. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with pale orchid stock.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother-in-law, Rev. Elwyn of Quitman. Ushers were Herman Reitz of Stuart, Fla., and Lt. W. D. Barnes of Fort Benning, Ga.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a becoming gray wool suit with pink accessories and a hat of pink rose petals complemented by a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Berry, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy suit with white accessories and white carnations.

Reception Held

The bride's table was overlaid with a white cutwork cloth over pink. An artistic arrangement of pink gladiolas entwined in matching grapes was placed to the side of the punch service.

For her wedding trip, the bride changed to a blue spring model with black accessories.

Assisting in serving at the reception were Miss Nell Ray, Miss Mabel Davis, Miss Ulene Coleman, Mrs. Charles Smeel, all of Columbus, Ga.; Miss Bettie Pitman of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Elta Gene Moore, Miss Mary Ann Johnson, Miss Gwen Searcy, Miss Martha Baus, all of Phenix City, Ala.

The bride is a graduate of Phenix City High school and Perry Business Colege in Columbus, Ga.

Lt. Berry graduated from Northeast State College in Monroe where he held membership in Demeter.

Members of the wedding party and the bridal couple's families were entertained at a rehearsal supper in the bride's parents' home in Phenix City on Friday night.

Mrs. J. Fudickar Is President Of Ferriday Club

FERRIDAY — Ferriday Garden Club met Thursday, March 10, 1955 at the R. E. A. building. Mrs. Fudickar, the club's new president, opened the meeting by presenting the past president, Mrs. U. B. Evans a token of appreciation for her services to the club and to our community for past two years.

Mrs. Evans made a report on the Library planting. It has almost been completed. She and Mr. Evans have added between twenty and thirty trees this year to the planting. This project is a real credit to the town and club.

Congratulations Ferriday Garden Club for winning first place in horticulture exhibit of bulbs at the Garder Center in Monroe. The prize, a check for ten dollars was received this week.

Mrs. Gray, librarian at the Concordia library, said the library now has the new editions of Gardening in Lower South. She felt the club would be most interested in the new book and find it useful.

The Garden News for the month er Show. Its theme is to be Panorama of Louisiana. All members are urged to go to New Orleans or 20 to this very wonderful exhif they possibly can on March 18 it of our best talents in the state.

Mr. James Otto Lancaster was kind enough to come to our meeting and give us a short talk explaining the new bond issue for Recreational Center of Concordia parish. He urged all members to become more acquainted with the aims of the program and to support it to the best of their ability.

It was decided that the summer workshop in July and August would be held at Azulikit on St. John. A committee will be appointed to make all arrangements.

Mrs. Kaigler and Mrs. Evans showed slides of Williamsburg Gardens. Many beautiful and formal gardens were enjoyed by the group. These slides had been sent here by National Council. Then Mrs. Torres and Mrs. Kaigler showed slides of New York Garden Show. The arrangements were made very interesting and informative by the enclosed comments from the judges.

Later Mrs. Kaigler showed slides made by her and Mr. Kaigler of arrangements made for our own parish fair. They were beautiful and members were proud that they compared so favorably with the slides they had just seen from New York.

The meeting was adjourned and delightful refreshments were enjoyed with the hostesses, Mrs. Cuthbertson, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Mitchell. At the same time the members enjoyed inspecting the lovely arrangements that had been sp scored by Miss Myra Smith and the horticulture exhibits brought by different club members.

The play centers around a preacher's family, The Porters. Some members of the preacher's congregation think preacher's children should not have fun, but be examples for the other children of the community.

OLLA—Hues of pink characterized the wedding of Miss Charlotte Juanita Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Barnes of Phenix City, Ala., and Lt. William Clay Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Berry of Olla, which was solemnized at the First Baptist Church in Columbus, Ga., at 5 o'clock Saturday, March 12.

Dr. John Waldrop, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A myriad of pink cathedral tapers illuminated the altar which was banked with baskets of pink gladiolas and greenery.

Nuptial music was presented by Miss Frances Arnold, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. W. D. Barnes who sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and "Oh God of Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a white satin gown with a bouffant skirt featuring panels of Chantilly lace, a sculptured bodice and fitted sleeves which extended in lily points over the wrist. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a small satin cap trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations centered with a white orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Rebecca Barnes, served as matron of honor. Her waltz - length gown was of ice blue net over satin with a fitted bodice and stole. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with pale orchid stock.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother-in-law, Rev. Elwyn of Quitman. Ushers were Herman Reitz of Stuart, Fla., and Lt. W. D. Barnes of Fort Benning, Ga.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a becoming gray wool suit with pink accessories and a hat of pink rose petals complemented by a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Berry, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy suit with white accessories and white carnations.

Reception Held

The bride's table was overlaid with a white cutwork cloth over pink. An artistic arrangement of pink gladiolas entwined in matching grapes was placed to the side of the punch service.

For her wedding trip, the bride changed to a blue spring model with black accessories.

Assisting in serving at the reception were Miss Nell Ray, Miss Mabel Davis, Miss Ulene Coleman, Mrs. Charles Smeel, all of Columbus, Ga.; Miss Bettie Pitman of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Elta Gene Moore, Miss Mary Ann Johnson, Miss Gwen Searcy, Miss Martha Baus, all of Phenix City, Ala.

The bride is a graduate of Phenix City High school and Perry Business College in Columbus, Ga.

Lt. Berry graduated from Northeast State College in Monroe where he held membership in Demeter.

Garden Tour

The ten and twenty - five year Home Demonstration Clubs will have a garden tour Monday, April 11th. The tour will be made to homes in west part of Ouachita parish. The members of the committee in charge of the arrangement are Mrs. J. R. Sims, Liberty Club; Mrs. C. R. Wilder, Cadeville and Mrs. E. W. Earl, Colony Club. All 10 and 25 year club members of the west side are planning this interesting day and urge all 10 and 25 Home Demonstration Club members to check this date now on their calendars. Each member may bring a guest.

The group will assemble at the agricultural building in West Monroe at 9:00 a. m. The group will immediately go to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hipp, Calhoun. Here they will see many varieties of iris and Mr. Hipp will discuss the culture of these beautiful flowers. Mr. Hipp states that many of the iris should be in bloom at this time unless weather conditions prevent.

Leaving the Hipp home at 10:00, the second stop will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Richerson, Liberty community. It has been said there is no house big enough for two women to live under the same roof. This home will prove this statement to be untrue. So be sure to see this unusual house.

At 10:40 we will visit the J. R. Sims home seeing the beauty created over a period of years by landscaping it correctly. There are also improvement in the home too, lately made by Mrs. Sims. Although one of those "outside of the home working women" (she has charge of the Selman School cafeteria), Mrs. Sims has never lost her interest and love for Home Demonstration work.

Leaving this home at 11:10, the group will visit Roaches Nursery. The Roaches have not only grown but have many plants which they have developed or bred. Much can be learned here at this nursery as to varieties of plants best suited to our immediate landscaping needs. Seeing is believing, here we can see the plant and learn its habits.

Our next stop will be at Kendallwood at the home of Mrs. W. S. Kendall. Kendallwood is only a few miles west of West Monroe just off Highway 80. Here we shall see how many beautiful home sites can be developed on the west side.

By this time each one will have a ravenous appetite so our next stop will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Drew and Mrs. Clara Gilliland in the Drew community. After touring the surroundings, lunch will be spread. A short business meeting will follow, says Mrs. W. J. Lowe, president of the Twenty-five Year Club, and Mrs. Pete Grigg, president of the Ten Year Club.

Refreshed and rested the group will visit the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Feazel where many interesting features will be seen. This home will show how restful living in the country can be today.

Mrs. Oliva Pickens, a grower of Hemerocallis lilies, will be the next home visited. You will become an enthusiastic grower of lilies, after seeing the many varieties grown and bred by Mrs. Pickens. She has done fine work with this flower.

We will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Earl next (3:00 p. m.) in their home among the pines of West Monroe on Highway 80. Here you will see one of the best outdoor fireplaces in Ouachita and many other interesting features.

The next stop will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Willett, another Hemerocallis lily breeder. Mrs. Willett will talk about her lilies as others speak of their children, thus she has many tales of interest to tell us about her experiences with her flowers. This home is in the White Ferry community. The last, but not least, will be the visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Pylant.

Mary Chumley Is Entertained At Urania Party

A lovely bridal shower was given Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leon Brooks in Urania, honoring Miss Mary Ellen Chumley, of Shreveport, who is a former resident of Urania. Her marriage to Henry Thibodaux Jr. of Houma, will be solemnized April 9 in Shreveport.

Mr. Thibodaux is a nephew of Mrs. Brooks.

Co - hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. A. M. Johnston, Mrs. A. J. Session, Mrs. C. D. Jones and Mrs. W. C. Procter.

Artistic arrangements of white spirea, white iris and purple magnolia were placed at vantage points about the rooms.

The tea table was laid with a white linen cut-work cloth and centered with an arrangement of two silver wedding rings, silver ribbon, white tulle and nosegays. The buffet featured a complete miniature bridal party and tall white candles in silver holders.

Mrs. W. B. Scriber of Winnsboro, neice af Mrs. Brooks, presided at the crystal punch bowl, while the hostesses assisted in the serving courtesies. Mrs. William Tannehill was at the register.

The gifts were displayed on small tables.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Pylant.

Carroll Woman's Club Hears Talk On Education

LAKE PROVIDENCE — Buren A. Bales, East Carroll Parish public school supervisor, as guest speaker for the Thursday meeting of the Carroll Woman's club emphasised that "Education Is Everybody's Business."

The speaker, introduced by Mrs. I.O. Morris, club program chairman, presented his topic from three areas, the home, the school and the community. He also brought out that there were seven classes being conducted in the parish for adults, on funds being provided by the state for that purpose.

The speaker also compared free education in a democracy as compared to government controlled classifications of student ability.

Delegates elected to attend the GFWC district meeting, Ruston, April 2nd., were the president, Mrs. W.B. Ragland, Mrs. R. S. Reed and Mrs. I. O. Morris. Alternates will be Mrs. W. B. Ragland, Jr., Mrs. J. G. Wyly and Mrs. E. O. Welch.

Named as members of the Town Council Beautification committee were Mrs. W. B. Ragland Mrs. R. S. Reed.

The club will make application for a GFWC Scroll as they have celebrated their 25th federated anniversary.

Mrs. E. O. Welch, press book chairman, will enter the club press book by April 1 for district competition.

Mrs. Walter Surles was voted into club membership and will be welcomed at the April meeting.

Mrs. H. T. Van Fossen was named chairman of distribution of literature on the project. "The Lighted Cross on Bald Knob Mountain, which will be sent to other clubs of the parish.

The hostesses Mrs. H. L. Kennedy and Mrs. T. J. Slagle served a chicken salad course to members and guests.

Women's Club Co-operate In $3,000,000 Drive

More than 5,000,000 members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs are participating in a drive to raise $3,000,000 with which will be built a 500-foot cross, the world's largest, atop Bald Knob mountain in southern Illinois.

The Cross, which will be visible over a 7,500 square-mile area, is a project of the Bald Knob Christian Foundation, Inc., a non-denominational, non - profit, state-chartered group that has held Easter sunrise services on the mountain annually for the past two decades. The aim of the foundation is to provide a place of worship for all denominations, with the purpose of achieving greater unity of religious thinking and effort.

In launching the drive in Washington today, Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, president of the Women's Federation, urged that all not affiliated with their clubs mail contributions directly to The Cross, Cairo, Ill.

The Cross will contain a central chapel and meditation rooms for all denominations. On the different levels between the base and the top will be separate shrines, and rooms where religious articles may be displayed. At the top will be a forestry service lookout station and an observation tower for visitors. Long range plans call for an amphitheatre, a stage for pageants, and facilities for church conventions.

Though the 187-acre tract on which The Cross will be erected is owned by the foundation, the surrounding area is U. S. Forestry Service property on which protection against commercialism has been assured. Bald Knob is the most prominent mountain in the midwest, located in the Shawnee National Forest only 70 miles from the center of population of the nation. Illuminated at night, The Cross will be visible in a four-state area rich in historical background and legend.

Modisette Award Given Morehouse Parish Library

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The Morehouse Parish Library received the Modisette Award at the annual book dinner of the Louisiana Library Association last night.

The trustee award is presented annually to a member of a public library board who has made an outstanding contribution to the cause of public libraries.

The award is made in memory of O. J. Modisette, for many years head of the Louisiana Library Commission.

PATTERN A727
by Greta Plattry

PROMINENT DESIGNER—What to wear under sun, stars? This weekend wardrobe by clever designer Greta Plattry fills your suitcase with pretty fashions, to fit your every summer need! For party afternoons, festive evenings, there's the lovely dress—sheath-bodiced, whirl-skirted, and wonderfully easy to wear. For sun and fun, try the new tapered shorts, topped by a carefree jac-shirt. (Figure compliments are yours, with each of these stunning styles!) Miss Plattry's weekend wardrobe is an elegant polished cotton, with vivid contrast touches. Your own sewing version might also be in crisp pique, poplin or linen—in sparkling sun and sea colors. Just follow the pattern exclusive, and these exciting Originals will soon be yours!

Pattern A727 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, and 18. Size 16 dress requires 4½ yards 35-inch fabric. Yardage requirements for shirt and shorts are given in the pattern.

Send FIFTY CENTS (in coins) for Pattern A727 to Morning World, Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Recently Promoted, Girl Goes Back To Old Office To Chide Backbiters

DEAR MARY HAWORTH:I am a girl, 20, and for nearly three years I've worked for this firm, sharing an office with two old-maidish females—until recently, when I got promoted.

These ladies, I'll call them Doe and May, talk and gossip all day long. They teased me and told me of my mistakes and gave me helpful criticism—which I took gladly, though sometimes it made me feel inferior. But they weren't always friendly. In all the time we shared the office I don't think they ever said "Good Morning" to me. They never asked me to lunch with them and hardly ever conversed with me . . .

One day I overheard them telling another girl that I was "very dumb, understood nothing, and made more mistakes than anyone." this hurt terribly, as I was very conscientious. I waited until silence fell before I entered the room. I should have confronted them then, but I didn't. I was doing my best, but tried still harder . . .

Anger Draws Answering Fire

I don't work in their office now, and I know I owe my promotion to them. They probably told the boss that I worked hard and would suit this job. But I can't forget their backbiting. And finally the other day I went to their office and told them off—recalling all the mean things I had overheard them say. They claimed they were just kidding, but I was very mad and I made them mad with me.

Now I don't know whether I did right or not. I have to see them occasionally on business, to get information. Should I apologize for my outburst, or act as if nothing had happened? I feel very guilty when I meet them face-to-face; yet everything I told them was true. And I could have said more. Please tell me, was I right or wrong?

R.P.

Feels Close To Her Critics

DEAR R.P.: Your quarrel with Doe and May signifies that you've felt closer to them than to anyone else; but you also feel rejected by them and furious about it. I can't say it was wrong of you to air your sense of injury. The truth is, you were behaving symptomatically, disclosing urgent need of psychiatric help to prepare you for making friends and being a friend.

You are timidly unsocial, it seems, and anxiously unsure of yourself always, due to an unfavorable kind of rearing, I suppose—that deprived you of self-esteem and denied you opportunities for satisfactory experience in the field of friendships.

As a result of these fetters imposed by circumstances outside your control, you are sunk in a rut of solitary routine. And this state of affairs fosters a discouraged, self-concerned trend of thought in you, and an unconsciously hostile, defensive yet dependent attitude toward familiar figures in your environment.

Thus your office dealings with Doe and May were peculiarly harassing to your sensibilities. It is possible, of course, that even the hardiest new girl would find them a trial of sorts, with their gossip and supervisory criticism. But if she were armed with happy outside interests and deeply ingrained self-confidence, she would take them in stride in friendly spirit and get used to their idiosyncrasies after a while—which would spark their democratic respect for her.

Broods Due To Loneliness

Owing to a past history of inferiority feelings, you were unfortunately hypersensitive to Doe's and May's patronizing appraisal of you. And your slavish attempts to enlist their approval only caused them to be more inconsiderate. Yet, if you owe your promotion to them, I take it they never really thought ill of you, regardless of how they talked. Sharp gossip was habit with them, remember.

So, to sum up, if you were emotionally healthy, you wouldn't have been so vexed by Doe and May, and you wouldn't have blown your stack after getting away. You'd have found relief enough in working elsewhere. The fact that you did go back, weeks later, to "tell them off" for hurting your feelings shows that meantime you'd been brooding. Which points to increasing loneliness in your new position, and critical shortage of emotional contact with anyone in your private life.

For advice: Don't worry about the incident nor try to correct it just now. Get psychiatric or psychological help in your own community, through such community services as a Family Service Agency or mental hygiene clinic. M.H. Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write to her in care of this newspaper.

WHY THEY DRINK

EAST LANSING, Mich. — A group of high school students, taking part in an alcoholic education conference, gave these reasons why teen-agers drink:

"They like to think they are big shots — they want to prove they're not chicken — they want to try new things — they are eager for any excuse to celebrate."

Zoologists in Alberta, Canada, use helicopters to trade migatory habits of buffalo. Hovering low over the herds, aircraft crew members "brand" the animals with squirts of paint from a gun.

Louisiana Offers A Town By Almost Any Handle; Want A Trip To The Sun?

By NORRIS VAN CLEAVE
(Staff Writer)

Feel adventurous? Then how about a little week-end trip to Paradise or perhaps a Sun excursion.

But lest this be mistaken for a space circus, may it be said quickly that one can take these trips without leaving the good old earth of Louisiana. The Paradise is the French one, Paradise, St. Charles parish, but that should be better than none. As for the Sun trip, the adventurer need only to travel to St. Tammany parish, and there it is — Sun, population 400.

Taken literally, the names of many junctions and small towns in Louisiana might be construed to convey some mysterious impressions. For instance, in Caddo parish people live in Trees. And it is always Sunset at one place in St. Landry parish. And there is Sunshine all the time in Iberville parish. And in Iberia parish, Weeks might never end. And regardless of whether the economy expands or shrinks, there's always a New Era in Concordia. And there are doubtlessly hundreds of books in one book in Catahoula. And Tensas has Waterproof people.

But, more harmonious, Louisiana has a Trout, LaSalle parish, and a Fisher, Sabine parish. And there is a Coon, Point Coupee, and a Beaver, Evangeline, and, quite naturally, a Hunter, DeSoto parish. And in Beauregard, there is a Singer — Alto? Of course, in Richland.

More dramatic, there is Retreat, West Feliciana; a Chase, Franklin; a Reserve, West Feliciana; a Battle, East Feliciana; a Slaughter, East Feliciana; and a Triumph, Plaquemines. Add these together and they comprise a major war campaign. And Tanghipahoa offers a cause for the fighting — Independence; Noble? yes, in Sabine.

Point Coupee always has New Roads — an enviable lot indeed. Bossier parish is in part known for its Plain Dealing.

Among the state's impressive assets are Gold Dust, Avoyelles; a Golden Meadow, Lafourche; and a Diamond, in Plaquemines. Then, it has Forest, West Carroll; Good Pine? certainly! — in LaSalle. And of course, there is Hardwood, too, in West Feliciana. Louisiana has its Delta, Madison, and its Hilly, in Lincoln.

All of these growth - enhancing resources considered, the people have a real Empire in their state, in Plaquemines. Small wonder that they always have Good Hope, St. Charles; and that Pride is shown in the state, in East Baton Rouge parish.

In the event this article needs official justification — well, the map of St. James parish says Welcome and the map of Richland says Start. But now it is noted that the map of Jackson parish says Quitman. Yet, Louisiana names offer no way to conclude it gracefully. Well, if borrowing from Texas isn't unpardonable, here it is. It's Goodnight, Armstrong county.

Thibodaux Man To Head La. Cancer Crusade

NEW ORLEANS, March 26 (Special) — Ferd H. Block, Thibodaux business and civic leader, has been appointed chairman of the Louisiana Cancer Crusade in April, it was announced by the American Cancer Society this week.

Block, who attended Tulane University, has been active in many community organizations and has headed the American Cancer Society drive in Lafourche parish for two years.

The twofold objective of the crusade is to raise $250,000 and stamp out ignorance, paralyzing fear and inertia regarding man's cruelest enemy, cancer.

In 1955 Block heads an army of 10,000 volunteers who by distributing leaflets, showing films and ringing door bells will carry out the educational and fund raising aims of the ACS.

Of the $250,000 which the crusade expects to raise in Louisiana, the approximate allocation will be $74,000 for research, $72,000 for professional and public education, $66,000 for service, $25,000 for administration and $13,000 for fund raising.

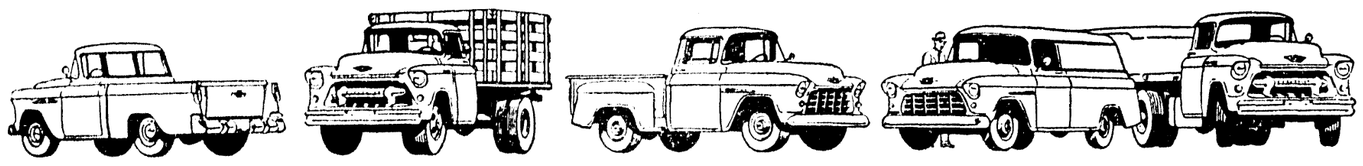

The ACS announcement said the increased incidence of cancer has been so striking that broadened programs to combat it must be supported. For the first time this year the Louisiana division of the ACS has earmarked funds for research in addition to those allocated through the national research fund. Applications for use of these funds by medical scientists in the state has exceeded the amount budgeted. For the first time a workshop was held for science and health teachers to acquaint them more fully with the cancer problem; radio programs were beamed to the French - speaking population of the state; and the appropriation for services to indigent cancer patients was increased.

Block and the thousands of Cancer Society volunteers will be working during April to make continued expansion of the ACS program possible.

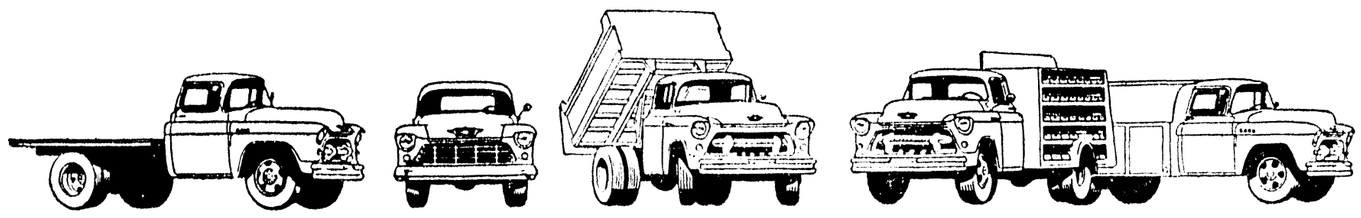

A SWORD OF HOPE—Governor Robert F. Kennon points out April, cancer control month, with the American Cancer Society's sword of hope. Standing with him is Ferd H. Block of Thibodaux, state Crusade Chairman for the Cancer Society. Gov. Kennon urged all Louisianians to observe Cancer Month by learning and heeding the seven danger signals of cancer and supporting the ACS program in their communities.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Must Have Right Attitude To Succeed At Reducing

I have often written in this column that next to calorie counting a woman's most important ally is her reducing effort is her mental attitude. Of course, no matter what your outlook, if you do not count calories you will not lose pounds.

However, if you subconsciously know that you are going to cheat a little here and there you are doomed to failure. You have to be really determined before you begin dieting. Like the alcoholic who must REALLY want help before he can be helped, the overweight woman must really want to reduce before she can make a success of it.

A letter from a reader gives some psychologically sound suggestions for making reducing easy. She worked these out for herself.

She says' "Since dieting can be a rather discouraging process I make it pleasant by doing the following things.

Helpful Hints

"1. Each day I fix myself up as attractively as possible before I start my day's work. I wear my girdle, put on my makeup and fix my hair becomingly.

"2. I fix my meals on my very best china on a nice tray. Sometimes I eat after the rest of the family, and at noon, after I put the children to bed for their naps. Then I can relax, and as I eat, I look at the fashion magazines. This gives me incentive to look better.

"3. I take time out for a cup of tea or coffee between meals if I feel tired or hungry.

"4. I visit my friends and get out of the house more often.

"5. I go out for dinner once in a while with my husband and on those occasions eat what I wish, within reason.

"Mrs. Lowman, the nicest part of dieting is the remark my husband makes afterward. 'It's so wonderful to have you fit into my arms as you used to.' "

That should make dieting easy for any woman.

If you would like to have my calorie chart send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 "Count Your Calories" to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Stennis Forecasts Big Appropriation For Miss. Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new appropriation of about seven million dollars for additional work at the Columbus, Miss., Air Base was predicted today by Sen. Stennis (D-Miss).

"I fully expect an appropriation of between 6½ and seven million dollars in the military construction bill to be passed this year," Stennis told a reporter.

The appropriation, which would be available in the year starting July 1, would be in addition to 3½ million now available for the base.

The Columbus base is being taken over by the Air Force for use as a Strategic Air Command jet base. Until recently it has been utilized by the Air Training Command and operated as a civilian contract school for basic flying training.

The Air Force already has called for bids on works to be financed from the 3½ million voted last year.

Stennis said the new money he expects Congress to vote this year will finance additional buildings and runways needed in the new jet operation.

Girl Scout News

Newest addition to Girl Scouting in the Twin Cities is Troop 51, made up of 16 fifth grade girls at Millsaps School. Mrs. R. N. Goodwin and Mrs. W. E. Higginbotham are serving as leaders with Mrs. J. P. Holtzclaw, Mrs. F. M. Johnson, Mrs. Bailey Grant and Mrs. H. L. Cathron as troop committee members. Last week leaders invested the girls who had completed Tenderfoot requirements. Among those requirements are attending four consecutive meetings, paying national registration fee, participating in several activities in homemaking and the out of doors, becoming familiar with the history of Girl Scouting, learning the laws and promise, and being willing to try to live by them. Only after fulfilling all these conditions may a girl become a Scout.

After the investiture, members of the troop committee served refreshments from a beautifully decorated table. Mrs. Bailey Grant, we are told, made and decorated the cake. Troop 51 is doing a good job of selling cookies, according to their leaders, and the girls are beginning on second class rank requirements. All this sounds like a mighty good beginning for a troop.

All fourth grade troops are working on Tenderfoot requirements in preparatin for "flying up" into intermediate Scouting. Troop 13 spent its last meeting practicing the flag ceremony, doing it often enough that every girl had a chance to be bearer and color guard. Mrs. Paul Blackmon and Mrs. Fred Parrish are leaders, with the following girls registered for their third year of Scouting: Beverly Blackmon, Carolyn Carter, Pamela Conner, Anna Gayle Dunn, Gay Hargrove, Karen Johnson, Carol Koontz, Ann McElroy, Judy Miller, Paula Neal, Polly Ann Parrish, and Doris Solomon. Mrs. Paul Neal, Mrs. J. D. Conner, Mrs. H. C. Miller and Mrs. Seymour Solomon are serving on the troop committee, Mrs. Miller being particularly busy right now serving as cookie sale chairman for the troop.

From all we hear, Ethel Easterling and Nancy Breard had a most interesting experience when they went to Camp Aldersgate, near Little Rock, last week end for training that will help them take part in the region 5 patrol - troop encampment at Chicot State Park in June. Nancy will be patrol leader for the eight girls of troop 14 who will attend. Nancy had the fun of meeting the leaders of the other 15 patrols that will attend. Together with their leaders and the camping adviser for the region, the girls planned the emphases and program for the June encampment. The local patrol has chosen to work on a nature trail as their major project during the encampment.

In order to gain still more practice in camping, Troop 14 went to El Dorado Friday to camp out with a group of Senior Scouts there. Last Saturday found a group of senior girls at Pine Wood for the day and night with Mrs. M. B. Mapp, assistant leader of the troop, in charge.

Friday night at 7:30 in the auditorium of Georgia Tucker school the Scouts will have their annual camp rally, in charge of camp and cookie committees. Probably 150 or more girls will be honored for their part in the cookie sale. Camp films will be shown and folders will be available for day and established camps next summer. Mothers and Dads and daughters should be sure to come.

OUT WITH WRINKLES

To steam out wrinkles in wool, rayon, gabardine or wool and rayon garments place in a drier with two dampened turkish towels and let it tumble at low heat for 5 minutes, say washing experts. Remove and hang on hanger until thoroughly dry.

The province of Ontario, Canada has polar bears in the north and peaches in the south.

LT. ESTHER BOWMAN

Lt. Esther Bowman Home On Leave

First Lieutenant Esther Lenard Bowman arrived home this week on a 30-day furlough prior to being assigned overseas. The army nurse just recently completed a tour of duty at Brooke General Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and is now scheduled for duty in the Orient.

A native of Ouachita Parish, Lt. Bowman was educated at Ouachita Parish High School, Northeast College, Louisiana State University and the Baptist Theological Seminary in New Orleans.

Daughter of James Edward and Doshie Boyette Lenard, she will be in charge of training clinical technicians in her new post.

Lt. Bowman will be overseas 18 months.

Harvey, Wilson To Speak At DAR Convention

Paul Harvey, Morning World columnist, and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson will address the 64th Continental Congress of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington, D. C., April 19.

An audience of over 4,000 is expected to fill Constitution Hall to hear Harvey and Secretary Wilson discuss national defense.

On April 15 Harvey, whom the Sumter Guards of Charleston, S. C., recently voted "The man who has contributed most towards preserving the American Way of Life,' will be formally presented with the citation in a ceremony at Charleston.

A commission as Six Star General in the Army of the Sumter Guards and an honor ring similar to that worn by West Point cadets will also be awarded to the noted columnist.

The Guards have participated as a unit in every major war engaged in by the United States since their organization in 1819.

Swift Newspaper Reports Will Quiet Panics After Atomic Attack--Woolfley

By JAMES MCLEAN

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—The swift appearance of a freshly-printed newspaper will quiet public panic after an atomic attack, Louisiana's civil defense chief said today.

And for that reason, Gen. Francis Woolfley said, newspapers right now must prepare for possible emergency publication in nearby communities.

Woolfley told the Louisiana Press Association "Mass public panic generates mainly from the unknown.

"The immediate publication of a familiarly daily newspaper following an atomic disaster is a must in civil defense planning."

Woolfley detailed why newspapers will be counted upon more than radio.

"Radio will be used and exploited to the utmost. It's big advantage is that it is swift," he said.

"It will reach its greatest potential in the pre-attack phase when all receiving sets are in operation.

"In the post-attack phase, it may be less effective," Woolfley said.

"It is questionable whether people in fear and near panic will understand, act upon, or remember what they have heard from a loudspeaker or a radio set.

"A newspaper may be read and re-read and passed from hand to hand.

"Posted at strategic points in neighborhoods . . . these printed bulletins will provide the basic, life-saving information and instructions calming the surviving public."

Woolfley, in an earlier talk yesterday, said Soviet bombers using the "jet stream" blowing southward from the Aleutians, could attack Shreveport, Baton Rouge or New Orleans in nine hours.

Highlights of the opening day was a panel discussion on handling Negro news. Publishers and editors agreed the trend in Louisiana is towards publishing more news about Negroes when they make news.

Charles Cunningham, Natchitoches Times, said a touchy racial news item in his paper brought 25 compliments and only one criticism. "I told the critic I wasn't running my paper for the benefit of the Ku Klux Klan," he said.

Mrs. Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, which has been running Negro news for several years, said she now receives more than she can print.

The Advocate, she said, also runs Negro pictures "when they are newsworthy." With others, she said the appearance of Negro news on the society pages would not come "for at least several years."

LPA Vice President Robert Wagner, Jena Times, urged editors to take a stand on controversial issues, adding, advertisers "will respect you for it . . .

"We sometimes stay away from taking stands on vital issues . . . and I wonder if our influence hasn't suffered a little bit."

Because business is good, he suggested, editors may have become "a little self-satisfied, a little smug."

ON LEAVE — Apprentice Airman Bill McDonald, son of Clyde McDonald, of Monroe, is presently on leave after completing basic training at Great Lakes. He will report to Norman, Okla., after his leave is completed.

The word "Lent" originally meant "spring."

Stennis Forecasts Big Appropriation For Miss. Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new appropriation of about seven million dollars for additional work at the Columbus, Miss., Air Base was predicted today by Sen. Stennis (D-Miss).

"I fully expect an appropriation of between 6½ and seven million dollars in the military construction bill to be passed this year," Stennis told a reporter.

The appropriation, which would be available in the year starting July 1, would be in addition to 3½ million now available for the base.

The Columbus base is being taken over by the Air Force for use as a Strategic Air Command jet base. Until recently it has been utilized by the Air Training Command and operated as a civilian contract school for basic flying training.

The Air Force already has called for bids on works to be financed from the 3½ million voted last year.

Stennis said the new money he expects Congress to vote this year will finance additional buildings and runways needed in the new jet operation.

Girl Scout News

Newest addition to Girl Scouting in the Twin Cities is Troop 51, made up of 16 fifth grade girls at Millsaps School. Mrs. R. N. Goodwin and Mrs. W. E. Higginbotham are serving as leaders with Mrs. J. P. Holtzclaw, Mrs. F. M. Johnson, Mrs. Bailey Grant and Mrs. H. L. Cathron as troop committee members. Last week leaders invested the girls who had completed Tenderfoot requirements. Among those requirements are attending four consecutive meetings, paying national registration fee, participating in several activities in homemaking and the out of doors, becoming familiar with the history of Girl Scouting, learning the laws and promise, and being willing to try to live by them. Only after fulfilling all these conditions may a girl become a Scout.

After the investiture, members of the troop committee served refreshments from a beautifully decorated table. Mrs. Bailey Grant, we are told, made and decorated the cake. Troop 51 is doing a good job of selling cookies, according to their leaders, and the girls are beginning on second class rank requirements. All this sounds like a mighty good beginning for a troop.

All fourth grade troops are working on Tenderfoot requirements in preparatin for "flying up" into intermediate Scouting. Troop 13 spent its last meeting practicing the flag ceremony, doing it often enough that every girl had a chance to be bearer and color guard. Mrs. Paul Blackmon and Mrs. Fred Parrish are leaders, with the following girls registered for their third year of Scouting: Beverly Blackmon, Carolyn Carter, Pamela Conner, Anna Gayle Dunn, Gay Hargrove, Karen Johnson, Carol Koontz, Ann McElroy, Judy Miller, Paula Neal, Polly Ann Parrish, and Doris Solomon. Mrs. Paul Neal, Mrs. J. D. Conner, Mrs. H. C. Miller and Mrs. Seymour Solomon are serving on the troop committee, Mrs. Miller being particularly busy right now serving as cookie sale chairman for the troop.

From all we hear, Ethel Easterling and Nancy Breard had a most interesting experience when they went to Camp Aldersgate, near Little Rock, last week end for training that will help them take part in the region 5 patrol - troop encampment at Chicot State Park in June. Nancy will be patrol leader for the eight girls of troop 14 who will attend. Nancy had the fun of meeting the leaders of the other 15 patrols that will attend. Together with their leaders and the camping adviser for the region, the girls planned the emphases and program for the June encampment. The local patrol has chosen to work on a nature trail as their major project during the encampment.

In order to gain still more practice in camping, Troop 14 went to El Dorado Friday to camp out with a group of Senior Scouts there. Last Saturday found a group of senior girls at Pine Wood for the day and night with Mrs. M. B. Mapp, assistant leader of the troop, in charge.

Friday night at 7:30 in the auditorium of Georgia Tucker school the Scouts will have their annual camp rally, in charge of camp and cookie committees. Probably 150 or more girls will be honored for their part in the cookie sale. Camp films will be shown and folders will be available for day and established camps next summer. Mothers and Dads and daughters should be sure to come.

OUT WITH WRINKLES

To steam out wrinkles in wool, rayon, gabardine or wool and rayon garments place in a drier with two dampened turkish towels and let it tumble at low heat for 5 minutes, say washing experts. Remove and hang on hanger until thoroughly dry.

LT. ESTHER BOWMAN

Lt. Esther Bowman Home On Leave

First Lieutenant Esther Lenard Bowman arrived home this week on a 30-day furlough prior to being assigned overseas. The army nurse just recently completed a tour of duty at Brooke General Hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and is now scheduled for duty in the Orient.

A native of Ouachita Parish, Lt. Bowman was educated at Ouachita Parish High School, Northeast College, Louisiana State University and the Baptist Theological Seminary in New Orleans.

Daughter of James Edward and Doshie Boyette Lenard, she will be in charge of training clinical technicians in her new post.

Lt. Bowman will be overseas 18 months.

Harvey, Wilson To Speak At DAR Convention

Paul Harvey, Morning World columnist, and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson will address the 64th Continental Congress of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington, D. C., April 19.

An audience of over 4,000 is expected to fill Constitution Hall to hear Harvey and Secretary Wilson discuss national defense.

On April 15 Harvey, whom the Sumter Guards of Charleston, S. C., recently voted "The man who has contributed most towards preserving the American Way of Life,' will be formally presented with the citation in a ceremony at Charleston.

A commission as Six Star General in the Army of the Sumter Guards and an honor ring similar to that worn by West Point cadets will also be awarded to the noted columnist.

The Guards have participated as a unit in every major war engaged in by the United States since their organization in 1819.

Swift Newspaper Reports Will Quiet Panics After Atomic Attack--Woolfley

By JAMES MCLEAN

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—The swift appearance of a freshly-printed newspaper will quiet public panic after an atomic attack, Louisiana's civil defense chief said today.

And for that reason, Gen. Francis Woolfley said, newspapers right now must prepare for possible emergency publication in nearby communities.

Woolfley told the Louisiana Press Association "Mass public panic generates mainly from the unknown.

"The immediate publication of a familiarly daily newspaper following an atomic disaster is a must in civil defense planning."

Woolfley detailed why newspapers will be counted upon more than radio.

"Radio will be used and exploited to the utmost. It's big advantage is that it is swift," he said.

"It will reach its greatest potential in the pre-attack phase when all receiving sets are in operation.

"In the post-attack phase, it may be less effective," Woolfley said.

"It is questionable whether people in fear and near panic will understand, act upon, or remember what they have heard from a loudspeaker or a radio set.

"A newspaper may be read and re-read and passed from hand to hand.

"Posted at strategic points in neighborhoods . . . these printed bulletins will provide the basic, life-saving information and instructions calming the surviving public."

Woolfley, in an earlier talk yesterday, said Soviet bombers using the "jet stream" blowing southward from the Aleutians, could attack Shreveport, Baton Rouge or New Orleans in nine hours.

Highlights of the opening day was a panel discussion on handling Negro news. Publishers and editors agreed the trend in Louisiana is towards publishing more news about Negroes when they make news.

Charles Cunningham, Natchitoches Times, said a touchy racial news item in his paper brought 25 compliments and only one criticism. "I told the critic I wasn't running my paper for the benefit of the Ku Klux Klan," he said.

Mrs. Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, which has been running Negro news for several years, said she now receives more than she can print.

The Advocate, she said, also runs Negro pictures "when they are newsworthy." With others, she said the appearance of Negro news on the society pages would not come "for at least several years."

LPA Vice President Robert Wagner, Jena Times, urged editors to take a stand on controversial issues, adding, advertisers "will respect you for it . . .

"We sometimes stay away from taking stands on vital issues . . . and I wonder if our influence hasn't suffered a little bit."

Because business is good, he suggested, editors may have become "a little self-satisfied, a little smug."

ON LEAVE — Apprentice Airman Bill McDonald, son of Clyde McDonald, of Monroe, is presently on leave after completing basic training at Great Lakes. He will report to Norman, Okla., after his leave is completed.

The word "Lent" originally meant "spring."

Baptists Open 2-week Revival Crusade Today

Thirty-two of the Baptist churches in the Ouachita Parish and Trenton Associations launched their revivals today in connection with the two-week, 1955 Simultaneous Revival Crusade over the central area of the southland.

Prayer meetings, religious census, teaching of study books and local rallies have preceded the crusade, which is the beginning of a "Four Year Conquest for Christ," instigated by Dr. Redford.

Dr. C. E. Matthews, secretary of the board's department of evangelism, Dallas, Tex., has stated that the theme of the crusade will be "Christ Is the Answer." This theme was used in 1951, in which almost 400,000 people were baptized into southern Baptist membership.

Matthews looks for an estimated half a million persons to be baptized as a result of this simultaneous revival.

On the local scene, almost 90 per cent of the churches have engaged but of town speakers to launch their portion of the crusade.

Rev. D. W. Nix, general chairman of the Ouachita Baptist Association stated that 12 of the churches in the association would sponsor breakfast meetings on Monday and Friday of the two weeks for the receiving of reports and fellowship.

It has been pointed out by Dr. Matthews that the campaign, placing an emphasis on "soul winning," had as its counter part, the moving of church membership.

"The coordinated efforts of individuals engaged in such a simultaneous revival brings about power," Matthews said.

With an after thought Dr. Matthews has added that churches working together do much more than one crying in the wilderness.

Dr. R. G. Lee, internationally known Baptist preacher from Memphis, Tenn., and Dr. J. D. Grey, pastor of the First Baptist Church of New Orleans emphasized the simultaneous revival at Friday's meeting of the Baptist Training Union convention in New Orleans.

The last portion of the convention which extended through Friday night was devoted to last minute preparations and meditation for the crusade that got underway today.

Representatives of the Trenton Association, one of the Twin City area groups, state that all 19 of the association's church membership is engaged in the crusade.

The Trenton Association comprises most of the churches west of the river to the boundaries of Ouachita and Lincoln parish whereas the Ouachita Baptist Association is composed of those east of the river to Richland parish.

A portion of the simultaneous revival has already been held in one area. That district designated by Baptist officials, as the tropical area of the United States and parts of Cuba, Panama and the Canal Zone, held their revivals during the two week period of March 6-20.

The central area, of which Louisiana is a component, is presently holding its meetings. The dates are March 27 through April 10.

The northern zone crusade is slated for April 10-24 and will include Southern Baptist Churches up to Canada and Alaska.

Some 3,600 churches are represented in the tropical zone, 13,000 in the intermediate area, and about 13,000 in the northern zone.

Churches that are participating in the crusade from the two associations are:

First Church, West Monroe, Trinity, Ridge Avenue, Edgewood, Fairpark, Peniel, Claiborne, Good Hope, New Chapel Hill, Calhoun, Liberty, Oak Grove, Cypress, Center Point, Bethel, Brownville, Cheniere, Clarks Springs, McClendon, Mt. Vernon, First Church, Monroe, Parkview, Highland Park, College Place, Central, Faith, Temple, Calvary, Memorial Park, Fairbanks, Swartz and New Light.

Ruston Churches To Hold Ten Day Revival Crusade

RUSTON, March 26—(Special)—Rev. A. H. Johnson, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, said today that Emmanuel Church, along with other Ruston Baptist churches, would begin a ten day revival meeting Sunday in cooperation with a revival crusade whose slogan is "Christ Is the Answer."

The Rev. M. M. Gilchrist, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Welch, La. will be the principal speaker at the special services.

A graduate of La. College, the Rev. Gilchrist has served the Welch church for two years as pastor. He will be assisted at the revival services, which will be held twice daily at 7 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., by the Rev. P. A. Wiley of Simsboro, who will be in charge of the singing.

The Emmanuel Church, which has a membership of 291 and which is less than five years old, has, in preparation for the revival had a week of study in the winning of souls, a week of visitation and 16 cottage prayer meetings which have been held in the homes of various members of the congregation.

22 Churches In Franklin Set For Revival Crusade

By OTIS HASSELL
STAFF CORRESPONDENT

WINNSBORO, March, 24 —Revival services are scheduled in the 22 Franklin Parish Baptist churches of Deer Creek Association during the next two weeks, starting March 7, and continuing through April 10. These special services are in cooperation with the convention-wide simultaneous evangelistic crusade of Southern Baptist. Some of the churches will hold revival services during the first week, others the second, and some will run through the two weeks period.

Visiting evangelists will conduct the services in 16 of the churches and in the other six churches, pastors will conduct the revival.

Cottage prayer meetings are being held throughout the parish this week. Two churches, the Temple Baptist church and the Lone Cedar Baptist church, have announced that they will hold "around - the - clock" prayer services beginning Saturday morning at six o'clock and continuing until Sunday morning at six.

Baptist Deer Creek Association churches and their pastors who are scheduled to take part in the simultaneous revival include:

Boeuf River, Joseph Silvio; Bayou Macon, Louis Warren; Calvery, E. W. Brumback; Crockett Point, Lonnie Walker; Coax, W. Braswell; Eureka, Hoke Dupree; Fish Bayou Joe Broadway; Fort Necessity, M. J. Lecture Series To Begin This Week At St. Matthew's

Father Hilary, of the Passionist Fathers of Chicago will deliver a series of talks at St. Matthew's Catholic Church beginning Sunday night at 6 o'clock and continuing each night throughout the week, climaxing with his closing sermon Sunday April 3 at 6:00 p.m.

The talks through the week days will begin at 7:30 p.m. each night.

Father Hilary is an experienced missionary, having preached in major Catholic churches throughout the nation. During the past year he has given missions in many churches of the Diocese of Alexandria.

The missionary will also give short talks on the Commandments and the Sacraments after each of the morning Masses at 6:30 and 8:30 each week day morning throughout the week. He will also conduct a retreat for the high school for three days and for the grammar school for two days.

Everyone is invited to attend any or all of the exercises of this week mission at St. Matthew's.

Fair Park Baptist Observes 6th Year

The Fair Park Baptist Church will observe its sixth anniversary today. Plans for 250 in Sunday School and 150 in Training Union are made.

The former pastor, Rev. Claude Fortenberry, will speak at eleven o'clock. The roll of the church will also be called and dinner will be served at the church.

All former members and friends are invited to attend. A special invitation is extended to all the pastors of the Trenton Association.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: How can I have peace in my heart and have the assurance that I am a Christian? M. S.

ANSWER: By believing what God says in His Word. If some famous, wealthy man were to come to you, when you were heavily in debt and without a cent in your pocket, and tell you honestly and deliberately that he would pay all your debts and gratify your every wish, you surely can understand that a radical change in your circumstances would depend upon whether you believed the word of this benefactor or not. Believing his word and accepting his generosity, you would cease to be a debtor and pauper. Instead, you would begin to enjoy some of the good things which money can provide.

Now, Jesus Christ comes to every one saying, "I am come that ye might have life and that ye might have it more abundantly," John 10:10. How can you be sure of that? Jesus Christ also says, "I am the way, the truth and the life," John 14:6. He is the truth. You can reckon on His word. You can rest your whole soul for all time and eternity upon what He has said. You can put your feet upon His promises and know that you are standing on a rock, for Christ will never let you down. This is the faith that saves and it is the faith which brings to you peace of heart. It is Jesus Christ, and He alone, Who can give that sense of purpose, power and peace. It has been said, "Without Jesus Christ, The Way there is no going. Without Jesus Christ, the Truth, there is no knowing. Without Jesus Christ, the Life, there is no doing." It is a wonderful thing to be able to accept Jesus Christ and to have His peace in the heart. Martin Luther once said, "all religion is contained in the personal pronouns." You can have this relationship with Christ, enabling you to say with Paul, "The Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me," Galations 2:20.

Baptists Open 2-week Revival Crusade Today

Thirty-two of the Baptist churches in the Ouachita Parish and Trenton Associations launched their revivals today in connection with the two-week, 1955 Simultaneous Revival Crusade over the central area of the southland.

Prayer meetings, religious census, teaching of study books and local rallies have proceeded the crusade, which is the beginning of a "Four Year Conquest for Christ," instigated by Dr. Redford.

Dr. C. E. Matthews, secretary of the board's department of evangelism, Dallas, Tex., has stated that the theme of the crusade will be "Christ Is the Answer." This theme was used in 1951, in which almost 400,000 people were baptized into southern Baptist membership.

Matthews looks for an estimated half a million persons to be baptized as a result of this simultaneous revival.

On the local scene, almost 90 per cent of the churches have engaged but of town speakers to launch their portion of the crusade.

Rev. D. W. Nix, general chairman of the Ouachita Baptist Association stated that 12 of the churches in the association would sponsor breakfast meetings on Monday and Friday of the two weeks for the receiving of reports and fellowship.

It has been pointed out by Dr. Matthews that the campaign, placing an emphasis on "soul winning," had as its counter part, the moving of church membership.

"The coordinated efforts of individuals engaged in such a simultaneous revival brings about power," Matthews said.

With an after thought Dr. Matthews has added that churches working together do much more than one crying in the wilderness.

Dr. R. G. Lee, internationally known Baptist preacher from Memphis, Tenn., and Dr. J. D. Grey, pastor of the First Baptist Church of New Orleans emphasized the simultaneous revival at Friday's meeting of the Baptist Training Union convention in New Orleans.

The last portion of the convention which extended through Friday night was devoted to last minute preparations and meditation for the crusade that got underway today.

Representatives of the Trenton Association, one of the Twin City area groups, state that all 19 of the association's church membership is engaged in the crusade.

The Trenton Association comprises most of the churches west of the river to the boundaries of Ouachita and Lincoln parish whereas the Ouachita Baptist Association is composed of those east of the river to Richland parish.

A portion of the simultaneous revival has already been held in one area. That district designated by Baptist officials, as the tropical area of the United States and parts of Cuba, Panama and the Canal Zone, held their revivals during the two week period of March 6-20.

The central area, of which Louisiana is a component, is presently holding its meetings. The dates are March 27 through April 10.

The northern zone crusade is slated for April 10-24 and will include Southern Baptist Churches up to Canada and Alaska.

Some 3,600 churches are represented in the tropical zone, 13,000 in the intermediate area, and about 13,000 in the northern zone.

Churches that are participating in the crusade from the two associations are:

First Church, West Monroe, Trinity, Ridge Avenue, Edgewood, Fairpark, Peniel, Claiborne, Good Hope, New Chapel Hill, Calhoun, Liberty, Oak Grove, Cypress, Center Point, Bethel, Brownville, Cheniere, Clarks Springs, McClendon, Mt. Vernon, First Church, Monroe, Parkview, Highland Park, College Place, Central, Faith, Temple, Calvary, Memorial Park, Fairbanks, Swartz and New Light.

Ruston Churches To Hold Ten Day Revival Crusade

RUSTON, March 26—(Special)—Rev. A. H. Johnson, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, said today that Emmanuel Church, along with other Ruston Baptist churches, would begin a ten day revival meeting Sunday in cooperation with a revival crusade whose slogan is "Christ Is the Answer."

The Rev. M. M. Gilchrist, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Welch, La. will be the principal speaker at the special services.

A graduate of La. College, the Rev. Gilchrist has served the Welch church for two years as pastor. He will be assisted at the revival services, which will be held twice daily at 7 a.m. and 7:30 p. m., by the Rev. P. A. Wiley of Simsboro, who will be in charge of the singing.

The Emmanuel Church, which has a membership of 291 and which is less than five years old, has, in preparation for the revival had a week of study in the winning of souls, a week of visitation and 16 cottage prayer meetings which have been held in the homes of various members of the congregation.

22 Churches In Franklin Set For Revival Crusade

By OTIS HASSELL
STAFF CORRESPONDENT

WINNSBORO, March, 24 —Revival services are scheduled in the 22 Franklin Parish Baptist churches of Deer Creek Association during the next two weeks, starting March 7, and continuing through April 10. These special services are in cooperation with the convention-wide simultaneous evangelistic crusade of Southern Baptist. Some of the churches will hold revival services during the first week, others the second, and some will run through the two weeks period.

Visiting evangelists will conduct the services in 16 of the churches and in the other six churches, pastors will conduct the revival.

Cottage prayer meetings are being held throughout the parish this week. Two churches, the Temple Baptist church and the Lone Cedar Baptist church, have announced that they will hold "around - the - clock" prayer services beginning Saturday morning at six o'clock and continuing until Sunday morning at six.

Baptist Deer Creek Association churches and their pastors who are scheduled to take part in the simultaneous revival include:

Boeuf River, Joseph Silvio; Bayou Macon, Louis Warren; Calvery, E. W. Brumback; Crockett Point, Lonnie Walker; Coax, W. Braswell; Eureka, Hoke Dupree; Fish Bayou Joe Broadway; Fort Necessity, M. J. Lecture Series To Begin This Week At St. Matthews

Father Hilary, of the Passionist Fathers of Chicago will deliver a series of talks at St. Matthew's Catholic Church beginning Sunday night at 6 o'clock and continuing each night throughout the week, climaxing with his closing sermon Sunday April 3 at 6:00 p.m.

The talks through the week days will begin at 7:30 p.m. each night.

Father Hilary is an experienced missionary, having preached in major Catholic churches throughout the nation. During the past year he has given missions in many churches of the Diocese of Alexandria.

The missionary will also give short talks on the Commandments and the Sacraments after each of the morning Masses at 6:30 and 8:30 each week day morning throughout the week. He will also conduct a retreat for the high school for three days and for the grammar school for two days.

Everyone is invited to attend any or all of the exercises of this week mission at St. Matthew's.

Fair Park Baptist Observes 6th Year

The Fair Park Baptist Church will observe its sixth anniversary today. Plans for 250 in Sunday School and 150 in Training Union are made.

The former pastor, Rev. Claude Fortenberry, will speak at eleven o'clock. The roll of the church will also be called and dinner will be served at the church.

All former members and friends are invited to attend. A special invitation is extended to all the pastors of the Trenton Association.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: How can I have peace in my heart and have the assurance that I am a Christian? M. S.

ANSWER: By believing what God says in His Word. If some famous, wealthy man were to come to you, when you were heavily in debt and without a cent in your pocket, and tell you honestly and deliberately that he would pay all your debts and gratify your every wish, you surely can understand that a radical change in your circumstances would depend upon whether you believed the word of this benefactor or not. Believing his word and accepting his generosity, you would cease to be a debtor and pauper. Instead, you would begin to enjoy some of the good things which money can provide.

Now, Jesus Christ comes to every one saying, "I am come that ye might have life and that ye might have it more abundantly," John 10:10. How can you be sure of that? Jesus Christ also says, "I am the way, the truth and the life," John 14:6. He is the truth. You can reckon on His word. You can rest your whole soul for all time and eternity upon what He has said. You can put your feet upon His promises and know that you are standing on a rock, for Christ will never let you down. This is the faith that saves and it is the faith which brings to you peace of heart. It is Jesus Christ, and He alone, Who can give that sense of purpose, power and peace. It has been said, "Without Jesus Christ, The Way there is no going. Without Jesus Christ, the Truth, there is no knowing. Without Jesus Christ, the Life, there is no doing." It is a wonderful thing to be able to accept Jesus Christ and to have His peace in the heart. Martin Luther once said, "all religion is contained in the personal pronouns." You can have this relationship with Christ, enabling you to say with Paul, "The Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me," Galations 3:20.

THE HOME SHIFT—

With Mildred Swift

Prune Azaleas While Blooming

We've been wanting a rain and believe me we got one, along with a light freeze that we didn't order. The heavy downpour beat many of the blossoms and washed our small seed away, but so far I haven't seen any severe freeze damage. The soil was so very wet which was a protection.

GARDEN JOBS

The azaleas can be pruned while they're blooming. If you have a plant that has two or three long, bare woody branches with a top-knot of leaves and blossoms at the end, cut off those limbs way back where they join the main trunk. I know it's going to hurt your feelings but you'll be proud of your healthy shrub with its new growth, later on. Then you can use the blossoms in the house.

Flowering quince has finished blooming and it too can be pruned. Cut the oldest canes where they put out from the ground. Also, popcorn spirea can be pruned the same way. Old wood in any plant is not going to bloom after a year or so. That's the part you want to keep cut out of your plants.

After the bearded iris blooms it can be divided. Work bone meal in the soil when transplanting and plant very shallow. Also put bone meal around your early blooming bulbs that have finished blooming. Leave the tops on until they are dead. You can plait them for a neater effect.

If you're growing sweetpeas, a very light sprinkling of nitrate along side the row will help get them growing well. Take care and don't get it on the leaves as nitrates burn. This is a fertilizer and you can buy it at the seed store or nursery.

There was a time when cannas were considered just common plants with their gaudy colors and tall growth. The new plants are lower growing and available in pastel tones. They are called the Grand Opera series because they have such names as La Traviata, Rigoletto, La Boheme, Aida, Mignon and Madame Butterfly. The flower arrangers like cannas. The bulbs can be planted as soon as the ground warms up. They like rich soil.

Some Styles

This spring hosiery manufacturers are giving women plenty of variety in skin-toned nylons. Mamie Eisenhower, our First Lady, gave this new fashion a big boost. Seems that Mrs. Eisenhower's fondness for pastel stockings to blend with the color of her outfit made quite an impression. Pastel tints are now being shown in every color of the rainbow — delicate shades of pink, blue, lilac, gold, gray and green, so sheer they make a mere shadow on the legs.

Yellow — the color that has scored such success in many spring fashions — has left its mark on bridal designs, too. Seems that yellow has risen to top place in color for attendants.

A Household Hint

A homemaker recently complained that her bathtub has yellow markings which she has not been able to remove with household cleanser. She said that the markings may have been caused by materials used in decorating the apartment. If such discoloration is caused by painting materials, a homemaker should be able to remove it by the use of paint remover. Other stains generally can be removed by saturating a piece of cloth with peroxide then sprinkling it liberally with cream of tartar and a scratchless scouring powder. When the powder becomes a paste rub it on the stains and allow to remain for one-half hour or so. Then rinse with clear water, and the tub surface should be restored to its original condition.

Raisin Reminders

Raisins are on the plentiful food list for March. To make raisins extra plump and juicy for use in fruit cup or salad, rinse them in hot water. In cakes and breads raisins spread their sweetness and flavor further and have less tendency to sink if they are chopped. For chopping, use scissors dipped in hot water. Dust the chopped raisins with part of the sifted dry ingredients. This helps keep them buoyed up during baking. Once a package of raisins is opened, transfer the contents to a tightly-covered jar or tin. This keeps them from drying but and becoming hard on the shelf. And in warm, humid summer weather it keeps them from absorbing moisture and molding.

If you'll soak prunes in orange juice overnight in a covered bowl you'll find the family will like the change, besides picking up that valuable vitamin C in the juice. By the way, isn't it convenient to be able to pick up a carton of fresh orange juice at the grocers?

Announcements

Here are your home shows on TV. Open House for next week. Mrs. Ann Howser from Union Parish will give you some gardening; Tuesday, Maud Mayo will make over old hats; Wednesday, Mrs. Jardine will bring you the winning flower arrangements and we'll do some gardening; Thursday is marketing and food preparation day with Irene Turner, food preparation specialist, Mammy, and me; Friday, we may have a style show. I'll tell you later about that.

See you next Sunday.

Grow Vegetables For Family Needs Without Waste

Without a planned production schedule, it is a common experience to harvest an over-abundance of quick growing crops in the early summer, and have none at all later in the season.

This can be avoided by estimating in advance how much of each crop your family can use during the period when its quality is high. Then several plantings can be made, so that when the first crop has passed its prime, another will be ready to harvest.

In the table above, the time it takes each of twelve popular vegetables to reach table size is stated, with the period it remains in prime condition in the garden. It also tell show much space in the row is required to produce one serving of each vegetable for the average family of four.

You must supply the fourth factor in figuring a schedule, which is the number of serving your family will desire from each sowing. Then sow enough to produce the family needs for the period of good harvest, and plan repeated sowings, timed so your needs are provided all season.

There is another class of vegetables, which require only one sowing for the summer. But the space allotted each should be balanced with the family use. Data for estimating the garden space required for these crops follows:

Broccoli	70 days	2 ft. in row
Celery	140 days	1 ft. in row
Kale	60 days	1 ft. in row
Leek	90 days	2 ft. in row
Parsley	70 days	6 in. in row
Parsnip	95 days	2 ft. in row
Salsify	100 days	2 ft. in row
Swiss chard	60 days	6 in.
New Zealand spinach	60 days	6 in.
Tender crops
Eggplant	90 days	1 ft. in row
Peppers	60 days	1 ft. in row
Late tomatoes	80 days	6 in. staked

Hardy crops should be sown as soon as the ground can be worked, regardless of frequent frosts. Tender crops, and all plants started under protection, should not be sown or set out in the garden before danger of frost is over.

Garden Center Notes

Color Slides Of Show Will Be Shown

The state flower show in New Orleans was most beautiful and I wish all of you could have been there. However, if you did miss the show, here's good news! Marjorie Lamkin of St. Joseph, Garden Club reporter for Tensas parish has taken color slides of all the prize winners. These slides will be available for garden club programs throughout the state. Write and make a date with Miss Lamkin for your club. Never have I seen more beautiful flowers and in such quantity. The horticulture section filled to over-flowing three rooms. Competition was very keen and there were great crowds of people both times I visited the show. The fifth district brought home some ribbons and I will try to list some of them for you. My list is by no means complete, so if I have overlooked your club please write and tell us your entries and the ribbons you won.

First of all, congratulations to Mrs. J. W. Huckabay of the Tallulah Home Gardeners. Mrs. Huckabay was given a state award for the best horticultural paper. Blue ribbons in horticulture were awarded as follows: Mrs. H. L. Jones, Madison Parish Garden Club, Tallulah for anemone. Mrs. J. S. Pirkle, Ruston Garden Club for hoop petticoat daffodil, Mrs. R. A. Brown, Wisner Garden Club for white narcissus, Mrs. W. A. Tucker, Wisner for fire tail narcissus, Mrs. Horace Josey, Welcome Garden Club, Monroe for fantasy amaryllis, Mrs. Norman Jardine, welcome Garden Club for unsurpassable daffodil, and kalanchoe.

The biggest news of the state convention is that the garden clubs of the city of Ruston, Ruston Garden Club, Suburban Garden Club, Green Thumb Garden Club and the Fifth District Garden Federation invited the next state flower show and convention to be held in Ruston in March 1956. The invitation was accepted by unanimous vote and we are all looking forward to this wonderful event! Mrs. Stewart Hunt is chairman.

The beautiful flower arrangements on display this week were presented by our talented Twin-City arrangers. Mrs. C. C. Lucky designed a lovely monochromatic line - mass arrangement in tints and tones of red. Red-leaf photinia was used to establish the line with Pride of Mobile azaleas filling in the design. A bud and two large blooms of Purple Dawn camellia as the accent or focal point. The container was deep maroon and the arrangement placed against a soft pink background. The color harmony here was breathtaking! Dr. Katherine Foster created a beautiful crescent arrangement in Mardi-Gras colors. Using a soft yellow container, Katherine made her crescent line of pussy-willow, enhanced with buds and blooms of yellow Dutch iris, followed by snapdragons in purple tones touched with yellow. In the focal area a large deep lavendar tulip was used surrounded by the foliage of variegated dracena. (Tones of purple, green and yellow.) Very lovely! Mrs. Kent Breard designed a lovely Hogarth curve in green and white. For a container, Mrs. Breard used a green cube pillow vase and created her design of white bridal wreath, new growth of Buford holly and large white azaleas. Dr. Foster designed another free-standing vertical arrangement suitable for using atop a TV cabinet. A round Chinese brass bowl was used with tall spikes of pussy-willow, buds of yellow Dutch iris and narcissus. Mt. Hood daffodils were used low in the arrangement with variegated ivy for interest. Mrs. Jewel B. Durham displayed her beautiful dark red Dutch amaryllis.

Grey Plants For Flower Borders

In making your plans for flower borders for this year, do not forget the grey foliage plants. If you are a new gardener, make it a point to look up all the good grey foliaged plants because they are extremely effective in a garden. Most of the plants are very drought resistant. In fact, most of them come from hot, dry places. For this reason, you may not get them to grow too well in sections of the garden where there is shade, but some kinds will tolerate some shade if they are not growing in too much moisture. The kinds we shall discuss here will do all right in the ordinary perennial bed in the sun or in part shade. Grey plants, even though they do not have blooms of any importance, will add great beauty to your garden. If you have wondered what to plant with the magenta flowers of all kinds — especially the purplish and magenta phloxes at the end of the summer—the answer is grey foliage plants.

There are so many kinds of plant which people commonly call Dusty Miller that you will run right into confusion and find that everybody is arguing about which plant should rightly have this name. The two commonest grey edging plants are both called Dusty Miller, for instance. They look much alike, but one of them is listed in the books as Artemisia stelleriana and the other one as Cineraria maritima. These are the bands of grey that used to be used in what was called "ribbon bedding." Since this type of flower beds planted to look like a rug on the floor fits the formal flower gardens in Europe, you will see lots of it in the parks and gardens from Scandinavia to Italy. Here at home, you can make an edger of these plants if you like or you can let them grow up to a foot or more and plant groups of them right in with your perennials and annuals. They are both easy to raise from seed and available from florists as little potted plants. A variety of Cineraria maritima called "Diamond" is an improvement over the type because it is more dwarf — only 15 inches high.

Perhaps you have seen that low, dense beautiful shrub called lavender cotton (Santolina) used as a border. This is a perfect plant, but it demands a well drained place where other plants do not obstruct the air or light and it needs some trimming occasionally. Full sun is best, and do not set the sprinkler where the water will reach it in summer. Perennial catalogues list a blue - grey grass called Festuca glauca which is a beautiful low tufted grass for an edger in the very hottest driest places. You can also use the white leaved little Veronica incana, and everybody knows the spreading somewhat grey leaved Nepeta Mussini.

For taller grey leaved groups which are always beautiful when interspersed with the groups of perennials and annuals, you can get plants of artemisia Silver King and Centaurea gymnocarpa. If you cannot find this centaurea in your perennial catalogues, look in the seeds section of the standard seed companies. You can raise it very easily from seed. It does not grow very tall the first year but will reach 15 inches the second year. It is perennial and very handsome as a foliage plant for arrangements in the house.

Prune Azaleas While Blooming

We've been wanting a rain and believe me we got one, along with a light freeze that we didn't order. The heavy downpour beat many of the blossoms and washed our small seed away, but so far I haven't seen any severe freeze damage. The soil was so very wet which was a protection.

GARDEN JOBS

The azaleas can be pruned while they're blooming. If you have a plant that has two or three long, bare woody branches with a top-knot of leaves and blossoms at the end, cut off those limbs way back where they join the main trunk. I know it's going to hurt your feelings but you'll be proud of your healthy shrub with its new growth, later on. Then you can use the blossoms in the house.

Flowering quince has finished blooming and it too can be pruned. Cut the oldest canes where they put out from the ground. Also, popcorn spirea can be pruned the same way. Old wood in any plant is not going to bloom after a year or so. That's the part you want to keep cut out of your plants.

After the bearded iris blooms it can be divided. Work bone meal in the soil when transplanting and plant very shallow. Also put bone meal around your early blooming bulbs that have finished blooming. Leave the tops on until they are dead. You can plait them for a meater effect.

If you're growing sweetpeas, a very light sprinkling of nitrate along side the row will help get them growing well. Take care and don't get it on the leaves as nitrates burn. This is a fertilizer and you can buy it at the seed store or nursery.

There was a time when cannas were considered just common plants with their gaudy colors and tall growth. The new plants are lower growing and available in pastel tones. They are called the Grand Opera series because they have such names as La Traviata, Rigoletto, La Boheme, Aida, Mignon and Madame Butterfly. The flower arrangers like cannas. The bulbs can be planted as soon as the ground warms up. They like rich soil.

Some Styles

This spring hosiery manufacturers are giving women plenty of variety in skin-toned nylons. Mamie Eisenhower, our First Lady, gave this new fashion a big boast. Seems that Mrs. Eisenhower's fondness for pastel stockings to blend with the color of her outfit made quite an impression. Pastel tints are now being shown in every color of the rainbow — delicate shades of pink, blue, lilac, gold, gray and green, so sheer they make a mere shadow on the legs.

Yellow — the color that has scored such success in many spring fashions — has left its mark on bridal designs, too. Seems that yellow has risen to top place in color for attendants.

A Household Hint

A homemaker recently complained that her bathtub has yellow markings which she has not been able to remove with household cleanser. She said that the markings may have been caused by materials used in decorating the apartment. If such discoloration is caused by painting materials, a homemaker should be able to remove it by the use of paint remover. Other stains generally can be removed by saturating a piece of cloth with peroxide then sprinkling it liberally with cream of tartar and a scratchless scouring powder. When the powder becomes a paste, rub it on the stains and allow to remain for one-half hour or so. Then rinse with clear water, and the tub surface should be restored to its original condition.

Raisin Reminders

Raisins are on the plentiful food list for March. To make raisins extra plump and juicy for use in fruit cup or salad, rinse them in hot water. In cakes and breads raisins spread their sweetness and flavor further and have less tendency to sink if they are chopped. For chopping, use scissors dipped in hot water. Dust the chopped raisins with part of the sifted dry ingredients. This helps keep them buoyed up during baking. Once a package of raisins is opened, transfer the contents to a tightly-covered jar or tin. This keeps them from drying but and becoming hard on the shelf. And in warm, humid summer weather it keeps them from absorbing moisture and molding.

If you'll soak prunes in orange juice overnight (in a covered bowl) you'll find the family will like the change, besides picking up that valuable vitamin C in the juice. By the way, isn't it convenient to be able to pick up a carton of fresh orange juice at the grocers?

Announcements

Here are your home shows on TV Open House for next week. Miss Ann Howser from Union Parish will give you some gardening; Tuesday, Maud Mayo will make over old hats; Wednesday, Mrs. Jardine will bring you the winning flower arrangements and we'll do some gardening; Thursday is marketing and food preparation day with Irene Turner, food preparation specialist, Mammy, and me; Friday, we may have a style show. I'll tell you later about that.

See you next Sunday.

Grow Vegetables For Family Needs Without Waste

Even a small home vegetable garden should be planned, to balance production with the family needs.

Without a planned production schedule, it is a common experience to harvest an over-abundance of quick growing crops in the early summer, and have none at all later in the season.

This can be avoided by estimating in advance how much of each crop your family can use during the period when its quality is high. Then several plantings can be made, so that when the first crop has passed its prime, another will be ready to harvest.

In the table above, the time it takes each of twelve popular vegetables to reach table size is stated, with the period it remains in prime condition in the garden. It also tell show much space in the row is required to produce one serving of each vegetable for the average family of four.

You must supply the fourth factor in figuring a schedule, which is the number of serving your family will desire from each sowing. Then sow enough to produce the family needs for the period of good harvest, and plan repeated sowings, timed so your needs are provided all season.

There is another class of vegetables, which require only one sowing for the summer. But the space allotted each should be balanced with the family use. Data for estimating the garden space required for these crops follows:

Broccoli	70 days	2 ft. in row
Celery	140 days	1 ft. in row
Kale	60 days	1 ft. in row
Leek	90 days	2 ft. in row
Parsley	70 days	6 in. in row
Parsnip	95 days	2 ft. in row
Salsify	100 days	2 ft. in row
Swiss chard	60 days	6 in.
New Zealand spinach	60 days	6 in.
Tender crops
Eggplant	90 days	1 ft. in row
Peppers	60 days	1 ft. in row
Late tomatoes	80 days	6 in. staked

Hardy crops should be sown as soon as the ground can be worked, regardless of frequent frosts. Tender crops, and all plants started under protection, should not be sown or set out in the garden before danger of frost is over.

Color Slides Of Show Will Be Shown

The state flower show in New Orleans was most beautiful and I wish all of you could have been there. However, if you did miss the show, here's good news! Marjorie Lamkin of St. Joseph, Garden Club reporter for Tensas parish has taken color slides of all the prize winners. These slides will be available for garden club programs throughout the state. Write and make a date with Miss Lamkin for your club. Never have I seen more beautiful flowers and in such quantity. The horticulture section filled to over-flowing three rooms. Competition was very keen and there were great crowds of people both times I visited the show. The fifth district brought home some ribbons and I will try to list some of them for you. My list is by no means complete, so if I have overlooked your club, please write and tell us your entries and the ribbons you won.

First of all, congratulations to Mrs. J. W. Huckabay of the Tallulah Home Gardeners. Mrs. Huckabay was given a state award for the best horticultural paper. Blue ribbons in horticulture were awarded as follows: Mrs. H. L. Jones, Madison Parish Garden Club, Tallulah for anemone, Mrs. J. S. Pirkle, Ruston Garden Club for hoop petticoat daffodil, Mrs. R. A. Brown, Wisner Garden Club for white narcissus, Mrs. W. A. Tucker, Wisner for fire tail narcissus, Mrs. Horace Josey, Welcome Garden Club, Monroe for fantasy amaryllis, Mrs. Norman Jardine, welcome Garden Club for unsurpassable daffodil, and kalanchoe.

The biggest news of the state convention is that the garden clubs of the city of Ruston, Ruston Garden Club, Suburban Garden Club, Green Thumb Garden Club and the Fifth District Garden Federation invited the next state flower show and convention to be held in Ruston in March 1956. The invitation was accepted by unanimous vote and we are all looking forward to this wonderful event! Mrs. Stewart Hunt is chairman.

The beautiful flower arrangements on display this week were presented by our talented Twin-City arrangers. Mrs. C. C. Lucky designed a lovely monochromatic line - mass arrangement in tints and tones of red. Red-leaf photinia was used to establish the line with Pride of Mobile azaleas filling in the design. A bud and two large blooms of Purple Dawn camellia as the accent or focal point. The container was deep maroon and the arrangement placed against a soft pink background. The color harmony here was breathtaking! Dr. Katherine Foster created a beautiful crescent arrangement in Mardi-Gras colors. Using a soft yellow container, Katherine made her crescent line of pussy-willow, enhanced with buds and blooms of yellow Dutch iris, followed by snapdragons in purple tones touched with yellow. In the focal area a large deep lavendar tulip was used surrounded by the foliage of variegated dracena. (Tones of purple, green and yellow.) Very lovely! Mrs. Kent Breard designed a lovely Hogarth curve in green and white. For a container, Mrs. Breard used a green cube pillow vase and created her design of white bridal wreath, new growth of Buford holly and large white azaleas. Dr. Foster designed another free-standing vertical arrangement (suitable for using atop a TV cabinet.) A round Chinese brass bowl was used with tall spikes of pussy-willow, buds of yellow Dutch iris and narcissus. Mt. Hood daffodils were used low in the arrangement with variegated ivy for interest. Mrs. Jewel B. Durham displayed her beautiful dark red Dutch amaryllis.

United Gas Opens In New Monroe Building Monday

The Monroe distribution division office of United Gas will open for business Monday morning in the company's new office building located at the corner of North Fourth and Breard streets, Shelby Cage, division manager, announced Saturday. Records, furniture, materials and equipment from the company's former office located at 113 Jackson street are being moved over the week end, and personnel will be ready at the new location tomorrow morning to take care of all types of business formerly transacted at the old location.

A formal "open house day" for the new, modern office building will be announced at a later date, according to Cage, and at that time the public will be invited to visit and inspect the new office and sales room.

The new facility with larger space for all types of service and sales will be more convenient for United Gas customers, Cage stated, since it is readily accessible from all parts of the city. A large parking area on the north side of the property will provide ample parking space for customers and visitors to the office.

The one-story building, facing on North Fourth Street, was so constructed that a second story can be added at a future time, if required. There are approximately 7,500 square feet of office space in the building. Large plate glass windows provide a visual front for the gas appliance display room. The exterior is constructed of Roman brick.

Local natural gas customers will be able to conduct all business which they have with United Gas at the new office starting Monday morning. Applications for service, payment of bills and assistance in the purchase and use of modern gas appliances will be available. Customers may inspect appliance in which they are interested in the large sales room and receive instruction in the proper operation of all gas appliances.

The office building is equipped with modern, all-year air conditioning. The system provides automatic unit control of temperatures for the office space within the structure.

Smith & Padgett of Monroe were the architects, and Jesse F. Heard & Son of West Monroe were the contractors.

"Our company," Cage said, "has tremendous faith in the continued growth of Monroe and West Monroe and surrounding area. Our new and larger downtown facility was built to assure that United Gas keeps ahead of this growth in order to continue providing dependable natural gas service today, and to be in position to have the facilities necessary to meet all requirements for customer service in the future."

Completion of the downtown office building in Monroe marks the third major onstruction project built for United Gas in this area during the past two years. The company's large service center facility on Louisville Avenue was formally occupied and opened on May 8, 1954, and downtown building for the West Monroe distribution office of United Gas was opened on July 21 last year.

A/2C MILTON DALE RAWLS, husband of Celia Ann Rawls of Monroe and son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rawls of West Monroe, is now stationed with the 92nd B. O. M. W. G. at Fairchild Air Force Base in Spokane, Wash., after completing his training course at Lonny Air Force Base in Denver, Colo.

About 12,300,000 people have been added to the U. S. population since the 1950 census.

0. Prov. 18:9. He who is slack in his work is a brother to him who destroys.
1. Jer. 17:18. Let me not be dismayed.
2. Eph. 6:18. Keep alert with all perseverance.
3. Jer. 7:6. Do not go after other gods to your own hurt.
4. Prov. 22:6. Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.

Flying Farmers Set Shreveport Meet March 29

SHREVEPORT, La., March 26 (Special) — The annual convention of Louisiana Flying Farmers will be held in Shreveport on March 29, 30 and 31, with headquarters in the Washington-Youree Hotel, according to announcement of Ed LaSalle, Sr., president of the organization. "We expect about a hundred farmers from all sections of Louisiana to fly in to Shreveport for this convention, and for their pleasure we have arranged a good program," the president stated. He is a resident of New Iberia, La.

Co-operating in making the convention a success will be the Aviation Committee of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce, and the Shreveport Chapter of the Womens' National Aviation Association. W. Currey Sanders, chairman of the chamber's aviation committee, has been working closely with Brigadier General T. B. Herndon, of Baton Rouge, on features of the program and convention arrangements. General Herndon is advisor to the board of the organization.

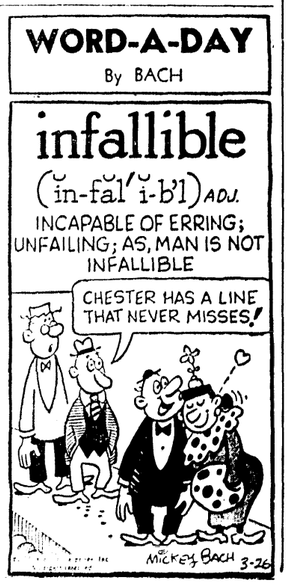

Highlights of the well-balanced program include a tour of Barksdale Air Force Base on Wednesday, the 30th, and a barbecue that evening at Magnolia Plantation. Addresses featuring the Thursday sessions will be given by Fred S. Shine on "Safety in Flying"; Colonel Roy T. Sessums on "Water Resources and Utilization"; and Brigadier General Maurice Preston, on "The Mission of SAC." On the entertainment side, a bus tour of Shreveport will be made in the afternoon, and that evening the annual banquet will be held.

Louisiana Flying Farmers is an association composed of farmers who utilize air craft in the conduct of their business. The Shreveport convention will give them an opportunity to discuss their mutual problems.

PROTECT BABY

It is a good idea not to toss blankets or other garments over baby's crib, even for a second. These may fall down over baby's head or if he is at the reaching stage, they may be pulled over his head with dire consequences.

Tonic Hairdos

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. Ask any woman to name a few of the greatest feminine morale boosters and chances are she'll place a new hairdo at the top of the list.

Seven Grand Rapids hair stylists know that too, and so they've become far and away the most popular visitors to women at the Maple Grove Home for the Aged.

The hairdressers donate their services each Monday free of charge, giving permanents as well as hair settings to about 100 women at the home. All the necessary equipment was donated by area beauty shop operators. The regular beauty treatments do much to perk up the spirits of women at the home.

"It proves that beauty is more than skin deep," says Kenneth Stout, Maple Grove superintendent. "This is the nicest thing I've seen in a long time."

A GIRL AND A GOB—Debbie Reynolds and Russ Tamblyn are one of the three stellar romantic teams in M-G-M's big CinemaScope musical, "Hit The Deck," with a Navy San Francisco shore-leave background and a flock of song hits by Vincent Youmans. The other romancers are Jane Powell and Vic Damone, Tony Martin and Ann Miller, with Walter Pidgeon, Gene Raymond, Kay Armen and J. Carrol Naish in an all-star cast. The show opens today at the Jim Theatre.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Copyright U. S. Pat. Off.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Experience proves that it would avoid heaps of divorces. Among 5,000 engaged couples who consulted counselors in advance, not one was divorced after five years. Marriage counseling after marriage has been almost as successful. The American Institute of Family Relations, Los Angeles, will send you addresses of your nearest counselor, free. They do some counseling by mail at cost.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. You should first strongly condemn yourself. Then calmly study how and why you made the mistake, make clear plans for not repeating it, and ask divine help and help from friends, if you feel these things will aid you. This is true repentance. Our booklet, "Master Your Bad Habits," will help wonderfully. Nonprofit, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Two psychologists gave an exam to some students. They encouraged one group, discouraged a second, and said nothing to the third. First group did best; discouraged group next, third group, worst. Probably generally true. Psychologists find the wife who is ignored and the social "wallflower" probably suffer more than those who are criticized. The latter can fight back.

PLEASE DON'T SCRATCH

It is a good idea, advise the experts, not to stack more than 12 plates high, with the smallest on top. It is a good idea, too, to separate the plates with a paper napkin or cloth mat to protect them from scratches.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION FISHER

Opening night for "She Stoops to Conquer" is but four nights away. The date is Thursday. For the many people who have been waiting to see this hilariously funny play, we can assure you that nothing has been left undone that can in any way add to your expectations.

The cast and the stage crew are working feverishly each night to put on all finishing touches, and the wardrobe department is preparing the costumes. From all appearances there is no doubt that this is going to be one of the outstanding productions of the season. "Whatever you do, for heaven's sake" don't miss it. Little Theatre membership is not necessary, to attend.

It might be timely to remind the high school literature classes, in this area, that "She Stoops to Conquer" is one of the classics of English literature. The five night run will present it in its complete form, exactly as it was written in the original script. It was first presented at Covent Gardens, in London and the famous Dr. Samuel Johnson was largely instrumental in persuading the producers to stage it. Oliver Goldsmith himself, was so dubious about this product of his pen that he remained away from its opening night. This was in March 1773, and it is still being produced.

It has certainly stood the test of time. Because of the fact that the action of all seven scenes of this play, takes place in one evening, it has often been referred to as "The Mistakes of One Night."

Dress rehearsal, for the board of directors of the Little Theatre, is called for Tuesday night at 8:30. We take this opportunity to invite them to be present, for that occasion.

Thumbnail Sketch . . . Willis Lamar Millican, who plays the role of Marlow, in "She Stoops to Conquer" was born in Philadelphia, Miss. He was very active in the dramatic department during the time he attended high school at Gilbert, La. and took part in his junior and senior class plays. He entered Northeast La. State College in September, 1952, where he is now a senior, working toward a B. A. degree in speech education. At N. E. he has been a member of the casts of "You Touched Me," "The Robe" and "The Happy Journey." He has also participated in radio and TV programs. At L.T.I. he has directed one act plays, as well as their Christmas Pageant. Lamar is instructor of speech correction and dramatics at L. T. I. Although he has been an enthusiastic Little Theatreite for some time, this is the first time he has appeared in one of our productions. He also is assistant director for M. L. T. for the last two productions of this season. In his spare time his favorite pastime is dancing.

IN PERFORMANCE WEDNESDAY—Richard Tucker, internationally known tenor with the Metropolitan Opera company, will be presented in concert Wednesday night at Neville High school auditorium. Tucker is being brought to Monroe by the Twin Cities Community Concert Association. Concert time is 8:15 p.m.

Richard Tucker To Be Presented In Concert Here

The Twin Cities Community Concert Association will present Richard Tucker, Metropolitan Opera tenor, in concert Wednesday night at the Neville High school auditorium. The concert, one of the highlights of the current season and fourth such presentation by this group, will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Often termed to closest resemblance to the late Enrico Caruso, Tucker has been received the world over for his operatic and concert appearances. In 1949 he was chosen by Arturo Toscanini to sing Rhadames in the historic NBC Symphony broadcast of the opera "Aida."

In 1952 Tucker sang in "Elijah" with the New York Philharmonic under Dimitri Mitropoulos, and as the leading tenor, premiered almost every new production at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Since then he has appeared with practically all leading operatic organizations in the country, and is the only tenor to record for both the Metropolitan Opera and LaScala, Italy's leading operatic group. He is also the first American tenor ever invited to make an official LaScala recording.

Tonic Hairdos

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. Ask any woman to name a few of the greatest feminine morale boosters and chances are she'll place a new hairdo at the top of the list.

Seven Grand Rapids hair stylists know that too, and so they've become far and away the most popular visitors to women at the Maple Grove Home for the Aged.

The hairdressers donate their services each Monday free of charge, giving permanents as well as hair settings to about 100 women at the home. All the necessary equipment was donated by area beauty shop operators. The regular beauty treatments do much to perk up the spirits of women at the home.

"It proves that beauty is more than skin deep," says Kenneth Stout, Maple Grove superintendent. "This is the nicest thing I've seen in a long time."

Commercial airlines in the United States make about 2,155 scheduled flights a day, which is one every 40 seconds.

A GIRL AND A GOB—Debbie Reynolds and Russ Tamblyn are one of the three stellar romantic teams in M-G-M's big CinemaScope musical, "Hit The Deck," with a Navy San Francisco shore-leave background and a flock of song hits by Vincent Youmans. The other romancers are Jane Powell and Vic Damone, Tony Martin and Ann Miller, with Walter Pidgeon, Gene Raymond, Kay Armen and J. Carrol Naish in an all-star cast. The show opens today at the Jim Theatre.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Experience proves that it would avoid hosts of divorces. Among 5,000 engaged couples who consulted counselors in advance, not one was divorced after five years. Marriage counseling after marriage has been almost as successful. The American Institute of Family Relations, Los Angeles, will send you addresses of your nearest counselor, free. They do some counseling by mail at cost.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. You should first strongly condemn yourself. Then calmly study how and why you made the mistake, make clear plans for not repeating it, and ask divine help and help from friends, if you feel these things will aid you. This is true repentance. Our booklet, "Master Your Bad Habits," will help wonderfully. Nonprofit. 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Two psychologists gave an exam to some students. They encouraged one group, discouraged a second, and said nothing to the third. First group did best; discouraged group next; third group, worst. Probably generally true. Psychologists find the wife who is ignored and the social "wallflower" probably suffer more than those who are criticized. The latter can fight back.

PLEASE DON'T SCRATCH

It is a good idea, advise the experts, not to stack more than 12 plates high, with the smallest on top. It is a good idea, too, to separate the plates with a paper napkin or cloth mat to protect them from scratches.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION FISHER

Opening night for "She Stoops to Conquer" is but four nights away. The date is Thursday. For the many people who have been waiting to see this hilariously funny play, we can assure you that nothing has been left undone that can in any way add to your expectations.

The cast and the stage crew are working feverishly each night to put on all finishing touches, and the wardrobe department is preparing the costumes. From all appearances there is no doubt that this is going to be one of the outstanding productions of the season. "Whatever you do, for heaven's sake" don't miss it. Little Theatre membership is not necessary, to attend.

It might be timely to remind the high school literature classes, in this area, that "She Stoops to Conquer" is one of the classics of English literature. The five night run will present it in its complete form, exactly as it was written in the original script. It was first presented at Covent Gardens, in London and the famous Dr. Samuel Johnson was largely instrumental in persuading the producers to stage it. Oliver Goldsmith himself, was so dubious about this product of his pen that he remained away from its opening night. This was in March 1773, and it is still being produced.

It has certainly stood the test of time. Because of the fact that the action of all seven scenes of this play, takes place in one evening, it has often been referred to as "The Mistakes of One Night."

Dress rehearsal for the board of directors of the Little Theatre, is called for Tuesday night at 8:30. We take this opportunity to invite them to be present, for that occasion.

Thumbnail Sketch . . . Willis Lamar Millican, who plays the role of Marlow, in "She Stoops to Conquer" was born in Philadelphia, Miss. He was very active in the dramatic department during the time he attended high school at Gilbert, La. and took part in his junior and senior class plays. He entered Northeast La. State College in September, 1952, where he is now a senior, working toward a B. A. degree in speech education. At N. E. he has been a member of the casts of "You Touched Me," "The Robe" and "The Happy Journey." He has also participated in radio and TV programs. At L.T.I. he has directed one act plays, as well as their Christmas Pageant. Lamar is instructor of speech correction and dramatics at L. T. I. Although he has been an enthusiastic Little Theatreite for some time, this is the first time he has appeared in one of our productions. He also is assistant director for M. L. T. for the last two productions of this season. In his spare time his favorite pasttime is dancing.

IN PERFORMANCE WEDNESDAY—Richard Tucker, internationally known tenor with the Metropolitan Opera company, will be presented in concert Wednesday night at Neville High school auditorium. Tucker is being brought to Monroe by the Twin Cities Community Concert Association. Concert time is 8:15 p.m.

Richard Tucker To Be Presented In Concert Here

The Twin Cities Community Concert Association will present Richard Tucker, Metropolitan Opera tenor, in concert Wednesday night at the Neville High school auditorium. The concert, one of the highlights of the current season and fourth such presentation by this group, will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Often termed to closest resemblance to the late Enrico Caruso, Tucker has been received the world over for his operatic and concert appearances. In 1949 he was chosen by Arturo Toscanini to sing Rhadames in the historic NBC Symphony broadcast of the opera "Aida."

In 1952 Tucker sang in "Elijah" with the New York Philharmonic under Dimitri Mitropoulos, and as the leading tenor, premiered almost every new production at the Metropolitan Opera House.

Since then he has appeared with practically all leading operatic organizations in the country, and is the only tenor to record for both the Metropolitan Opera and LaScala, Italy's leading operatic group. He is also the first American tenor ever invited to make an official LaScala recording.

The program will be open to members only.

'Long John Silver'

By JOSEPH KAUFMAN

(Guest Columnist)

("Long John Silver," directed by Byron Haskin, written by Martin Rackin and starring Robert Newton and Kit Taylor, was filmed in Australia in CinemaScope and Eastmancolor and released by Distributors Corporation of America. —Jimmie Fidler.)

HOLLYWOOD, March 26 — What happened to "Long John Silver" after his escape from the Hispaniola in Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island?" Did he live his life in peace, as Jim Hawkins hoped, or did he go back to his old bad ways?

Robert Newton, who played Silver's role in "Treasure Island," asked me these questions. I talked the matter over with the film publicist and author, Martin Rackin. As a result, Rackin spent over a year writing a logical account of Silver's later adventures. He sifted all the details and fables he could discover about the Spanish Caribbean to give his story background and color.

Out of this material he created a story of the sea and the sailors who sail it which immediately appealed to me. Jim Hawkins shipped again as cabin boy in the Hope of Bristol out of his old home port on the shores of the Bristol Channel. I decided to make the film.

But a lot of things have to happen between the time a producer decides to make a film and the time the last shot is safely "in the can." Most of these things mean very hard work.

Newton, of course, would be Long John Silver. I wanted Byron Haskin to direct because he had directed Treasure Island and was the obvious choice. He, Newton and I work well together, and we know much of what we were up against from our experience on "Treasure Island," But Haskin was somewhere in the Pacific making "His Majesty O'Keefe," an experience with Australian screen actors that was to help us greatly later.

I got a script to Haskin, who agreed at once on the venture. Then I formed "Treasure Island Pictures" with Haskin, Rackin Newton and myself as co-partners. We decided to make the film in Australia.

We arranged to film the picture in CinemaScope and made a deal with the new Distributors Corporation of America to distribute it.

We soon found we had taken on something tougher than we expected. Conditions turned out, in fact, to be some of the most difficult that can ever have faced a producer.

Because very few feature films have been made in Australia the country lacks trained film technicians and actors trained in cinematography. Extra technical difficulties arose because the film was the first made there in CinemaScope and Eastmancolor. This meant that none of the Australian technicians had any experience in these two systems.

The Eastmancolor rawstock itself was quite a problem. It had to be imported from America in ice refrigeration cartons, kept frozen after exposure, and ice - packed to England for processing at Denham laboratories.

After this the black - and - white rush prints of what we had shot had to be shipped back to Australia for us to study and cut together in the way we wanted the picture to look on the screen. Then the final cut picture had to be reshipped to England for colour processing, the prints being made at the British Technicolor Laboratories for the world markets.

All the sound for the film was recorded first on a 7 mm. tape recorder and transferred later on to ordinary film stock for cutting and adding to the picture. The music was scored in Sydney with a special Magnasync portable stereophonic tape recorder. Next the tracks were shipped to Westrex in California for dubbing, and then the final four stripe magnetic tracks had to be shipped to Technicolor for striping.

Every piece of equipment for shooting, such as cameras, generators, lights, cutting equipment and so on, had to be brought to Sydney.

We solved these problems with the cooperation and help of the technicians, actors and government officials — in fact, everyone —who became involved. We spent much time and care of pre-production planning under the guidance of Byron Haskin.

"Long John Silver" is the result of a great co-operative effort between all the artistic elements that come together to produce fine motion picture entertainment.

Covered Dish Supper Planned By Temple

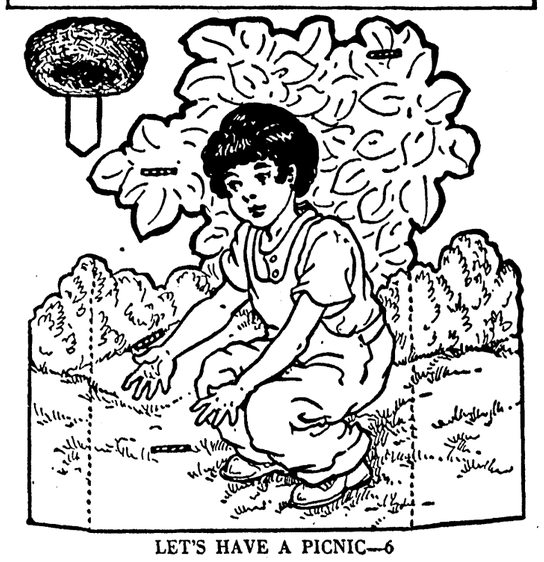

Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will meet Monday night in Castle Hall. Knights from Monroe and Bastrop will be in attendance. A covered dish supper is to be served at 7 p.m.

LET'S HAVE A PICNIC—6

The Bird's Nest

While walking through the woods, Cecily spies an old bird's nest on the ground under a tree. There are no birds in it but it is in good condition and she thinks it must have fallen from the tree.

"Some other bird might like it," she said. "Where should I put it?"

She first places it on a low branch, but then decides on a higher one; and leaves it there so any homeless bird will have a place to live.

Color her outfit, the nest and the scenery. Then paste the picture on stiff paper and cut out the large drawing and the nest. Also cut the four black slits, two on the grass and two in the tree.

Fold back the two sides of the picture along the dotted lines so it will stand up. To place the nest in the tree, push the tab through the slit and fold it down.

The bidding:

South, pass; West, pass.

The final contract of four spades was amply justified by the holding. Some players will regard with disdain South's jump to three spades on a ten high suit, but we cannot look upon it as an impropriety. Assuming the hand qualifies in other respects, the jump rebid may be made on any "strong rebiddable suit." A strong rebiddable suit may be vaguely described as one with which you would be willing to play at a game contract if the dummy, in addition to its expected values, produced no more than two small trumps. Whether or not North should have accepted the invitation to game is a close question. North's response of one no trump had promised at least six points, but in this case he held seven including the very vital king of trumps. His action was, therefore, justified.

When dummy appeared, it became apparent that the success of the contract depended upon limiting the losses in the trump suit to two tricks. Declarer, for no special reason, chose to lead the ten of spades in an effort to induce a cover. West covered with the jack and the king was played from dummy. This trick went to East's ace. West's queen-eight was now a ten-ace over South's nine-seven, and insured the defense of two more trump tricks which, in addition to the ace of hearts, was sufficient to defeat the contract.

In view of the bidding, declarer should have marked East with the ace of spades. The only condition, therefore, on which declarer can lose the hand is if East has the queen-jack of spades in addition to the ace. Declarer's proper play, therefore, at trick two was a low spade from his own hand intending to duck in dummy unless West played an honor. If East should hold a singleton ace, only two trump tricks need be lost. Or if the spades divide 2-2 declarer will lose only two trump tricks regardless of his play.

Armed Service

NEWELLTON, March 25 (Special) — Cpl. Jacob Puryear, 22, whose wife, Katherine, lives in Newellton, is a member of the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas.

"Old Ironsides," the first armored division organized in the United States won fame for its World War II fighting in Africa and Italy. Combat readiness is now maintained by intensive training.

Corporal Puryear, son of Arthur Puryear, Newellton, is assigned to Medical detachment of the 634th Armored Infantry Battalion. He entered the Army in February 1953 and completed basic training at Fort Hood, Texas.

Ordinance Prohibits Firing Of Rifles

FERRIDAY ,March 26 (Special) —An existing town ordinance prohibits the firing of air rifles or pistols in the city limits of Ferriday, according to Mayor L. Woody Davis.

This ordinance, said Mayor Davis, will be rigidly enforced and offenders will make it necessary for town officials to take up any air guns used in town.

Mayor Davis said that he sincerely hoped that parents as well as youngsters will cooperate to assist enforcement of this law, since considerable damage to property has caused numerous complaints.

Officers Named By Tech Coed League

RUSTON, March 26 (Special)—Coeds at Louisiana Tech have elected officers of the Women's League for 1955-56.

Jeraldine Beck of Mansfield was named president.

Others elected were: Jeanne Mack, Springhill, vice-president; Robin Chambless, Kilbourne, recording secretary; Mary Ann Moe, Shreveport, corresponding secretary; and Barbara Emmons, Ruston, treasurer.

A slate of candidates was drawn up by an interview board made up of three faculty members and three students.

THE COUNTRY GIRL—Bing Crosby and Grace Kelly as husband and wife in Paramount's "The Country Girl," the next attraction at the Paramount Theatre, give award-winning performaces. They are co-starred with William Holden in the Perlberg-Seaton production.

Extra technical difficulties arose because the film was the first made there in CinemaScope and Eastmancolor. This meant that none of the Australian technicians had any experience in these two systems.

The Eastmancolor rawstock itself was quite a problem. It had to be imported from America in ice refrigeration cartons, kept frozen after exposure, and ice - packed to England for processing at Denham laboratories.

After this the black - and - white rush prints of what we had shot had to be shipped back to Australia for us to study and cut together in the way we wanted the picture to look on the screen. Then the final cut picture had to be reshipped to England for colour processing, the prints being made at the British Technicolor Laboratories for the world markets.

All the sound for the film was recorded first on a 7 mm. tape recorder and transferred later on to ordinary film stock for cutting and adding to the picture. The music was scored in Sydney with a special Magnasync portable stereophonic tape recorder. Next the tracks were shipped to Westrex in California for dubbing, and then the final four stripe magnetic tracks had to be shipped to Technicolor for striping.

Every piece of equipment for shooting, such as cameras, generators, lights, cutting equipment and so on, had to be brought to Sydney.

We solved these problems with the cooperation and help of the technicians, actors and government officials — in fact, everyone —who became involved. We spent much time and care of pre-production planning under the guidance of Byron Haskin.

"Long John Silver" is the result of a great co-operative effort between all the artistic elements that come together to produce fine motion picture entertainment.

Covered Dish Supper Planned By Temple

Monroe Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, will meet Monday night in Castle Hall. Knights from Monroe and Bastrop will be in attendance. A covered dish supper is to be served at 7 p.m.

After this is concluded the initiations of a large class of recruits will be held.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

LET'S HAVE A PICNIC—6

The Bird's Nest

While walking through the woods, Cecily spies an old bird's nest on the ground under a tree. There are no birds in it but it is in good condition and she thinks it must have fallen from the tree.

"Some other bird might like it," she said. "Where should I put it?"

She first places it on a low branch, but then decides on a higher one; and leaves it there so any homeless bird will have a place to live.

Color her outfit, the nest and the scenery. Then paste the picture on stiff paper and cut out the large drawing and the nest. Also cut the four black slits, two on the grass and two in the tree.

Fold back the two sides of the picture along the dotted lines so it will stand up. To place the nest in the tree, push the tab through the slit and fold it down.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	pass	1 no trump	Double
3 spades	pass	4 spades	pass
pass	pass

Opening lead: Jack of clubs.

The final contract of four spades was amply justified by the holding. Some players will regard with disdain South's jump to three spades on a ten high suit, but we cannot look upon it as an impropriety. Assuming the hand qualifies in other respects, the jump rebid may be made on any "strong rebiddable suit." A strong rebiddable suit may be vaguely described as one with which you would be willing to play at a game contract if the dummy, in addition to its expected values, produced no more than two small trumps. Whether or not North should have accepted the invitation to game is a close question. North's response of one no trump had promised at least six points, but in this case he held seven including the very vital king of trumps. His action was, therefore, justified.

When dummy appeared, it became apparent that the success of the contract depended upon limiting the losses in the trump suit to two tricks. Declarer, for no special reason, chose to lead the ten of spades in an effort to induce a cover. West covered with the jack and the king was played from dummy. This trick went to East's ace. West's queen-eight was now a tenace over South's nine-seven, and insured the defense of two more trump tricks which, in addition to the ace of hearts, was sufficient to defeat the contract.

In view of the bidding, declarer should have marked East with the ace of spades. The only condition, therefore, on which declarer can lose the hand is if East has the queen-jack of spades in addition to the ace. Declarer's proper play, therefore, at trick two was a low spade from his own hand intending to duck in dummy unless West played an honor. If East should hold a singleton ace, only two trump tricks need be lost. Or if the spades divide 2-2 declarer will lose only two trump tricks regardless of his play.

Armed Service

NEWELLTON, March 25 (Special) — Cpl. Jacob Puryear, 22, whose wife, Katherine, lives in Newellton, is a member of the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas.

"Old Ironsides," the first armored division organized in the United States won fame for its World War II fighting in Africa and Italy. Combat readiness is now maintained by intensive training.

Corporal Puryear, son of Arthur Puryear, Newellton, is assigned to Medical detachment of the 634th Armored Infantry Battalion. He entered the Army in February 1953 and completed basic training at Fort Hood, Texas.

At The Theaters

JIM THEATRE

Next attraction: "The Atomic Kid" starring Mickey Rooney, Robert Strauss and Elaine Davis. It's a laugh explosion.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

Next attraction: "Country Girl" starring Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly and William Holden.

Ordinance Prohibits Firing Of Rifles

FERRIDAY ,March 26 (Special) —An existing town ordinance prohibits the firing of air rifles or pistols in the city limits of Ferriday, according to Mayor L. Woody Davis.

This ordinance, said Mayor Davis, will be rigidly enforced and offenders will make it necessary for town officials to take up any air guns used in town.

Mayor Davis said that he sincerely hoped that parents as well as youngsters will cooperate to assist enforcement of this law, since considerable damage to property has caused numerous complaints.

Officers Named By Tech Coed League

RUSTON, March 26 (Special)—Coeds at Louisiana Tech have elected officers of the Women's League for 1955-56.

Jeraldine Beck of Mansfield was named president.

Others elected were: Jeanne Mack, Springhill, vice-president; Robin Chambless, Kilbourne, recording secretary; Mary Ann Moe, Shreveport, corresponding secretary; and Barbara Emmons, Ruston, treasurer.

A slate of candidates was drawn up by an interview board made up of three faculty members and three students.

The PHANTOM

By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY

THE PHANTOM TAKES ON THE GIBS BROTHERS, "MEANEST, TOUGHEST GUYS ON THE COAST"

SPEAKING OF CLEANING, GIVE ME A BUCKET OF WATER AND A COUPLE OF MOPS.

MEBBE WE BETTER RUN AGAIN! WHAT'S HE UP TO?

YOU MEN MESSED UP THIS PLACE. NOW CLEAN IT!

YES, SIR

Y-YES, SIR

NOW THAT THERE'S PEACE AND QUIET AGAIN, I CAN FINISH MY GLASS OF MILK.

NEXT WEEK: THE MARK

BRINGING UP FATHER

I WONDER IF I LOCKED THE BACK DOOR! --- MAYBE I'D BETTER GIT UP AN' MAKE SURE-

YOW

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU, STUPID?! YOU WOKE ME UP!!

I COULDN'T HELP IT, MAGGIE -- I THINK ME TOE IS BROKEN!! --- CALL A DOCTOR!

ALL RIGHT, I'LL CALL HIM! BUT YOU'RE SUCH A BABY!!

I'LL BET YOUR TOE DOESN'T HURT AS MUCH AS MINE DID WHEN I HAD THE GOUT!!

I TELL YOU IT'S KILLIN' ME, MAGGIE!

AND YOU WEREN'T VERY SYMPATHETIC WHEN MY BROTHER BIMMY DROPPED THE HAMMER ON HIS TOE!

AW, THAT WAS NOTHIN'! AN' BESIDES IT WASN'T A HAMMER -- IT WAS A BOTTLE HE STOLE FROM MY PRIVATE STOCK!!

YOU WORM! HOW DARE YOU BRING MY FAMILY INTO THIS?

I DIDN'T. BRING THEM IN, MAGGIE!! YOU DID!!

AND WHEN MY DEAR FATHER HURT HIS TOE AT WORK, YOU ASKED HIM IF HE'D DROPPED HIS BURGLAR TOOLS ON IT!

PLEASE, MAGGIE -- YOU BEAT ME UP FOR THAT ALREADY!!

BUT, MR. JIGGS, WHAT HAPPENED?! YOUR WIFE ONLY SAID YOU'D STUBBED YOUR TOE!

NEVER MIND ABOUT ME TOE, DOCTOR! THAT'S THE ONLY PART OF ME THAT DOESN'T HURT!!

MERCY GUIDE ME, GENTLEMEN— IT'S SO SIMPLE...

YOUR PEOPLE ON FORMOSA BROUGHT YOU THE WRONG GIRL!

IT WASN'T YOUR FAULT, BUT YOU CAN'T TURN ME OVER TO YOUR SUPERIORS IN RED CHINA... OR YOU'LL BE SHOT!

BUT YOU'LL ALSO BE SHOT IF YOU DON'T COME BACK WITH THE GIRL JET ENGINE EXPERT...

SO WHY NOT GET RANSOM MONEY FOR ME — AND GO SOMEPLACE ELSE ON THE CASH YOU RECEIVE?

YOU COULD TAKE A PIECE OF MY PERSONAL CLOTHING TO SHOW MY WEALTHY PARENTS —THEY'D PAY UP IN NO TIME!

I'LL WRITE A NOTE SAYING I AM SAFE AND WELL—AND TELLING THEM TO SEND A LOT OF MONEY—IN U.S. DOLLARS...

MY DADDY COULD TAKE THE MONEY ABOARD A SMALL BOAT— BRING IT TO YOU AT SEA — HAUL ME ASHORE, AND YOU COULD BE OFF FOR FUN AN' FROLIC!...

GREAT DAY, GENTLEMEN! ISN'T THAT A SIGHT BETTER THAN A FIRIN' SQUAD...?

THE FEMALE IS CORRECT! —IF WE RETURN TO OUR BASE WE DIE... I WISH TO LIVE!

HMMM!

OH, DO SOMETHIN' FAST, MISTER— MY POOR DADDY COULDN'T RAISE $10 RANSOM MONEY, BUT IT'S ALL I COULD THINK OF!

NO TRICKS! YOU WRITE NOTE LIKE WE SAY! NO CODE!

MINUTES LATER

THERE! SEE! JUST AS Y'ALL DICTATED!... NOW HERE'S MY DRESS BELT TO PROVE IT IS REALLY ME YOU ARE HOLDING!

NO CODE IN THE LETTER, BUT OH, LAWSY, LET THIS BELT GO AROUND THE RIGHT PLACES!

Tales from the Great Book

The Little Captive MAID

by John Lehti

ABOUT 700 B.C., SYRIA DEFEATED ISRAEL AND, AMONG THE CAPTIVES TAKEN AS SLAVES, WAS A YOUNG GIRL WHOM WE SHALL CALL DAMARIS ...SHE BECAME MAID TO THE WIFE OF NAAMAN.

Portions of this story, included to show every-day life and customs of ancient times, have been based on historical research. These portions, though unrecorded in the Bible are not contrary to, nor do they change in any way, the biblical account which may be read in II Kings, Chap. 5: 1-14

EVERYTHING IS READY, MY LADY--YOUR AFTERNOON ROBE AND THE FRESH JARS OF COSMETICS!

NEVER HAVE I HAD A BETTER SERVANT THAN YOU, DAMARIS...I WONDER WHY?

PERHAPS IT IS BECAUSE I'M HAPPY!

WHY ARE YOU ALWAYS SO HAPPY, DAMARIS?... YOU ARE ONLY A SLAVE!

BUT YOU DON'T TREAT ME LIKE ONE. YOU'RE KIND AND... WELL, ACTUALLY I'M BETTER OFF THAN I WOULD BE AT HOME!

I COME FROM A POOR FAMILY...LITTLE FOOD, FEW CLOTHES... NO FURNISHINGS IN OUR HOME!

HERE, I HAVE EVERYTHING...FINE HOUSE, GOOD FOOD AND EVEN LESS WORK! WITH EIGHT MEN IN A FAMILY TO TAKE CARE OF—THAT'S HARD WORK! NOW, I ONLY HAVE TO SERVE YOU!

HA-HA! WELL, I'M GLAD YOU'RE NOT UNHAPPY, CHILD!

—AND VERY RECENTLY!

SPUD, I-I SEE HIS WAGON— ABOUT A HALF MILE AHEAD OF US!

YEP—THAT'S OUR MAN!

WE'LL LEAVE OUR HORSES TIED HERE—SEPARATE, CLOSE IN ON TWO SIDES, AND TAKE HIM BY SURPRISE!

DON'T LET HIM SEE YOU, SPUD— AND DON'T GET AMBUSHED!

TIM® TYLER'S LUCK

BY LYMAN YOUNG and TOM MASSEY

I'VE FIXED THAT WHEEL SO TIGHT IT'LL NEVER COME OFF AGAIN—

MY NERVES ARE SHAKY— KEEP FEELIN' LIKE I'M BEING FOLLERED—

—AND VERY RECENTLY!

SPUD, I-I SEE HIS WAGON— ABOUT A HALF MILE AHEAD OF US!

WE'LL LEAVE OUR HORSES TIED HERE—SEPARATE, CLOSE IN ON TWO SIDES, AND TAKE HIM BY SURPRISE!

DON'T LET HIM SEE YOU, SPUD— AND DON'T GET AMBUSHED!
